

SLOAN WILL AIDS MANY CHARITIES

Estate of Liniment Maker
Estimated at More
Than $1,000,000

The will of Earl S. Sloan of 277 Cottage avenue, West Roxbury, Mass., originator of Sloan's Liniment, filed last week in Suffolk registry of probate, disposes of an estate believed to be in excess of $1,000,000. The executors are Bertha P. Sloan, his widow; James M. Halliwell and the former Commonwealth Trust Company, now the Commonwealth-Atlantic National Bank.

Among the public bequests are $3,000 to the Peabody Home for Crippled Children and $2,000 to the Florence Crittenton League of Compassion. There also is a gift of $1,000 to Dorothy Cilly, "daughter of my deceased friend, Dr. O. G. Cilly of Boston." Trust funds and bequests to friends in the west amount to $271,000. Trust fund to widow.

A trust fund of $260,000 is created for the benefit of his widow, but if she marries that fund will be reduced to $60,000.

The will gives $60,000 to Mrs. Anna H. Vernon, his sister; $1,500 to Frederick H. Reed of Rosindale, his chauffeur; $500 to John Kramer of Rosindale, and $10,000 to Frank Woolaver, his wife's brother, believed to be somewhere in British Columbia, if he will live with his sister, wife of the testator, providing she desires his presence.

A fund of $65,000 is set apart for the benefit of Earl Sawyer of Dorchester, now in the United States army. Half the income is for the benefit of Sawyer's mother, Mrs. Abbie Ehler. Six thousand dollars is left to the Presbyterian Church at Zanesfield, O., and $10,000 to the trustees of Dr. Sloan Library, Zanesfield, for the purchase of books or other expenses. An additional $15,000 goes to the library on the death of Mrs. Sloan for restocking the library.

The will gives $3,000 to the New Bern, N. C., public library and $3,000 to the Masonic lodge of New Bern, for the benefit of children of poor members.

To Found Trade School.

Dr. Sloan directs that his executors shall transfer to Dr. Chalfant, Miss Josephine Hubbard and Gen. Kennedy, all of Bellefontaine, O., certain funds, that these three trustees may establish a Sloan Industrial school at Bellefontaine. This, he directs, shall be used for teaching trades and mechanical and domestic science. He says he does not create this school with the idea of relieving the town from its "pride and duty in appropriating funds sufficient to build and maintain a high school, but rather to add additional courses."

ALONG THE PICTUREQUE WATER FRONT OF BARCELONA

Disaffection by the military factions of Spain over the conduct of the Moroccan campaign finally has burst the surface. A coup d'etat, starting in Barcelona, has, according to cabled reports, spread rapidly throughout the provinces of the country. Officers of the army would appear to be behind the movement, which as yet has not assumed the ugly proportions of a revolution.

and to be used in conjunction with the high school.

A cottage in West Roxbury is to be occupied by David Craig and his wife for rent. This is in appreciation of the services they rendered the testator while they were in his employ. Eventually all his West Roxbury holdings will be sold for the benefit of the school of Zanesfield, O.

Chicago, Sept. 24.—Two professional killers—murder experts, secretly imported from New York and hustled secretly away again when their "shotguns" had done the job—did the double duty by slaying on Monday, over which police and gangsters alike are scratching their heads. Their names, their hangouts, their histories no one knows, not even Walker O'Donnell, the Chicago beer king, who hired them, could help the police, if his conscience were to drive him to confession. All he knows is that he ordered two killers from a New York "murder agency" and got them.

And the agency may be no wiser. It knows the men only casually, in all likelihood, as business-like fellows, who are willing to capitalise their handiwork with the "big money" and get them.

They'd never heard of "Georgie" McKeegan and "Spot" Bucher, the O'Donnell henchmen they were hired to kill. Assassination is their trade; they don't concern themselves with personalities. Commissioned to do a job for a mysterious Chicago customer, they reported to some appointed place here on Monday, got into a waiting car with their polished sawed-off shotguns ready, and there, with professional neatness, sent hatfuls of brutal slugs into the bodies of two men their pilot pointed out as "the boys."

An hour later they were on their way back to New York. Barring miracles they'll never be caught.

O'Donnell, who he undoubtedly will be "bumped off" I believe. But he's going to be "bumped off" anyway sooner or later, in the opinion of the court, so he might as well talk now.

The foregoing sensational prediction was made from the bench today by Judge Lewis in the Superior Court in the course of a hearing of habeas corpus of O'Donnell and William B. Caffarella, said to be his chief lieutenant. Judge Lewis startled the court room with his declaration just after he had hotly upbraided the police for not "keeping their own skins clean."

SWISS WILL SETTLE AROUND TRURO, N. S.

Halifax, Sept. 23.—The White Star liner Pittsburgh from Bremen, Southampton and Cherbourg, landed twenty-five cabin and 208 third-class passengers here today. About 100 were bound for the Canadian west. The list included thirty Swiss farmers who intend to settle around Truro, N. S., and several women and children for Nova Scotia whose husbands and fathers had preceded them here.

SHOOT A BRIDAL PAIR.

