QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS. Miscellaneous.

AN UNOPENED ROAD.

A owns a farm and a marsh, with a river running through it, and the road running down through A's field to the marsh has never been opened. A forbids B to go through this unopened roadway to the marsh.

1. Can A prosecute B for going through it?

2. Can B force A to open a road to the water?

3. Who would he apply to to have the road opened?

Ont. READER.

Ans.—1. Yes.

2. No.

3. To the municipal council.

LIGHTNING PROTECTION FOR METAL-ROOFED BUILDING.

I have put a galvanized corrugated iron roof on my barn, and have no eavestrough on it. Am advised to put a No. 9 galvanized wire from each corner of roof to the ground.

1. Would that be a good protection from lightning? 2. If so, how would you fasten wire to post on way to the ground? 3. How deep would the wire have to be put in ground? W. A. M.

Ans.—1. If good connection is made between the wire and metal roofing, and also good ground connection secured, protection should be afforded by rods made of No. 9 wires twisted as described in this issue in article on "Protection from Lightning."

2. Staple the wire loosely to the weatherboards.

3. Run the rod down into earth that is always moist. Six or seven feet should be deep enough.

CEMENT CONCRETE FOR SAP ARCH.

How would you advise me to mix cement for a furnace to boil sap? Would it do to mix it the same as any other wall? Is there anything else beside sand and cement? I was told wood ashes is what is used to make fine brick. What proportion should it be mixed to withstand the heat? J. C. W.

Ans.—We would advise using just neat cement to lay the bricks; that is, use no sand at all; have the beds and joints just as light as possible, and then back up with concrete, made of good, clean, coarse gravel (not sand). We might state that all of our boilers used in connection with our cement work and canning factory, and our kilns in which we burn our cement, are built this way. Our kilns, when at extremely high heat is necessary, are just faced up with fire brick set in neat cement and backed with concrete of good coarse gravel and Queenston cement, mixed 3 to 1.

The syrup furnace will not be very large, and we would consider a wall 2 feet thick, plenty heavy enough. If there is a limestone in that section that stands fire very well, it could be used very successfully instead of brick, it will last a long time, and at less expense. Or build it all concrete, if it can be given a fair chance to set before using. Do not put a hot fire on a green concrete wall, as it is very liable to crack it up badly.

"ABSORBINE WORKS LIKE MAGIC."

W. F. Young, P. D. F.:

Dear Sir,—I have been using Absorbine for four months on my carriage and saddle horses, and find it the best remedy yet for windgalls and swellings of all kinds. So far I have not had to use it for anything else, but am sure its curative properties are all and more than claimed. It works like magic, and a little goes a long way.

HIS WIFE'S LUNGS BOTH AFFECTED

But the Great Consumptive Preventative brought Health and Happiness to his Home

"Our doctor said there was no cure for my wife as both her lungs were affected," says Mr. L. H. Walter, of Pearl Street, Brockville, Ont. "It was a sad disappointment to us both, just starting out in life, only married a short time. But before she had finished the first bottle of Psychine the pain in her lungs quickly went away, and after taking six bottles Mrs. Walter was a new creature and perfectly well again."

That is just one of the many families into which Psychine has brought hope, health and happiness. It is a living proof that Psychine cures Consumption. But don't wait for Consumption. Cure your LaGrippe, your Cough, your Bronchitis, your Catarrh, or your Pneumonia with the remedy that never fails—
