sible to still further reduce the rate of taxation by a half mill on the dol-

In reply to Ald. Ward Ald. Spened stated that there was $8,000 street railway tax not paid, also $1,500 vot ed to the police board at the end of 1912. This sum practically constituhad to be met this year.

Ald. Ward again made a kick to have another half mill taken off .The to local improvement rates, street present rate of 24 or even 23 mills was felt by every taxpayer in the city. Mayor Hartman believed that the striking committee had gone into the question carefully. The independent boards of the city had made a big de-mand and he believed the committee had done exceedingly well to get down to 23 mills. Ald. Hollinrake pointed out that there were uncontrollable expenditures to the amount of $345.000. Ald. Hollinrake remembered when the school board only needed $30,000 now it was $63,500. Mayor Hartman said he remembered when the school board expenditure was $20,000.

The City Treasurer. Mr. Bunnell, the City Treasurer, said that increases in hospital, public school and Collegiate interest and sinking fund expenditure were res pensible for big demands on civic venue. The library and parks board also demanded increases, althoug reductions had been made. Reduc tions had been made as follows: Pul lic schools, $1,000; Collegiate Institute, $1,000; parks board, $926; pub lic library $850; fire light committe $1383; board of works, $3540. Th separate school board estimates ha also been slightly reduced. Mr. Bun nell submitted that all the boards had been within their rights, and had no asked one dollar more than tha to which they were entitled. He be lieved that payment for public service had been placed at its minimum, that is, if an overdraft were to be avoided

Mr. Bunnell's remarks were ac cepted with unanmity around the council board, and the reports went through scarcely without question.

An Explanation Ald Spence explained that the vote of $85,000 to the hospital entailed this year an expenditure of $6679. The new Dufferin School in the Holmedale meant an expenditure this year of $4000, the $10,000 for the new Collegiate meant some $600 towards interest and sinking fund, over and above maintenance. It was not very hard to eat up an increase in as-

About the Police. Ald Spence said he could not explain where The Expositor got its information unless it was from a certain paper he had seen on Saturday, information unless it was from a certain paper he had seen on Saturday, which paper had printed police expenditures. Ald. Spence said that in reference to police expenditures he had called upon the chairman. His Interest and S. F. on debt land called upon the chairman. His Interest and S. F. on debt land called upon the chairman. His Interest and S. F. on debt land called upon the chairman. His land called upon the chairman. His land called upon the chairman. His land called upon the chairman. County of Brant. Honor, Judge Hardy re the same, and the Judge said, "put in the same estimates as last year and it will be perfectly satisfactory to me."

Mayor Hartman said that he did not recognize the report in The Expositor although he had been impor-uned by Chief Slemin on Saturday as to what was doing. His phone kept ringing. The second time the Chief asked the Mayor to have a meeting with the magistrate to strike the estimates Saturday afternoon. The Mayor informed the Chief that he was engaged during the afternoon. The Chief asked the Mayor to come to the police department, but the Mayor said 'No.' His Worship agreed to have the estimates in for the men.

Mayor said 'No.' His Worship agreed to have the estimates in for the men, but the Chief could not agree to the proposition. His Worship advised the Chief to call up Ald. Spence.

Ald. Spence said he did not know he was indebted to the Mayor for the Chiefs call. He said that the matter had been delayed already three weeks on account of police, estimates, and on account of police estimates, and he informed the Chief that he had the authority of the chairman to make the police estimates as they had been.
