PROSPECTS ARE GOOD.

The Conservative caucus at Toronto seems to have resulted well for the party. The World says:"The informal caucus of the Ontario members of the legislature and defeated candidates at the last provincial election, disclosed a gratifying state of affairs. Wr. Whitney, the leader, has the satisfaction of knowing that he has a united party, in whose ranks there is a spirit of confidence that presages victory. At the meeting nearly every riding in Ontario was represented and, while nothing definite was decided upon, the situation was quietly and, deliberately talked over, and now everyone knows where he is at. Two ses sions were held, one at the Albany club and the other in the mail building. The proceedings were nothing if not enthusiastic, and expressions of confidence in Mr. Whitney were heard on all sides."

ATTACKS ON THE HANGMAN.

An agitation has sprung up in favor of reading the riot act or the rules of etiquette to Hangman Radcliffe. That worthy individual, it appears, has no been conducting himself with the de corum essential to the dignity of hi position and the solemnity of the drama, in which he is one of the principal actors. In Vancouver we are told Radcliffe behaved badly His particular business out there was the execution of Yip Luck, a Chinaman, Radeliffe wanted to divide the performance into two acts. He proposed to cut off 'Yip's queue the night before the execution, and divide it among his friends and admirers as souvenirs. The authorities intercepted Radoliffe in his designs on poor Yip's pigtail, and the Chinaman died with his queue as well as his boots

This incident has been made the text ps several learned editorials by esteemed contemporaries. The Vancouver World says the people out there are up in arms against Radeliffe. The Ottawa Citizen calls upon the minist ter of justice to exercise a restraining influence on the public executioner, and the Hamilton Spectator supports the idea that Radeliffe would be benefitted by a curtain lecture. We do not think there is much occasion for making a noise over Radcliffe's idiosyncrasies. He is a pretty well behaved hangman, as hangmen go. It is possible that the authorities might be able to obtain the services of a more reserved and less egotistical individual than Radeliffe; but possibly the victim on the scaffold would have to pay dearly for the superior bearing of the executioner. The first and almost the only qualification for the gruesome work of carrying out the penalty of the law is to do it efficiently. Radcliffe is an efficient executioner. We cannot expect to get a man of fine feelings and courtly demeanor to accept the position. It is a job from which everyone who appreciates the indecency of cutting off the poor Chinaman's queue shrinks with horror. It would be well if Radchiffe would repress himself a little He is too much inclined to make an exhibition of his awful profession Yet we question if his deficiencies in that respect-deficiencies which are tonly natural in such a characterare not more than counteracted by the expertness with which he performs the chief duty entrusted to him.

The California fruit growers have discovered the past season that there is money in saving the pits of peaches and apricots. Our Canadian fruit growers might profit by it. At all of the canneries and drying establishments the pits are saved and sold at from $5 to $10 a ton. The kernels are extracted from the shells by machinery, and are shipped to Germany, where they are used for making acids The shells, when mixed with petro leum, make as hot a fire as coal and are cheaper. New discoveries find use for everything in this world.

Here is the story of a dream told by the Belleville Intelligencer. Mr. James Woodley, of that city, wore his Fenian Raid medal the day the soldiers came home from Africa. He last it, and was very much grieved. He advertised the loss, and offered $10 reward for the recovery of it, but in vain. One night he dreamed that the medal was under a certain plank in the sidewalk in front of the drill shed, on its edge, just as it had slipped

MUST HAVE A BET.

An officer named Vinton was celebrated in his garrison for winning every bet. None of his comrades could boast of ever having been successful, and at last no one cared to bet with him. One day Vinton was transferred to another regiment, but the fame of his peculiar luck had already spread before-him. After a supper tendered him by his new comrades on the evening of his arrival, and when champagne made its appearance, the Colonel called out:

"Is it really true, Varion, that you win every bet?"
"Yes, Colonel."

"But how on earth do you do it?" 'Qh, very simply. I am a physiognomist."
"Well, what, for instance, can you reid in my face?"
"I can see," said Vinton, promptly, "that the old wound in your side has broken out again."
"Nonsense!" thundered the Colonel.

"Perhaps you do not like to speak "Oh! You won't believe me! What will you bet?"

"Anything you please, Colonel."
"A pony?"
"All right, a pony."

