We take a great pride in the character of our Millinery. There is no bulking of quantity orders for the purpose of making an advertising ery on an immense number of a kind; all our operations in buying milknery models and materials are carenly selective and exclusive, with the soult that our customers look to us or and get something which is not bund elsewhere.

The demand for tweeds this season has been so enormous that we were forced to place an order for more stock rather later than usual in the season, and these thave just been placed in stock. The smartness of this line makes a ready excuse for a new suit for any one, and the prices are very reasonable, too.
