GOSSIP.

The prosecuting Attorney: "Was the prisoner in the habit of singing when he was alone?"

Pat McGuire (witness): "Shure, an' I can't say, for Oi was niver with him when he was alone."

Mark Twain was once travelling on a lecture tour, and a friend had been drawing the humorist out on the subject of his experiences. "What sort of audience," he asked, "do you like best? Who, in your opinion, make the most responsive and sympathetic listeners?" "College men," replied Mark, after a moment's thought—"College men and convicts."

An Englishman in Shanghai was given by his Chinese boy a dinner of unusual excellence, but instead of being grateful he began, as is the way with some Anglo-Saxons, to chaff his young cook. "What was it? Suppose you killed one of the street dogs, eh?" Wun Lee looked pained, and made a sign of dissent. "No kille dog," he said indignantly, "him long time dead when I him pickee up!"

A citizen of Scotch origin had been in the habit of wearing a pair of ear-laps these cold days.

A friend met him, and said: "Why are you not wearing the laps now?"

"I met an accident with them and have dropped them."

"What was the accident?"

"I was going down street a fortnight ago, wearing them over my lugs, accompanied by a friend. He said to me: 'Donal, will ye hae a drink?' and I didna hear him!"

The feature of the sale of Aberdeen-Angus bulls at Perth Show and Sale, on Feb. 17th was the demand for specimens of the Erica tribe. Sir George Macpherson Grant's bulls averaged £172 10s., the best prices for his lot being 355 gs., 165 gs., 150 gs., 110 gs., and 105 gs. The average for the 326 bulls sold was £23 14s. 9d., against £32 15s. 7d. last year. The highest price was paid for Evolsurus, which won second in the senior class. The highest price for a female was 135 gs., for Mr. Allan's second-prize two-year-old heifer, Eblight of Ballintomb, a big, sappy, double Erica, by Edward R.

The late John Procter was a great walker in his college days. He liked nothing better than to set out early on a frosty morning, and to walk twenty-five or thirty miles through the country. He would start alone, as a rule, but if he fell in with a teamster, a laborer, a tramp—anyone—he was well pleased. He would bring home many an odd bit of talk that he had gathered in this way. He once met an Irishman on the road. They plodded along together a matter of six or seven miles. They stopped and read each milestone, as walkers always do, and Procter said: "I think that milestones cheer a road up wonderfully, don't you?" "Faith an' I do that," said the Irishman. "I find them a great comfort. It would be an improvement, though, if they were nearer one another, wouldn't it?"

Mr. John Milne, Dyce, N. B., has been in the habit of weighing his cattle every twenty-eight days for the last twenty years, and this practice has given him some exceptionally valuable information. Calves fed chiefly from the pail increased in live weight more rapidly in the first three months than ever afterwards, gaining in some cases 1 lb. for every 8 lbs. of new milk consumed. Mr. Milne also found that the quantities of certain foods which produced 100 lbs. increase in beasts nine to fifteen months old, produced only 67 lbs. when the animals were twenty-one to twenty-seven months of age, and no more than 37 lbs. when they were thirty-three to thirty-nine months old. Stores nearly mature have not paid Mr. Milne for their keep, while young and lean stores have paid well. The latter proved remunerative up to twenty-two months, but not afterwards, if fat then. Even the best of Irish stores have never paid for liberal feeding after they were twenty-four months old.
