EDUCATIONAL CLAUSES

House is Still Hammering Away at Autonomy Bill.

Mr. Bergeron Proposes an Amendment Tantamount to Clause 16 (No. 1) and Baita Fitzpatrick—Claims That Promises Made by England in 1763 Were Made to the French in Canada and Not to Provincials.

Ottawa, June 30.—The House went again yesterday into committee on the school clause of the autonomy bill. Mr. Bergeron proposed his amendment. He said he gathered that Bourassa's speech must have struck home to the Government, judging by the eloquent harangue with which the Solicitor-General sought to draw a red herring across the trail. He denounced the amended section 16, as "opportunistic, neither granting rights to the minority in the Northwest, nor placing them under the constitution. Instead of talking about the abstract letter of the constitution, it was better to see what was the intention of those who framed it."

England's Promises. The promises made by England in 1763 were made, not to the Provincials, but to the French-Canadian people, wherever they were, and "those who are in the Northwest Territories," he said, "must have come from somewhere. They didn't come from the moon." Promises were made in Manitoba, and the party that broke them was the same party that today was doing the same work in the Territories. Clause 16 (No. 2) amounted to nothing at all. If the Premier had stood by the original clause it would have been a triumph. The Premier had become frightened. The Premier desired to get rid of Sifton, and cleverly utilized this opportunity. But when the Minister of Finance showed his teeth it was a different matter, and the change was made. It was a dangerous thing for a chief to show that he could be forced to make changes. The practical effect of clause 16 (No. 2) would be to forever prevent Roman Catholics from having their own denominational schools in the new Province.

His amendment was as follows: "Section 93 of the British North America Act, 1867, shall apply to the Province, as if the date fixed for the coming into force of this act, the territory included in the said Province were already a Province, the word 'union' in the said section meaning the said date. (2) The Legislature shall have the right to pass laws with reference to education, but it shall always guarantee: (a) the existence of separate schools and their enjoyment by the minority, Protestant or Catholic, who may claim them; (b) the effective control of said schools in matters of teaching by the said minority; (c) the full liberty for the majority in any school section, to have such school as it may desire; (d) the equitable and proportionate distribution between the majority and minority of all moneys appropriated for education."

There is a kind. Mr. Fitzpatrick declared that Mr. Bergeron's amendment would give the Roman Catholics nothing at all. "If that were so," Mr. Bergeron came back, "his hon. Minister and his friends behind him would vote for it." (Laughter.)

Mr. Fitzpatrick explained that, in support of Mr. Bergeron's amendment, it meant anything at all, was the same as the amendment of Mr. Bourassa.

"Which I voted for and you voted against," Mr. Bergeron interrupted.

The Minister of Justice said that Bergeron's amendment made no provision for financial support to separate schools.

After Mr. Leonard had spoken in French in favor of the amendment, Mr. Bourassa arose, and in a fiery speech, announced his intention of supporting the amendment, also as being in favor of establishing separate schools.

This ended the incident, and the committee divided on Mr. Bergeron's amendment, which was defeated by 125 to 7, the seven voting yeas being Messrs. Martin, Bergeron, Monk, Paquette and Lacombe, Messrs. Bourassa and Lavergne, Liberals.

Then Mr. Lamont, Liberal of Saginaw, sprung an amendment calculated to increase the privileges of the Roman Catholics, as to religious instruction in public schools, and a hot debate ensued.

Mr. Lamont's amendment, which was accepted by the Government, was carried by 33 to 27. Then the clause 16, as thus amended, was put forth and carried by 96 to 28. Clause 2, which also deals with education, was taken up and an amendment embodying the principles of section 93 of the B. N. A. Act was moved by Mr. Bourassa and lost on division.

WAS THRILLING

Magnificent Exhibition of Speed and Gymnastics by Excitable and Spirited Stead.

A hippodrome, circus performance and steeple-chase, all for the one price of admission, was what the people of the east end of the city were treated to yesterday afternoon when Dr. Rutherford's horse, attached to his new steeple-chase carriage, ran away. The animal was tied in front of the office on King street east and succeeded in some manner in getting one ear free of the bridle. A moment later it grew restless and a jerk freed its whole head and the show had started.

The boy who had charge of it made a gallant attempt to stop the animal, clinging to its neck until shaken off at the Mansell House. A large plow was at work tearing up the cobblestones on William street but the runaway cleared it by a neat jump. Down William street to Wellington street, the horse and carriage occurred. On the corner of Adelaide street the next "thriller" occurred. When horse and carriage were pushed out of the street the carriage was knocked down and quite severely damaged. The impact of the collision caused horse and rider to dissolve part of the horse, continuing its spectacular career down Wellington street, the rider being scattered, being thrown into the ditch.

The horse headed for its stable on Kirk street. Will Collett was unloading some furniture before the house of James Rutherford when it dashed up, striking the shafts of the carriage, striking Collett's rig. The horse on the furniture wagon started to run and the procession began to resemble the historic ride of John Galt. The Collett rig was jammed in the doorway by a tree, but the other horse continued until it ran up on the lawn of Geo. Tick, where, after trampling the flower beds, it endeavored to enter the house.

The damage to the doctor's rig is quite extensive. The Collett outfit had an axle broken.

THE MARKET

The Building Will not be Completed Owing to Lack of Funds—Committee to Rush Work on Sheds.

A meeting of the Building committee of the City Council was held in the City Clerk's office, Harrison Hall, last evening, with Chairman King, Mayor Cowan and Ald. Edmondson, Potter and Ainsworth and Solicitor Gundy present.

