BRING OUT THE VOTE

It is gratifying to note that the Citizens' Committee are taking practical steps to bring out the largest possible vote in favor of commission. It would be most unwise to assume that there will be little opposition. It is true that there is no organized and open opposition, but a number of aldermen candidates will use their influence and their organization on election day for two purposes. One of these will be to get themselves re-elected, and the other will be to roll up as large a vote as possible against the commission plan. In a quiet way influence will be exerted to get as many voters as possible to mark their ballots against commission.

While there can be no doubt about the success of the campaign in favor of commission, it is in every way desirable to make the victory overwhelming. The citizens who have devoted so much time and thought to the campaign for better city government have been subjected to sneers, and have had their motives questioned, or have been charged with purely selfish or political motives; and it has been insinuated that the noise made by the advocates of commission was entirely out of proportion to their actual numbers. The most effective answer to all this foolish and unfair criticism would be a majority in favor of commission, so large as to put the critics to shame. The Standard, which is utterly useless, has made a last feeble attempt to arouse prejudice by charging that the friends of commission have thrown over British institutions and are hugging Yankee opinions to their bosoms. This is the limit of absurdity. Every friend of commission should feel it a personal duty to take a hand in the fray a week from next Tuesday, and work to make the vote in favor of reform the most decisive in the whole history of civic politics in St. John. The ward committees now know who the qualified voters are, and should take care that every one of them has been canvassed before the day of election.

MR. BORDEN'S TROUBLES

The Canadian Courier this week devotes half a page to a discussion of the Conservative revolt against Mr. Borden. The Courier is entirely in sympathy with the conservative leader and sharply criticizes those Conservatives who for one reason or another, have been creating dissension in the party for more than a year past. It points out that Mr. Borden did not seek the leadership of the party in the first place, but, having been chosen, he has devoted himself earnestly to the task, which was made a very hard one because he was waging war against the greatest political leader of today. The last revolt against Mr. Borden has not been any more successful than former ones. It is perfectly obvious to the great mass of the Conservatives that no other man of their party would be any more successful than Mr. Borden. The party is without a policy such as would appeal to the majority of the people at a time when, under Liberal rule, the country is enjoying unparalleled prosperity.

The government of Sir Wilfrid Laurier is not marking time, but carrying out a progressive policy, under which the country is rapidly increasing in population, and its resources are being developed, and its importance as a state of the empire, is steadily enhanced. It really does not matter who leads the Conservative party so long as Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his colleagues conduct the affairs of the country as they have been conducted for the last dozen years or more.

The transfer of the west side strip to the C. P. R. has not yet been made, and if there is further delay harbor improvement on the west side will be held up. This question should have been settled long ago, and it certainly should be got out of the way this spring, for good.

It has been brought to the notice of friends of the commission movement that an unfair canvass is being made among civic employees by certain people interested in preventing civic reform. There is absolutely nothing in the commission movement in the interest of any civic employee who desires fair play, justice and a reasonable degree of civic progress. To vote for commission is to vote for St. John.

A FEW MOMENTS WITH THE WRITERS OF VERSE

THE LITTLE MAN'S LAMENT.
He was little, he was pale, he was skinny,
Yes, and frail,
And he looked as though he wasn't long
For earth.

But I saw him in the yard beating orient
His head,
And he muttered: "I must work for all I'm worth."

I must paint the window screens, dig a place for early beans,
I must lug the oleander up the stairs:
My life is full of gloom, I must decorate
my room,
And I've got to polish all the parlor chairs.

"See my neighbor over there, in his easy rocking chair,
He is strong enough to lift a baby grand;
But he surely has a snap for he hasn't done a tap
And he never has to give his wife a hand.

He just sits around and grins when housecleaning time begins, While I'm straining every muscle in my back,
While I'm wearing out myself, putting up a pantry shelf,
He is never even asked to drive a tack.

"He could do most easy what is difficult for me;
He could mop-up rugs and carpets without out lining,
He could paint the window screens, dig a place for early beans,
Bring the oleander up without perspiring.

While I struggle and I strain till my body's racked with pain,
That big loafer takes it easy all the day,
I'm not large enough to bluff her, being little I must suffer, It's the fellows that are big that get away."

—Edgar A. Guest.

A LULLABY.
Lady Moon, O Lady Moon,
Here's a little sleepy girlie that must go to slumber soon.
Won't you glide across the window on your shining silver wings,
Wash your face 'neath moon and sun,
Just one tiny tender minute to this with baby in it.

