

SMALL BUSINESS AT CALUMET COLLEGE

The York Economic Self-Sufficiency Programme is a joint venture of Calumet College and the York Enterprise Development Centre of the Faculty of Administrative Studies. Its aim: to help people get started in small business in order to earn independent livelihoods.

You should have some initial ideas about the enterprise you wish to undertake, and commitment to go through the Programme's seven discussion-lectures dealing with the basic elements of running a small business. (Coupled with the lectures will be a series of consulting sessions devoted to the particular enterprise you want to initiate.)

The Fall session for 1979 will start on September 26th. Space is limited, so you should register as soon as possible. The course fee is $50.00 to cover expenses.

Please note that you won't get any University credits for this course, but what you may get is the best boss there is: yourself.

For further information and an application form, please call Gabriele Hardt at 667-3487, or stop by 134 Calumet (in the Atkinson College building).

WELCOME BACK FROM THE CLASS OF 45.

Library installs tell-tale Tattletape

Gary Hershorn

Dudu Mogadime
Tattletape. That's the name of the new electronic security system installed this summer in York's Scott Library.

The system was installed to prevent theft of materials which has occurred in the past even under the watchful eyes of security staff.

According to library director Anne Woodworth, books cannot be stolen past tattletape.

"No matter where you put a book, whether it's inside a briefcase or in between a pad of paper, the system can still detect it."

How does tattletape operate? All library materials have been sensitized. When one checks out materials at the circulation desk the items are desensitized, allowing the student to pass the gates without triggering the alarm. Any materials that are still sensitized will lock the gate, ring the alarm and cause the student a little embarrassment.

The cost of tattletape—$140,000—was provided over a period of two years by the university's central equipment funds.

"Over a very short period of time the system will pay for itself," says Woodworth.

OFS expects tuition boost, plans postcard campaign

OTTAWA (CUP)—The Ontario Federation of Students (OFS) will conduct a postcard campaign as the main feature of its fall program against cutbacks in education spending.

The campaign, adopted by the OFS at its June 1 meeting in Thunder Bay, was planned to start early this month.

The move is expected to precede the announcement of new tuition and grant assistance policies later this fall.

"We think that they will make an announcement in October, but they might make a decision and keep it under their hats," said Jay Drydyck, an OFS researcher.

OFS expects the government announcements to deal with recommendations of the P. S. Ross report, commissioned last year to look into possible changes in the tuition levels paid by Ontario students.

If accepted, the report's recommendations would cause large tuition increases in the province.

The report deals with proposals to index tuition fees to the cost of education, to institute fee differentials for different programs, and to "unpeg" tuition levels allowing individual institutions to set their own tuition levels.

With tuition levels set at 20 per cent of total cost, a level that has been suggested by several university administrators, the average undergraduate tuition could reach $1,400 by 1984.

The report indicates that many college administrators felt 15 per cent was a reasonable rate. If this is accepted, the average college tuition level could rise to $800 by the mid 1980's.

Spurned by girlfriend, man blasts jukebox

VIENNA (ZNS)—A bartender escalated the international fight against disco when he pumped a jukebox full of lead at the disco he works in.

Leopold Hofner just couldn't take it after an unidentified customer played Donna Summer's hit "I Feel Love" 20 consecutive times. So he grabbed a gun kept under the counter for protection against hold-ups and shot the juke box until it stopped playing.

Hofner said romance, not disco hatred, was his prime motive in the slaying. "That record was the one my girlfriend and I always danced to," he told police. "Right before that man kept playing it, she phoned me to say she didn't want to see me again."

Harbinger Community Services has moved to a new location, Room 026 and 027, McLaughlin College, where we have resumed our Peer Counselling Services. All interested parties who wish to be volunteers, please drop by.