The agreement with the architect, Mr. Pattee, in connection with the market building, came up for consideration. Mr. Rutley asked for 3 1/2 per cent. on the work that goes on and 1 1/2 per cent. on all the work specified by him in plans that does not go on. The committee was unanimous in objecting to pay for work that does not go on, and Mr. King and the solicitor were appointed to meet Mr. Rutley to-day and come to some agreement satisfactory to both parties.

It was decided not to complete the building according to No. 2 plan, including a municipal building, owing to lack of funds. The committee was unanimous in their opinion that it would be better to put up the whole building at once, but the amount of money voted by the people is insufficient for this purpose and the committee will have to confine themselves to the building of the sheds and police station and the pavement. The work on this will be pushed ahead as rapidly as possible. The contractor will put a big force of men at work to-morrow and bricks are being carried to the square to-day in preparation for the work. The contractor assures the committee that he will engage as many men as he can get. The work will be put up and likely completed by the middle of next week.

It was decided that the appointment of an inspector on the building was unnecessary.

The Mayor and Ald. King and Edmondson examined the work this morning and as far as they could see everything is being carried out according to contract.

In reference to the cemetery building the committee decided to reduce the cost on the plans submitted by Architect Wilson and the chairman will bring in a report on this at the next Council meeting.

Brigadier Southall, of Toronto, who is Secretary of the Trade Department of the Salvation Army, will visit Chatham on Saturday and Sunday, July 1st and 2nd, and conduct special services at the Army Bazaar. The Brigadier will be accompanied by his old friends, as he was one of the first officers sent to take charge of the Army here and experienced some rough times in the early days. He is a forceful and earnest speaker and old and new friends are invited to his services, which are being looked forward to with great expectation by the Army folks of this city.

RIPE FOR REVOLUTION

Russian Government Almost Paralyzed by Odessa Events.

All Depends on the Army—Fears Expressed That Many Regiments Are Honeycombed With Sedition, and Admiral Skrydloff Openly Expresses Opinion That Kruger's Bluzhackets Will Not Fire on Comrades.

St. Petersburg, June 30.—The Russian Government, although almost paralyzed by the events at Odessa and the news that the sailors at Libau also have mutinied, is making desperate efforts to stem out the flames of revolution before they can spread to the army, the last bulwark of the autocracy. With Poland red with revolt, the Caucasus almost in a state of civil war, agrarian disorders spreading rapidly, the whole country profoundly stirred and the intelligent classes solidly arrayed against the Government, all conditions seem ripe for the long predicted revolution.

Fear is expressed that many regiments are honeycombed with sedition, and there is grave doubt of their loyalty should they be called upon to fire upon the revolutionists. The most startling stories regarding the unreliability of the troops are being repeated.

Precautions to keep the news from the public are in vain, the revolutionaries and the Liberals everywhere spreading it by mouth, and within 24 hours it will be known in the uttermost confines of European Russia.

Will Not Fire on Comrades. At the Admiralty the orders sent to Kruger were not unanimously approved. Among others, Vice-Admiral Skrydloff openly expressed the opinion that Kruger's bluzhackets would not fire on their comrades on the Kalas Potemkin, and that they, too, might revolt should they be ordered to shoot.

Odessa despatches state that millions of dollars worth of property, including ships, has been burned or otherwise destroyed. The city is terror-stricken and hundreds have been killed or wounded. The fact that the troops and police made no attempt to interfere with the burial of the martyred sailor is regarded as significant.

Under cover of the darkness produced by the dense pall of smoke hanging over the city, it is reported, the mob has begun to sack and plunder. Foreign property has suffered heavily.

Admiral's Message. In naval circles the cause of the mutiny on board the Kalas Potemkin is attributed principally to the severity of Vice-Admiral Chukotin's regime. He is a martinet and several of his sailors have already been shot for disobedience. At the time of the mutiny a court-martial was actually in progress at Sebastopol and several of the crew of the battleship had been sentenced.

Late despatches from Libau say that property losses there are considerable and that all the workmen have gone out in sympathy with the bluzhackets. Artillery is said to have been employed against the mutineers.

Gripenberg's New Job. St. Petersburg, June 30.—Lieut. Gen. Gripenberg, who was recalled from Manchuria for disobeying the orders of Gen. Kuropatkin, has been appointed Inspector-General of Infantry.

Danish Ship Sunk by Russian. Batavia, Java, June 29.—The Danish steamer Prinsesse Marie was overtaken June 24 by the Russian auxiliary cruiser Tarek, and after her cargo had been declared contraband, the ship was sunk. Her crew are safe.

STEAM HEATING

Yesterday Mayor Cowan received the following message from Councilman Lily:

"Hon. Geo. W. Cowan, Mayor: 'Will you make steam heating franchise fifty years, 25 years exclusive. Find it difficult to finance scheme without at least 25 years exclusive. Answer.' M. E. LILY."

The Mayor sent the following reply:

"I feel certain of 50 years, first 20 years exclusive, would be approved by Council."

Sd. GEO. W. COWAN.

It will be remembered that the Council gave these people a fifty-year franchise—forty years of the term being exclusive, and then reported themselves of their act, mid by striking the word "exclusive" out of the agreement, gave them a straight franchise for fifty years.

Both Mayor and Council are opposed to exclusive franchises, but desire to protect an enterprise of this sort in a reasonable manner and think that to prohibit anyone competing against them for 20 years would afford them ample protection.
