ESSENCE OF SMOKE.
For the Smoking of Ham, Bacon, Fish, &c.
The subscriber begs respectfully to announce to the Public, that the Essence of Smoke has been extensively used throughout the Province during the past season, and that all those who have given it a fair trial, recommend it as decidedly preferable to the old mode of smoking fish and meat.
Housekeepers, Provision-dealers, and others can smoke any quantity of meat or fish, without the least inconvenience or loss of time, by attending to the following plain directions:—While the ham, &c. is moist from the pickle, wipe it with a dry towel, then wash it over twice or three times with the Essence of smoke, allowing six hours to elapse between each washing: hang it up, to dry slowly; it will then keep for any length of time, in any climate. No fly or insect will touch any thing preserved with the Essence of Smoke.
Half a pint is sufficient for the largest ham.
Meat or Fish that has become tainted will be restored to a wholesome state in a few hours by being washed with this Essence of Smoke.
For its use in the cure of Rheumatism, Inflammation, Cuts, Burns, Sprains, and many other complaints, and also for its beneficial effects in the removal of discharges, and accidents to which horses and cattle are liable, as Inflammation, sprains, sprain, leas, &c. see handbill.
A liberal commission allowed to merchants and traders wishing to become agents.
Sold by Thos. Walker & Son, J. & J. Alexander, Peter & Taylor, and Geo. Chubb, in Saint John; J. Cook, Carleton; Robert Boyle, Portland; Barnes Travis, Indian Town; James F. Gale, Fredericton; G. F. Dr. Poett's Eradicator.
THE efficacy of this Medicine, in curing recent cases of Gonorrhoea, generally in 24 hours, and when the disease is of longer standing, there is no medicine so efficacious. There is no case of Gleet, Stricture, Venereal Ulcer, &c. &c. wherein any preparation has been so uniformly successful in eradicating every vestige from the constitution. It is as pleasant as it is certain, and retains its virtue in any climate. For sale by appointment, at the Circulating Library, by W. A. H. TRURO, Feb. 21, 1840.

St. John, Feb. 21, 1840.

KIRSON & SONS,
Architects, Stonecutters, and Builders, from England.

DEB respectfully to acquaint the Gentlemen of this City and Province, that they have commenced business as above in Saint John. Their experience in some of the best Buildings in the North of England, enables them to furnish plans and specifications on the most improved and approved principles, and are now prepared to contract or otherwise to erect buildings of any magnitude or fashion. Persons wishing their services can find them at Mrs. Boswells Boarding house, Church street, April 9.

STORAGE to a moderate extent may be had in the subscriber's Brick Warehouse, which being fitted with Iron Doors and Window shutters, may safely be considered as a Fire Proof. Entrance from Prince William street.

IMPORTANT TO FARMERS, FLOCK MASTERS, AND BREEDERS OF STOCK.
Messrs. HARRIS & CO., London, Proprietors, respectfully solicit the patronage of Noblemen, Farmers, Flock Masters, &c. for their Medicines and Soap, which a single trial will once establish their value. At this season of the year they feel it necessary to direct attention to the removal of vermin, to relieve the disorders to which young Animals are subject, particularly Worms, and to prevent the loss of stock by the destructive effects of the scour or looseness in Calves, Sheep and Lambs; for drink or staggars in Sheep; Fleas, Fleas, and Dipping Paste; Liniment Dressings for weak Calves and when weaning; Bleeding Balsam, or Restorative Liniment for pre-liminary curing, limbing and healing;—this is an invaluable preparation, and cannot be too highly appreciated; and many others too numerous for insertion.

Messrs. Harris & Co. beg to inform Farmers and other persons residing in remote districts, that they will find it much to their interest to have a stock of their HORSE MEDICINES by them, comprising Balms, Dressings, Liniments, Lotions, &c. &c. all of which are at very moderate prices, compounded of the best Drugs that can be procured in London, and under the immediate inspection of an experienced Veterinary surgeon, so that the most inexperienced person may administer them.

