AS. H. BROWN, TWICE WOUNDED, WRITES HOME OF COURCELLETTE FIGHT

Mrs. Robert Brown, 88 Millidgeville avenue, has received a letter from her son, Pte. James H. Brown, of the 26th Battalion, from Lord Derby War Hospital, Warrington, England, dated Sept. 30. He has been wounded for the second time. In the letter he says:

"I went from Boulogne to Havre last month and from there to the battalion and we had a big hike from Ypres to the Somme. We were fifteen days on the road. Then we went into action a few days later and I was wounded for the second time. I was hit a little harder this time. I am still in bed, it is with the same stuff, shrapnel. I got it in the thigh, but there are no bones broken, thank the Lord. I had it operated on in Rouen and then they sent me to England. We lost a lot of the boys in that fight, but we made a good job of it. For three days we were in it, it was a great fight and Fritz was not in it with our boys. We took the village of Courcellette from him, and a lot of prisoners. That was where I got wounded. There is nothing more I can tell you just now of that fight."

CURZON'S GLOWING TRIBUTE TO CANADA

London, Oct. 17.—Speaking at the luncheon to the Duke of Devonshire, Earl Curzon declared: "If there is any abiding dominion of ray of power, it has established for itself the right to rank among the great nations of the earth, it is Canada. If there is any part of the British empire that is assured of a dazzling and almost illustrious career in the future it is Canada. If in this war there are any of our fellow subjects who in superior degree might be said to have shown loyalty of loyal and bravery of brave, those are our fellow subjects from the dominion."

The Duke of Devonshire, replying, said that Canada had played her part in the war. He felt proud to think that he would be able to bear a message to the people of Canada of gratitude and heartfelt sympathy for the assistance they had rendered to the empire in the great struggle.

AMATEURS WELL PRESENT "THE TIDE OF FORTUNE"

Meritorious Production Given By St. Rose's Dramatic Club

The St. Rose's Dramatic Club, Fairville, added another to their long list of successful dramatic presentations last evening when they offered the five act drama, "The Tide of Fortune," before a crowded house. The play ran smoothly from the rise of the curtain and the amateurs showed not only careful learning, but genuine ability. Miss Blanche O'Brien, portraying the role of "Chick"—wild but good—handled the part to excellent advantage. It calls for a bright personality and she responded capably and elicited much applause. Emma Myrtle, impersonated by Miss Irene Malloy, is also deserving special mention, and Miss Margaret O'Keefe as Edith, sister of Chick, acted well. Of the male members of the cast, James G. Hennessy, the hero, extricated himself from his difficulties and figured in a happy ending to the full satisfaction of the audience. Edmund Trainor and W. J. Quigg were both good in their respective roles, while John O'Toole in the character part of Larry, was up to his usual standard of merit. The other members acquitted themselves most creditably, the piece was well staged and the show was a good one from every standpoint. Tonight the play will be repeated.

The following is the programme:

Emma Myrtle, a true woman..... Miss Irene Malloy

To All Men Who Are Going to Have New Clothes This Winter We Have This To Say:

This store has been selling clothing and furnishings to the men of Saint John for more than twenty-seven years, and every day of every year of that time, it had to be a better store than it was the day before.

There was never any luck or chance about it. Every day, more goods and better goods; larger service and more intelligent service. It has been a matter of believing in what we were doing. A matter of absolute sincerity in keeping true to the path and yielding to no use of tricks or deceptions. A matter of learning, learning, learning, all the time. We never could have grown an inch in any other way. And so this year we know more than we have ever known in the past, and we have larger stocks and better stocks, and better preparations for service. All of which encourage us to ask you to come and see our autumn preparations.
