dressed much the same as the other people, only that they have a sash of various colors, and sometimes ornamented with beads, &c. wrapped round the middle part of their bodies. The manner which the Indian women carry their children is singular-they place the back of their child to theirs, and buckling it round them, in this way pass along with considerable case. The Indians are very peaceable neighbours, unless when intoxicated, when they become very outrageous, for which reason I was informed that storekeepers are prohibited from selling them liquor. Willin) m Reader, I have now approached the close of my narrative, and what has been above stated is truth Labave been a sufferer, I witnessed the sufferings of my fellows travellers, and convinced that it was my duty to publish what I saw and felt in myself and others, I leave it to every man to judge for himself, wishing that what is here stated, may prove the means of saving many lives and much property. 11 30 Lawba doald

During the summer select, a considerable mumber of fud one are to be seen in Montreal: Some of then cone thorn a considerable d stance up the connergrad obsectier thats on the river side. They are very ingenious, and their women especially very next handed. They have for rate a variety of fuacy articles, such as bags indented .21013 the botton with pieces of bark, and othe wise commented with reacher, or the figure of an I that, as well as shoes, the leather of which they take r ad organs is with reacher the figure of an I that, as well as shoes, the leather of which they take r ad organs is with rewing also on the upper part of the foot.

The older Indian women are generally dressed with an English half blanket wrapped about them; black leggings, and black bot; whilst the younger generally wear a black bot; whilst the younger generalgent rings a solution of the solution in the first gent rings a solution of the solution in the first are