THIRTY FEET TALL

coamed In Wyoming In Old Days Now Fossilized. Out in Wyoming a lot of scientific grubbers have unearthed the fossil re-mains of a horse thirty feet long and more than thirty feet high. The grubbers seem to have pieced the horse to-gether without any comment, and they don't offer a word of information con-track record. A horse thirty feet long would appear to be a lot of horse. If he belonged to the cave man the latter certainly had his hands full. A horse so tall that a thirty foot ladder became nec-essary when his bridle was to be put on might well be called the pride of the stable, although no ordinary stable would begin to accommodate him

If the cave man hadn't any ladder and couldn't borrow one the next best thing was to climb a tree. Then try to imagine him shinning up a tall palm with the heavy bridle on his back, only to find when he attained the right alti-tude that the horse had moved beyond reach and was peacefully browsing on the tall grass of the jungle!

Of course a thirty foot horse could be expected to cover much more ground than the ordinary animal of the same breed, even at a walk. And if he took it into his head to work his way across lots there would appear to be nothing to impede him. Fences would go down before him like stubble, and a merely playful cavort would carry him over raging torrents.

When a thirty foot horse shied at a bit of white paper in the roadway the chances are that he jumped clear over into the next county.

As a war horse the thirty footer must have been a startler. When he let out a neigh the enemy fied in blind and unreasoning terror. When he champed his bit and pawed the ground the very hills shuddered. When he switched his tail the hireling foe fell about him like ripened grain.

And then think of the nightmare that could be expected to follow the first sight of this prodigious equine! He certainly was a wonder. It is a great pity we know so little about him.— Cheyenne News.

Genius and Work.

Men give me credit for genius. All the genius I have lies just in this: When I have a subject in hand I study it profoundly. Day and night it is before me. I explore it in all its bearings. My mind becomes pervaded with it. Then the effort which I make the people are pleased to call the fruit of genius. It is the fruit of labor and thought.

"May we have the pleasure of your company this evening, colonel?" she asked.

The colonel drew himself up haughtily and replied, with every evidence of offended dignity:
"Madam, I command a regiment."

A Help For Mother. It is an unwritten law that children's garments should be made to fasten in the back, but the woman who has less regard for these "unwritten laws" than she has for neatness and an economy of time and patience will find it a great advantage to have the little underwaists open in front. Little fingers that are just beginning to learn how to help mother by helping themselves can easily button a waist in front, but if the buttons are in the back the top button is quite likely to be placed in the middle buttonhole, and so on,

A HOUSE GOWN. Besides Being Attractive It Is a Real

Economy.
So many girls spend all their available money for street and party clothes. quite content to look shabby and ungroomed while about their own home. Any cast off piece of finery or an antediluvian walking skirt is sufficiently good for "around the house."

This idea is indicative of a frivolous nature and slovenliness and should be avoided by all self respecting young women. An attractive appearance when about the house is greatly to be desired, and it is a real saving of mon-ey, too, to have a decided change of clothing for indoor wear. The real economy is to provide oneself with a bouse dress of some sort. utes to change one's dress as soon as one comes into the house. Street boots are exchanged for light slippers—a great saving on feet, stockings, shoes, carpets and nerves—and the boots are put away with trees. Boot trees are a necessary indulgence in the economical girl's scheme. Boots will last twice as long with their help. Any girl who can hold a needle can make herself a "negligee" more or less elaborate, but always dainty. She should also be able to make herself a shirt waist suit of some lightweight, durable stuff-pongee, foulard, cashmere-that with the aid of fresh col-

DELIBERATE CASE 200 OF GRAVE-ROBBING.

Remarkable Experience of Wel known Forest Citizen Vouched & for by Baptist Minister and Local Druggist.

(From Forest Free Press) Forest, May 2nd, 1907.-The ollowing facts, vouched for by Rev. C. E. Burrell, Baptist minister and Ralph E. Scott, the well-known ocal druggist, is incontrovertible cians have abandoned hope, there is still a way whereby the grave may be cheated of its prey.