The Coloney at once proceeded to divest himself of his coat and shirt, and a scrutiny by all the other officers present revealed the fact that there was no truce of a wound whatsoever. "You have lost your bet, Vinton," shouted the Colonel, resuming his garments.

"I have lost; but men may err some-Thave lost; but men may ear some times. Here is your £25." When the Colonel reached his quar-ters that night he wrote to his old chum, the Colonel in command of Vinton's former regiment:
"Dear Friend,—The story about Vinton's luck is all humbug. He has just made a bet of £25 that I had a wound of course lost it."

in my side, and of course lost it." The answer came back: "Your greenness is truly charming! Your winning £25 has cost me £100. Vinton bet me that sum on the day of his leaving that he would make you, on the first evening of meeting, take off your shart in the presence take off your shirt in the presence of your fellow-officers."

When appetite fails, it restores it. When food is a burden, it lifts the burden.

When you lose flesh, it brings the plumpness of health.

When work is hard and dúty is heavy, it makes life bright.

It is the thin edge of the wedge; the thick end is food. But what is the use of food, when you hate it, and can't digest it?

Scott's emulsion of codliver oil is the food that makes you forget your stomach.

Indiana's Bribery Law.

Indiana has a peculiar bribery law voter who should accept a bribe ould run the risk of imprisonme or from two to five years in the enitentiary; the man who should nform upon him would receive a reard of $100, and yet the man who should offer the bribe would not be punished. In other words, according to the Indiana code of morals it i wicked to accept a bribe, but not to offer one. There are great possibilities involved in the situation. One man might bribe another, and if the other should not vote as agreed the brib r could inform on him, send him to the penitentiary and claim . the $100 reward offered to the informer.

Death of Dickens' Double, The funeral of Charles Dickens' double, as Mr. John Baird, of Chatnam, was described when the great novelist resided at Gad's Hill, took place at Gillingham yesterday, says the Westminster Gazette, amid many manifestations of respect. The late Mr. Baird, who was in his ninetyfirst year, had been chairman of the local water works company for nearly half a century. His likeness to Charles Dickens, both in features and physique, was most remarkable, and caused many amusing mistakes in the lifetime of the novelist.

A Big Lumber Raft. towboat John H. Douglas passed down to-day with the largest lumber raft that has ever been floated on the father of waters, says a Burlington (Ia.) despatch (Oct. 27) in The Chicago Chronicle. It con-tains 9,300;000 feet, besides a large quantity of lath and shingles, and a low estimate of its value is $625,-000. An ordinary raft is about 15 cribs long. This was 52 cribs long and eight wide. The raft is the property of the Knapp-Stout Lumber pany, and is being taken to their St. Louis yards.

THE NEW-WAY TO TREAT DISEASE

Powley's Liquified Ozone

The Most Remarkable Preparation known to Science

Ever since the remarkable cures of Mr. W. McCa tay and Mr. Francis, attention has een drawn to Powley's Liquified Ozone. The narvellous nature of the recovery of both thes entlemen stamped Ozone as being a treatmen which was fairly marvellous in its health giving power. Hundreds of testimonials have been received sifice then; each testimonial can be erified. Read what R. E. Fleming says. Some fifteen months ago a friend spoke to me about Ozone and I have truly thanked him ever ince. I have suffered all my life from indi restion, weak stomach, bilious headaches, and poor, thin, watery blood. Some years ago, in fact when a young boy, I had billious headaches ouce and twice a week, and later on in life always had two severe attacks twice a month. I despaired of ever getting any relief or permanent cure. Fifteen months ago I had a severe attack of Kidney Trouble, suffering with pains in my back, my blood being in a miserable condition. I was weak, had a poor appetite and found it hard to get a good night's rest, had no pleasure in attending to my daily busi-ness, in fact, getting up in the morning was no sure; always wanted to lie in bed. So I began taking Ozone four times and after using a few bottles I found a decided improvement, but always thought that I would suffer with bilious headaches and weak stomach for the rest oamy natural life. After using four botlles I found I was entirely cured of Kidney Troubles, and after using a few more bottles I und my stomach strong and that my bilious headaches were leaving me, and my blood was pure. I can faithfully say that at the present noment I am permanently cured and gaining olid fiesh and muscles rapidly. I take the liberty of presenting to you this, my testi-monial that others may see and profit thereby