Though I know you're oh so busy with a hundred million things,
Lady Moon, O Lady Moon,
Let her see the polished buckles on your gleaming silver shoes, Let her touch your diamond rings and the star-dust on your wings,
And should you bend above her—ah, but that would be a boon,
And kiss her little rosy lips, how kind,
O Lady Moon.

Lady Moon, O Lady Moon,
Tell her just one fairy story that you've gathered as you go
From the pine woods or the snow,
From the gayly lighted cities or the stars above them stars.

There's a sleepy little girlie that would like so much to know
Just one little fairy story, Lady Moon!

Lady Moon, O Lady Moon,
It is late, and you're so busy with so many trysts to keep,
And our little wide-eyed babba—it is time she went to sleep,
Kiss those cheeks that mock December
With their roses picked in June, She'll remember, Lady Moon!

—Westminster Gazette.

MAGAZINE GIRLS.
All women are lovely and radiant fair,
In the magazine pages today,
They all have a mop of luxuriant hair,
In the magazine pages today.

There's not one with freckles, or noses sawed,
Or teeth that protrude, as some real girls do,
There isn't a blemish on girls that we view
In the magazine page today.

There's not one too pudgy or not one too thin,
In the magazine pages today,
Nor one who's just losing her tortoise shell pin,
In the magazine pages today,
Next shirtwaist and belt there is never a gap,
Or a tear in the silk that is lining her wrap,
And her gloves never lack a pearl button or snap,
In the magazine pages today.

She doesn't wear pink when she ought to wear blue,
In the magazine pages today,
And she isn't run down at the heel of her shoe,
In the magazine pages today,
You never can see when she hasn't a hat,
How much is real hair and how much of it's rat,
It's only in life that we see things like that,
Not in magazine pages today.

—Edgar A. Guest.

MAN VALENTINE.
Pa dropped his book and looked away,
Then said to me, "You know what day is almost here?" And he said, "Yes."
I ought to know the day, I guess,
It's the same day you used to shine,
As-sen-din's a valentine
To every little girl you know."
And he said, "I sent one to you."

"Yes," he said, "Lydia and Sue
And Belle and Bess got their share, too,
That you sent." Pa said,
"So they did!"
I was a regular cupid kid,
All right. But then I spent my dough
For costly things for you, you know,
When we was keepin' company.
Them was glad days for you and me!"

"Indeed, they was!" Ma give a sigh,
"You never let the dog go by
From then to now, but that you bought Something more costly than you ought.
I 'spose you'll do the same this year."
"Always. Don't get nothin', dear,
I think I'll get a pound of steak."
Pa said, "I must, dear, for your sake."

THE STOMACH NEEDS HELP

The Liver, Kidneys and Bowels Must Be Kept Active to Ensure Health.

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS

Not one person in a hundred can get along at the time of year without using something to calve the action of the liver, kidneys and bowels.

Too much eating of heavy artificial foods, too little outdoor exercise, this is the explanation.

The liver and kidneys are overworked in their efforts to remove the poisonous waste matter from the system. They fail and become torpid and clogged. The bowels become constipated and stomach ailments result.

There is one medicine which overcomes this condition with certainty and more rapidly than any other. This is Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

The medicine he makes in action at once and by breaking up the liver and kidneys ensures the thorough cleansing of the filtering and excretory systems.

With the poisonous obstructions removed, the digestive system resumes its healthful condition. Headache, pains and aches disappear, as well as irritability and depression.

You can imagine a more satisfactory treatment for biliousness, constipation, headache and kidney disease than Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers or Edmanston, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Are You Moving This Spring?

If you are, it is worth your while to look carefully over your Kitchen Range and see if it would not pay you to replace it with a new, up-to-date one. Old Stoves very often do not do satisfactory work and burn too much fuel.

We would like you to see our "MONARCH" STEEL RANGE, illustration of which we show. The Monarch is well and strongly built, is a great baker and has many labor and fuel saving devices which every Housekeeper will appreciate on sight.

Call and see the MONARCH and have its many special features pointed out.

FOR DAD'S SAKE

The young man was leaning on the garden gate chiding with the object of his affections when the latter said hesitatingly: "I am going to ask a great favor of you."

"It's already granted," he answered devoutly.

"A very great favor," she repeated, as if doubtful of the propriety of stating it. "You're sure that you won't think it forward of me?"

"Never," he answered; "nothing you ask could be too great a trial. Only tell me what I can do for you."

"Well," she replied, with evident reluctance, "would you mind not leaning on that gate? Father's pointed it this afternoon and he said he would be very angry if he has to do it all over again."—Ideas.