John A. Galbraith is a well-to-do farmer, living in Plympton Township, about five miles from Forest. He is 5 feet 9 inches in height and about 46 years of age. He enjoyed good health until early is 1906, when he had a severe attack of pleuro-pneumonia, which apparently broke up his whole system. In speaking of the case to the Forest Free Press, he said: "I did not seem able to gain any strength after the attack of pneumonia One doctor said that tuberculosis had developed, that I could not recover, and advised me to settle all my affairs as quickly as possible. This was the condition I was in when my pastor, Rev. C. E. Burrell, of the Baptist Church, advised me to try Psychine, and procured for me a trial bottle. This was in May, 1906, and at that time I was reduced in weight to 120 pounds. The Psychine seemed to do good from the start, and I continued until I had used about $15 worth from Scott's Drug Store, Forest. I gained in weight at the rate of half a pound a day until I went up to 150 pounds, steadily regaining my strength and feeling better. I actually had to have my clothes enlarged, not through any corpulency, but owing to a putting on of good solid flesh all over. I have resumed my work and have gone through this severe and sickly winter with nothing worse than an attack of grip, which my system was able to throw off without any serious results.

"I give this statement for the purpose of showing how Psychine has probably saved my life, and in the hope that others may be likewise benefitted by its use.

"J. A. GALBRAITH."

" Mr. J. A. Galbraith is a promnent member of my church, trusted by his neighbors and very highly respected throughout the entire community. His case has attracted very considerable attention. His was a pitable case, indeed; in the is overwhelming, and I've been puzzled prime of life and withthe bright- to find a satisfactory reason for my est of prospects to be suddenly tricken down in the midst of it all. Visiting him after his physicians had pronounced his case hopeless (and, indeed set the date at about which he would likely pass away) and observing pretty closely his condition, it occurred to me that Psychine, which I had used in my own family with wonderful results.
might benefit. I strongly recommended it to him, and he began its use. The result was truly wonderful. Almost immediately he began to improve and soon was able to be out again. He apparently regained his old health and was able to take up once again his old juties on his large farm and to perform them with comparative ease and comfort. The improvement was permanent, and he is to-day apparently just as well as ever. He gives all the credit for his recovery under God, to Psychine.

"C. E. BURRELL,

"Baptist Pastor."

"I have read the statements made by Mr. J. A. Galbraith and Rev. C. E. Burrell regarding the results of the use of Psychine. I know both gentlemen personally and can heartily endorse all that they have said. Mr. Galbraith obtained his supply of Psychine at my drug store, saying from time to time that it has done him good. I took an interest in his case, and noted a steady improvement. Altogether I sold him about $15.00 worth. Psychine is having a big run here, and so far as I know always used with beneficial results

Around three sides, about on a level with the pulpit, in the old meeting house at Hatfield, Mass., extended the galleries, reached by staircases on the northeast and southeast corners, where, northeast and southeast corners, where, is the front seats, sat the singers, trebles on the north and basses on the south and counters and tenors on the east. The next two rows of seats were occupied by children, girls, in the north and boys in the south, and folless by the frequency with which the town was obliged on enew the brans tips to the staves of the tithing men, thuse of whom were appropriately to the staves of the tithing men, thuse of whom were appropriately to the staves of the tithing men, thuse of youth from disorder.

Behind the children and still higher in square pews against the wall sat the youngimen and maidens, the latter on the north and the former on the south. One gallery pew was reserved for colored men and one for colored women, and, queerest of all, a high square pew over the north stairway was assigned to old maids and a similar pew over the south stairs to old hachelors. Just the south stairs to old bachelors. Just how many years these two classes had to number before they were promoted from the lower seats in the synagogue the records do not state, but that they sat in those exalted seats Samuel Dwight Partridge, to whom we are in-debted for the description of the old meeting house, assures us is beyond question. The square pews on the floor were assigned to householders, accord-ing to wealth and social position.

Why You Should Let the Photogra

"I often have subjects with crooke noses. Now, a crooked nose should be frankly attacked—that is, the camera should be pointed directly at the crook, which reduces it. If I took it from the side the deformity would be exaggerated a kundredfold.

"The homeliest persons need not fear having their pictures taken if they will put themselves wholly in the photoga-rapher's hands and pose just as they are instructed to."

Lonely Man In a Crowd. "Once in a great while," remarked the old New Yorker, "I have been caught out on Broadway in the theater district just as the women and girls were coming out from the matinee per-formances. In spite of the fact that there are always a great many men in this crowd the proportion of femininity sense of confusion and embarrassment. But now I know just how I feel and why I have the emotions that always beset me so keenly there at such a time. I am simply suffering in the way a man always does who goes to an aft-ernoon tea and finds himself the only one of his kind who has appeared on the scene."
