

EXTRAORDINARY
STORY AND FILMED
WONDERFULLY

"The Devil's Pass Key" at the Imperial a Powerful and Intimate Glimpse of Inner Paris — Extreme Novelties in Production.

"The Devil's Pass Key," a story of gay Parisian life in which a beautiful wife is helped out financially by a chivalrous foreign army officer, was shown here for the first time last night at the Imperial Theatre to capacity business.

The picture is the latest Jewel production by Erich von Stroheim, author and director of "Blind Husbands."

Sam de Grasse, who played the part of the husband in "Blind Husbands," has the part in "The Devil's Pass Key" of an American author living in Paris with his attractive wife, played by Una Trevelyn. She becomes deeply indebted to an unscrupulous modiste, who expects her to adopt the method of getting a rich admirer to pay her bills. The modiste involves her with a wealthy foreign army officer, who realizes that she is innocent and unsophisticated. He unselfishly helps her in order to shield another woman with whom he has had a passing flirtation.

The husband hears of the incident but does not know the identity of the persons concerned. He uses the facts for the plot of a play which proves a great success. The fact that all Paris believes he has deliberately paraded his wife's indiscretions before the public for his own financial advantage leads to a climax as startling as it is unexpected.

The masterly direction of von Stro-heim, the skillful portrayal of every character in the story, and the endless succession of scenes remarkable for their size and realism make "The Devil's Pass Key" one of the most intense and spectacular photo-dramas of the screen.

The Imperial was crowded all day and the people seemed deeply impressed with the sumptuous character of the pictorial play and the uniqueness of its plot. It was a revelation in advanced cinema-graphic art and as scene after scene rolled off on the screen there seemed to be no limit to the gorgeousness of the settings or the marvelous realism. The same feature is being repeated today and tomorrow. On Thursday the bill changes to the all-time Bryant Washburn comedy "The Sins of St. Anthony."

THE WIVES OF
MOVIE MANAGER
BEING LOCATED

New York Police Have Already Traced Six of Partners of L. A. Schaeffer.

New York, Dec. 14.—Charged with having about a dozen wives, of whom the police say they have located six, and with grand larceny, Lawrence A.
Schaeffer, a stock promoter, was held in $50,000 bail after being arraigned in West side court. The first step into the investigation of what promises to be the most sensational bigamy case in many years was brought about through the complaint of Mrs. Estelle Farrell Schaeffer, who says she was married to the man and lived with him at 200 West Seventieth street until she learned she was but one of many wives.

The grand larceny complaint is also pressed by her. She alleged that when he disappeared, Schaeffer took $150 of her money.

Schaeffer is said to be prominent in politics and in business. The police say he was manager in the winning political campaign of Reuben L. Haskell, recently "wet" candidate for the office of county judge in Brooklyn, that he is president of the Chain Casky Store, 171 Manhattan avenue, of the company, 20 Broad street,

That he has no fewer than a dozen wives centered about the country is the statement of his sister, Mrs. Lewis, of 201 Carleton avenue, Brooklyn. Besides the two whose names have already been made public, she police say they have located one more in Brooklyn, one in Bridgeport, and two in Philadelphia.
Mrs. Estelle Schaeffer's story is a startling one. She declares he advertised for girls to act in the movies through his company on Broad street, charged them $1 for registration and then, if he found they had any money, married them.

When he discovered she had almost $5,000, she asserted, he made desperate love to her, and they were married at the Paulist church, Columbus avenue and Sixteenth street, January 20, of this year, by the Rev. Patrick E. Hoey.

Mrs. Estelle Schaeffer found him with a woman described as Mrs. Florence Flamberg Schaeffer, at 348 Watkins street, Brooklyn.

Schaeffer was arrested last night while walking with the complainant at Broadway and 100th street. According to the police he has served terms in Elmira and Leavenworth. They say he was wearing a special deputy sheriff's badge when arrested. He was locked up in the West 100th street station.

In court, Schaeffer was represented by former State Senator Murphy, of Brooklyn.

Schaeffer himself had nothing to say.
He gave his age as thirty-seven, although on one of the marriage certificates, issued a year ago it was but twenty-six. At that time he said he lived at 899 Fifty-third street, Brooklyn.

last week celebrated his ninetieth birthday by taking a long walk, and demonstrating to the citizens in general that a man is no older than he feels.

Mr. Pincombe has lived under four British monarchs, and enjoys the unique distinction of having wrestled with the late President James Garfield and thrown him. The incident happened in the early fifties, when Mr. Pincombe
