MARYS

It was this year. Early in the morning the weather looked very unfavorable for the exhibition, but later the sun appeared and before noon the exhibition was running at full swing. The art exhibit was one of the best ever held. Paintings by Dr. Coleman and Helene Anley were shown—paintings that are rarely exhibited in this part of the country. War arms, including rifles and swords for the last century were shown in the Crystal Palace. These were very interesting and drew much attention. Among the antique collections were the voters lists from 1814 to the most recent list published for the last election.

THE ELDERLY INACTIVE MAN Endurance.

"Is your blood starving for want of iron? Iron is red blood food. If you were to go without eating until you became weak, thin and emaciated, you could not do a more serious harm to yourself than when you let your blood literally starve for want of iron—iron that gives its strength and power to change food into living tissue," says Dr. James Francis Sullivan, formerly physician of Bellevue Hospital (Outdoor Department) New York and the Westchester County Hospital.

"Modern methods of cooking and the rapid pace at which people of this country live has made such an alarmating increase in iron deficiency in the blood of American men and women that I have often marveled at the large number of people who lack iron in the blood, and who never suspect the cause of their weak, nervous, rundown state. Lack of iron in the blood not only makes a man a physical and mental weakling, nervous, irritable, easily fatigued, but it utterly robs him of that virile force, that stamina and strength of will which are so necessary to success and power in every walk of life. It may also transform a beautiful, sweet-tempered woman into one who is cross, nervous and irritable. I have strongly emphasized the great necessity of physiclans making blood examinations of their weak, anaemic, rundown patients.
