THE INFALLIBILITY OF THE CHURCH.

For the CATHOLIC RECOR

If there is one point of attack more seductive than another to the scoffing seductive than another to the scoffing non-Catholics, it is the doctrine of Papal Infallibility in the Catholic church; but as with other points of at-tack, the ground for the same crumbles when this doctrine is examined and understood. And, by the way, a great percentage of those who attack it do not in the first place know what it means, but jump to the conclusion that what the Catholic is required to be-lieve is that the Pope as an individual is infallible.

is infallible. Personally, this particular degma ap-Personally, this particular degma appealed to me as being eminently satis-factory and consistent with reason; and should be, and is, so far from being a stumbling block a very convinc-ing proof of the true church to those not blinded by prejudice. As everyone will admit the Bible is not simple and easily understood, and very often almost opposite mean ings may be deduced from por tions of it. Would it be com patible with divine wisdom to have given it to man without an interpreter who cannot err? Is anything more given it to man without an interpreter who cannot err? Is anything more reasonable than our belief that we must have and have an infallible scriptural and living authority to interpret the law? Is not the result of the lack of such a one forcibly and lamentably illustrated in the multiplicity of sects, each one of which disagrees with all others in some respects 2—the inevit-able result of unrestricted bible reading and individual interpretation. The lack of authority and its result-ant evils appear to me to be a crowning weakness of the system of our sep-arated brothren, who do not even pre-tend to possess in allibility, yet require <text> Would it not be rather incongruous in the Catholic church by the way, to claim divine origin and not in fallibility? And one more point which is brought on by the absence of such a doctrine in Protestantism is the necessarily resulting absence of a ivine commission. Papal infallibility is only one more above all the consistency of the besuty and above all the consistency of the Ro-man Catholic church; only another proof that it is of divine foundation.  $F_{RED}$  J. DEMILLE. Hamilton Ont.

COMMENDS CATHOLIC EXAMPLE TO PROTESTANT IMITATION.

Professor Alfred W. Anthony, of the Cobb Divinity School, is heading a movement against the divorce evil in Maine. A Boston Herald correspondent from Lewiston quotes him freely. "Maine," says Professor Anthony "will be notorious for the number of divorces granted by her courts. Al-ready the divorces decreed in one year in the state are more than one-seventh arriages so In the number of causes recognized Maine compares favorably with the other New England s ates. New Hampshire allows 14 causes; Vermont, 6; Massachusetts, 9; Rhode Island, 10; and Connecticut, 8. But Maine sur passes them all in the frequency with which her courts grant divorce. This, I thick is due more to height I think, is due more to leniency and laxity on the part of the courts than to a worse social condition prevalent in tant churches would come up to the standard of the Roman Catholic Church. The Protestant Episcopal Charch is approaching it. Divorce as commonly understood, is not recognized by the Roman Catholic Church and is totally unknown among good Roman Catholics. To them marriage is a sacrament. The commissioner of labor of the United States, in publishing a report 17 years ago upon this subject, said: 'Large and increasing as the number of divorces in the United States is, it is an under able fact that were it not for the wide spread influence of the Roman Catho-lic Church the number would be much Church the number would be much greater.' This, I believe, is true. "

How the Jesuits Mind Their Own Business.

A daily paper, noting some recent changes of appointment among the Jesuits, says: "The orders transferring both Jesuit Fathers were attended by the secrecy which usually characterized the transaction of business of the Jesuit order." The Catholic Transcript re marks: "That's so. It is curious that the members of a religious community should wish to conduct their own busi ness without taking the inquisitive re porter into their confidence. The mystery of it all is that the average Jesuit is blessed with a faculty of ad The justing himself to any condition that may arise.
