September Wedding.

Wednesday, Sept. 14th.—This morning at nine o'clock, the Gasperau Baptist Church was the scene of a very pretty wedding, when Miss Annie Gertrude Dorman, of Newtonville, was united in marriage to Mr. Borden Eldridge, of Yarmouth. An impressive ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Borden.

Miss Elsie Abbott, of Wolfville, presided at the organ, and to the strains of the wedding march the groom, attended by Mr. Caswell Simons, of Stoneham, Mass., cousin of the bride, passed up one aisle and stood facing the audience beneath an arch of autumn leaves and cut flowers, while the bridesmaid, Miss Edna Dorman, sister of the bride, and the bride, supported by her father, Mr. Joseph Dorman, passed up the other aisle and took their places beneath the arch, where the nuptial knot was tied. The bride looked beautiful in white organdie trimmed with lace and ribbon, with wedding veil and wreath, and carrying a bouquet of sweet peas.

The bridesmaid was becomingly attired in blue cashmere with white trimmings, and also carried a bouquet of sweet peas. After the ceremony the contracting party drove to Mr. Suttie's, Wolfville, where after partaking of a wedding breakfast the bride donned her travelling suit of blue broadcloth, trimmed with white satin, with hat to match, and took the Bluebonnet for Yarmouth, their future home.

Our best wishes will follow them down through the coming years, wishing for them a joyous future, undimmed by grief or tears.

Robinson Hanged.

Kentville, N. S., Sept. 12.—At 1.35 this morning W. S. Robinson was hanged for the murder of his wife. He made no confession. When asked to do so, he said: "I have no confession to make. I committed no crime. I am, so help me God, an innocent man."

The prisoner had slightly weakened and there was a quiver in his voice, yet he said, "I am ready to die, and wish it were all over."

Dr. Shaw, of Ottawa, who had been summoned to attend the execution, arrived at 12.30, and Radcliffe, the hangman, at 12.35. Rev. Mr. White was with the prisoner at midnight and remained till 1.25 o'clock, when Radcliffe knocked at the cell door and asked Robinson to come with him. He quickly handcuffed the prisoner's hands behind his back. The old man had lost his color, and his white face and snow white hair were in marked contrast to the sombre suit of clothes he wore. There was no defiant air noticeable. The hangman rushed his man through the room adjoining the scaffold. The latter opened out to full view, and while the prisoner passed, a disgraceful scene was in progress. Men were clinched in a fight and others were trying to part them.

The execution was soon over. Radcliffe adjusted the noose and within five seconds after Robinson stepped on the scaffold the drop was sprung and the convulsive body was dangling below. Radcliffe would not permit Robinson to make a statement on the gallows. He told him at midnight he must say all he had to say before leaving his cell. He bade Rev. Mr. White farewell and gave him a hearty handshake.

We understand that Mr. Ralph M. Jones has been appointed Instructor in the English and Latin languages in place of Professor Sawyer, who relinquished his appointment as Professor in the college when he accepted the principalship of Horton Academy. Mr. Jones will accordingly teach these subjects to students of the Freshmen year. Mr. Jones has for two years been a student in Rochester Theological Seminary where he maintained a high record in scholarship. The appointment at Acadia, we understand is for the present academic year only, it being the purpose of Mr. Jones to complete his Theological course. Mr. Jones has had excellent training. His course of four years study at Acadia and two at Rochester have, it is believed, prepared him to do excellent work as instructor in the college.—Messenger and Visitor.
