nobody knew anything about it till the order was issued. The Government having changed and the Liberals having got into power, a deputation numbering several hundreds and comprising many of the most influential business men and farmers or Essex County was sent to Ottawa to ask for the prohibition of the export duty, and the reports of the Government inspectors were quoted to show that the pressure was diminishing, but the influence of the company was supreme once more, and the Government, while pretending to yield to the representations of the deputation, restricted the output to $5,000,000,000, just about double what the export had been hitherto.

The result of this restriction was that the Standard Company was enabled to lay a third pipeline across the river from Sandwich, and the gas was turned into the mains which supply Toledo. Then it occurred to the Canadian companies that own the gas fields that they had been killing the goose that laid the golden eggs, and they determined to save what was left. The Boer invasion of Cape Colony, which, they formed an amalgamation under the name of the United Natural Gas Company of Omtario, and immediately they set to work to restrict the output. Company would not feel very much aggrieved, for while the gas exported only brings them 8 cents a thousand, that sold for d mestic use fetches them 20 cents. The industries which have been depending on natural gas have been paying a special rate of 13 cents a thousand, and it has been decided to shut off these for two reasons: to protect the domestic consumer, and because as a business proposition it pays be er to sell at 20 cents than at 13.

Ackander Auld of the firm of Nisbet & Auld, wholesale dry goods, returned to Toronto, after a trip to the Old Land, yesterday. He came via New York on the Campania. The New York papers of Sunday referred to the presence of card sharps on the steamer. Mr. Auld states that he was approached by three men, while on the boat and enticed into a game of whist. He plays only for the pleasure of the game. The three suggested euchre as being more rapid. He agreed. But when they suggested, after he had received suspiciously good hands, that a little wager would help along the fun, he declined, stating that he never wagered on a game.
