

proceeded to secretly place the letter books back into the vault. This he succeeded in doing without being detected. He then returned to Montreal and Baugh swore out a warrant for Stimson with the result as stated in the beginning.

When Gariepy was asked where his evidence was to back this up he showed that all the time he was helping Baugh he was double-crossing him. He produced the telegram from Baugh, and also all the different copies they had made when they were attempting to duplicate the letters of Colonel Stimson. He also had the dates they were in Toronto, and the name of the bookbinder who put the books together.

When this state of affairs was brought to the attention of the City Crown Attorney the latter ordered warrants to be issued for Baugh on the three charges. Detective Guthrie was given the warrants and instructed to go to Montreal and as quietly and promptly as possible get Baugh, and have him returned here as it was thought that Baugh would make a big fight before leaving Montreal. This was attempted, but it was found that he would have to come anyway, so his solicitor, Mr. Laflamme, who had been called in, advised him to come. He appeared before me and, after hearing the evidence, he was committed for trial.
