But it's not all gold. It's got to be threshed and teamed and sold and the money taken in. There must be a buyer, a railway, a ship, and a banker to find the money. And there's something of a cloud on these, with the exception of the railway.

The price is falling because of the arge crop in Canada, in the United States, and the prospective competition of two crops coming out of Russia. It began dropping yesterday and October wheat at Port Arthur is quoted at 90c or less a bushel. The farmer must pay at least ten cents freight out of this. And the Winnipeg price is less than the Chicago price by several cents. We have barred our selves out of the American market. The price will not be high, but it will

As to ships, the minister of finance says they may be difficult to getthat the movement of the crop across the sea will be slow. In that case then the minister suggests to the bankers that they borrow liberally of the national currency and advance it to the farmers for or against their wheat. Now, will the banks do this. and help the farmer to sell his wheat

The biggest and best crop that ever | and help the farmer to pay his debts

But so far there is no sign of any preference to the farmer of the Canadian West for his wheat in the markets of the mother country. And he is up against the competition of the wheat of the American farmer; and it is more than likely that he will have to ship most of his wheat across the sea by way of the port of New York, as no definite settlement has yet been made with the British Government as to the provision of ships for transporting Canadian grain.

We still think that it would be much better for the Canadian wheat grower. and his customer, if the British Government had agreed to take the crop at a fair price and provide the ships for its carriage and in that way have secured the food supplies of the mother country and the allies and made a sure if not a high market, for the Canadian farmer who did his best to raise as much wheat as he could for patriotic and business reasons.

As to the wheat of the Ontario farmer, very little of it will grade hard and bright and first class in all respects. The little there is of it that is good will bring 95c a bushel at the start; her damaged wheat is bringing 70c or less, and this price may go lower if the farmer cannot find a way to feed this damaged wheat to live stock.