New Haven, Sept. 24.—After shooting a newly wedded couple in a house here, said to be a rejected suitor of the bride, turned his weapon upon himself, inflicting wounds that killed him. A four-year-old boy was also hit by the bullet.

The couple are in St. Raphael's Hospital, and the woman is not expected to live.

STEAL $7,600 PAYROLL.

Four Bandits Hold Up Messenger in Dark Hallway and Escape.

New York, Sept. 24.—Four armed bandits held up and robbed Fred Raich, a messenger of the First National Bank, Haverperry Street and Broadway, Brooklyn, as he was carrying a satchel containing $7,600, the weekly payroll of Levi & Seligman.

At Raich entered the dark hallway of the Levi & Seligman premises, two of the bandits, who had followed him from the bank, drew pistols and demanded the money. Raich drew his pistol and shots were exchanged. One of the bandits hit Raich on the jaw and he was removed to St. Catherine's Hospital, where, it was said, his condition is serious. The bandits escaped.

EIGHTEEN THOUSAND WOMEN

(Hamilton Herald)

Of the 50,000 people who witnessed the Dempsey-Frigo prize-fight fully a fifth were women, and the New York newspapers printed lists of the society women present. A bout or two with six-ounce gloves may yet be deemed an appropriate feature of afternoon tea.

OVERLOOKS CASH IN THEATRE RAID

Robber Wrecks Money-Changing Machine From Porter and Flees.

New York, Sept. 24.—A shabby young man thrust a revolver against the ribs of Eddie Ferguson, porter, in the lobby of Loew's Theatre, Sixth Avenue and Thirtieth Street, seized the money-changing machine the porter was bearing and leaped to the running board of a waiting taxicab. The robber overlooked $600 in front of the girl cashier.

The yellow taxicab sped south in Sixth Avenue and at Twenty-eighth Street the robber sent a bullet whizzing past the head of Patrolman Smith. The policeman had back turned and the robber would have got by unobserved only for his impulse to shoot a policeman. Smith commanded another automobile and a fellow-officer hopped to the running board of a taxicab.

Seven times the policeman fired at the car ahead. All the shots missed and as hundreds ran to the street in response to the reports, the fleeing taxicab turned east in Twenty-sixth Street and escaped. Several hours later a young man who said he had been the chauffeur of the robber's car surrendered. He told the police that his fare had compelled him to drive from Madison Avenue and Thirty-fifth to the theatre. After a severe fighting the chauffeur, who was Thomas O'Keefe, 22 years old, of 322 East Thirty-first Street, was charged with acting in concert with the robber.

WELSH COAL
CANADA is moving to secure a supply of coal which will make her independent of the United States. Her consuming area, which includes all the large cities in Canada, may be roughly described as lying in the middle of a line three thousand miles long, with her native coal supplies at each end of that line. When the St. Lawrence is open for navigation coal can be carried by water from Nova Scotia to Montreal for a dollar a ton.

WELSH COAL
Canada draws her anthracite from that section of the Pennsylvania hard coal region known as the Wyoming Valley, and the cost for rail transport is estimated by the Dominion Fuel Board of Canada at $4 a ton. It is interesting to note, from the same report, how happily the whole thing is a question of transport and to note also that the proposition costs both ways. In remarking that prejudice in favor of United States anthracite can be overcome, the Fuel Board says that it existed in Manitoba until the war gave Alberta coal its chance and that now this Canadian western coal has driven American anthracite out of that region.

WELSH COAL
There is a supply of peat nearer to the consuming cities of Canada than American anthracite, and the Fuel Board suggests that this is available, but not for the three coldest winter months. Where free navigation can be secured the heavily coal of South Wales can be transported across the ocean from Swansea for $2.14 a ton, which at least compares favorably with the $4 a ton railroad freight from the Pennsylvania fields. It would seem that Canada is not as helplessly dependent upon the United States for coal as the people of Toronto and Montreal, and even Ottawa, have so indolently assumed.

WELSH COAL
Of course it would require capital to import a large reserve of Welsh coal by sea direct to Montreal during the summer and to store it for use in the winter months. The possibility of shipping also by the St. Lawrence from Nova Scotia in quantities allowing for a reserve is at last being seriously considered. It would be impossible for the Canadian Government railways, or even the more economical ly managed Canadian Pacific, to make the western supply in the Alberta region a fighting factor, in view of the prohibitive cost of the long distance haul as compared with the few hundred miles from the Pennsylvania anthracite fields. But here we see how monopoly tends to defeat itself by stimulating the use of substitutes and stimulating and possible competition.

Canada is a good customer for the American product, but our labor monopolists, protected by the miners' license law in Pennsylvania, bid fair to kill, so far as we are concerned, a goose which has laid us, annually, golden eggs.

LIVING COSTS FORCE CHILDREN TO WORK
Worcester, Mass., Sept. 24.—Because of increased cost in household supplies and a very material boost in rents, there has been an increase of more than 108 per cent. in the request of school children for work certificates, as compared with last year during the school registration period.

Families with children of bread-winning capacity have been compelled to deny them the advantage of a full education, as their aid is needed in keeping the larder and coal bins filled and the landlord satisfied.