ALL the above Medicines are for sale at the Circulating Library, Cornmarket street, and every foundation further required on the subject, can be had on application to:
A. R. TRURO,
Their Agent for New-Brunswick,
St. John, May 8, 1840.

NOTICE.
THE Proprietors of an extensive and valuable Establishment in Nova-Scotia, about 80 miles from St. John, comprising a large saw-mill, Store, Blacksmith shop, Dwelling House, and other Buildings, with a ship-yard complete and commodious in every respect—also a valuable Herring Fishery, are desirous of associating with themselves, some person or persons who would make a certain advance of Capital and take the personal superintendance of the concern, becoming interested to a certain extent. The Buildings have been erected within the last three years, and are, together with the whole Establishment, in a most efficient state, and adapted for the peculiar advantages of situation and construction, to carry on an extensive business in ship building, lumbering, and other departments. For further particulars apply to:
JAMES T. HANFORD,
St. John, April 31, 1840.

Absconded.
FROM this Office, on the 10th inst., an In-ferred Apprentice named James Cook. All persons are hereby cautioned against treating him, and any person found harboring said Apprentice, will be proceeded against as the law directs.

FARODY.
Know ye the land where daybreak and twilight
By Swartrons in office are done every day,
Where party men vie in the art of deceiving,
And then cap the climax by running away.
Know ye the land of the vault and the key,
Where the cash of the people is stolen in quiet,
Where a pilfered and spent through the vigil care,
Of collectors and agents whom party put there.
Where Reformers by word, Retrenchment a dream,
Corruption the practice and plunder the scheme;
Where a Kitchen Cabinet, or a Caucus in drill,
Dares proclaim its own voice as a free people's will,
Know ye the land where sub-treasurers riot,
Like an army of rats when the cat is away,
Where the cash of the people is stolen in quiet,
And nothing left but to whistle for pay.
'Tis the land of our fathers, 'tis America's soil,
Where Liberty's price was blood, treasure and toil;
'Tis the land that was freed and by Washington won,
Feb. 21, 1840. A. H. TRURO.

THE VISIT.
In one of the freezing days of our climate, a young physician, but recently married, invited his wife to accompany him on a visit to one of his patients.
You are forgetting James; what! visit a patient without an introduction, or an invitation, or exchange of cards!—You are forgetting, my dear Amos, that these are not mere matters of ceremony or mere forms, but that they are necessary to the success of your mission.
I will go with you any where.
This being said, she descended to her carriage, and entered a small alley, in which Amos saw a row of houses built in a manner that showed they were for the labouring class. Crossing the whole range, they entered the last house, and at the first door Mr. Lonsdale gave a gentle rap. A plain woman opened the door, and inquired who he was.
Two chairs were immediately set out, one with the back broken off, the other rickety and unstable. Behind the fire were two little children seated on the hearth, making a noise, which the attendant female vainly endeavoured to stop. A girl about five years of age came out of a small pantry behind, and smiled as she spoke.
In a large rude chair sat a thin female. She looked herself incessantly. She looked up when Dr. Lonsdale entered, but she never spoke a word. Her complexion was sallow by illness, her lower jaw had fallen from its socket, and her teeth exhibited a looseness which she was endeavoring to receive some nourishment at the hand of the companion, she seemed weary.
I am glad to see you, doctor, though I had hoped you would not have come; but you are here before now.
I do not complain, but my bones have started through the skin, I suffer,—"she shivered and started," she said, "I thought very truly, when I lost my baby last summer—I see it was kind: what would have become of mine? I must have been dead, young as I am, to take care of myself, and my husband is now a weak man."
She did not weep; she was past that human feel.
Amos looked on in silence. She had returned to him, and she was sitting on the same chair as when she was first introduced to him. She felt well, and she was sitting on the same chair as when she was first introduced to him.
