

THIRTY YEARS' EXPERIENCE OF AN OLD NURSE.

Mrs Winslow's Soothing Syrup is the prescription of one of the best female Physicians and Nurses in the United States, and has been used for thirty years with never failing safety and success by millions of mothers and children, from the feeble infant of one week old to the adult. It corrects acidity of the stomach, relieves wind colic, regulates the stomach, and gives rest, health and comfort to mother and child. We believe it the very best and surest remedy in the world, in all cases of dysentery and diarrhoea in children, whether it arises from teething or any other cause. Full directions for using will accompany each bottle.

Brown's Household Panacea.

Is the most effective Pain Destroyer in the world. Will most surely quicken the blood, whether taken internally or applied externally, and thereby more certainly RELIEVE PAIN, whether chronic or acute, than any other pain-killer, and it is warranted to double the strength of any similar preparation. It cures pain in the Side, Back, Nerves, Sore Throat, Rheumatism, Toothache, and ALL ACHES.

MUCH SICKNESS.

Undoubtedly with children, attributed to other causes, is occasioned by Worms. Brown's Vermifuge Comfits, or Worm Lozenges, although effective in destroying worms, can do no possible injury to the most delicate child. This valuable combination has been successfully used by physicians, and found to be absolutely sure in eradicating worms, so hateful to children. Twenty-five cents a box.

Close confinement in poorly ventilated work rooms, and want of proper exercise, are often unavoidable, but tend to produce dyspepsia, want of energy and loss of appetite. In such cases Hanington's Quinine Wine and Iron is the best medicine to use.

Farmers, lumbermen, and every one who keeps a horse, should always have a bottle of Hanington's Penetrating Liment at hand in case of accidents. It is always reliable. Price, 25 cents a bottle.

Diarrhoea in children is often attended with the most serious results. Hanington's Blackberry Cordial gives relief at once and cannot harm the youngest infant. Price, 25 cents.

Hanington's Standard Preparations are for sale by all druggists in town and country.

Local Matters.

Holidays This is the school holiday season all over the Province.

Antimony Thirty-seven boxes of Antimony in a raw state, weighing probably 250 lbs., came down from the New Brunswick Antimony Mines on Wednesday last, and were forwarded to Boston via the steamer "David Weston."

Obituary Mr John Gibson, the respected father of Mr Alexander Gibson, died at Marysville on Sunday last, at the ripe age of 85 years. His funeral took place on Tuesday, when a very large procession followed his remains to the grave.

Dangerous There is a very dangerous hole in the upper sidewalk of Westmorland Street, near Gunter & Albertson's stable. Indeed as we have already said, such sidewalks as we have here, are only fit for a town like Woodstock. There they might march triumphantly over open holes or pits, and no harm would come to them. But our sidewalks are disgraceful.

The Old Cemetery We are glad to say the city council have taken the old Protestant cemetery in hand. For a long time past it has been the rendezvous of disreputable characters of every color, and at all hours. Mr W. Davis has been appointed care-taker, and will not alone, it is to be hoped, make the place decent, but keep disreputable characters from defiling the silent sanctuaries of the dead.

Dead From Too Much Bathing. About ten days ago a fine bright boy aged 9 years, a son of Mr Harvey Strickland took ill. His father had been bathing him every day, and he complained of his head. On Tuesday he died, the doctor says of erysipelas of the brain. The last day a great bath was given before he was taken ill, and he died several times. When he came out he was much chilled, and told his parents so when he went home. This was, no doubt, the cause of his death.

Dry Goods Mr P. McPeake, who goes out of the dry goods business to take charge of the Postoffice on the 1st August, has commenced his clearance sale. We understand he has put his prices down to about one-third the original figure, for the sake of getting the stock run out speedily. It is unnecessary to say that the best of bargains may be made at this store now, and that for the next few weeks his shop will be a perfect hive. We regret we have not room for his advertisement to-day.

Impudent Ignorance. At a late meeting of the city council, Alderman Wheeler brought in a resolution providing that no city property be loaned to any one without the authority of the council. But that inferior Alderman is himself the first to break the rule. He sent an article belonging to the city a few days ago to a person who only a few months ago said if he had to wait for trees till he condescended to ask the city council for them he would wait for ever. But then there is no use in rebuking some men; for they are like dogs—the more you kick them the better they are.

The Provincial Exhibition. No prizes were offered at the last Provincial Exhibition for Letter-press Printing, Book-binding, or the manufacture of Blank Books. Certainly those enterprises are the getting-up of the prize list for the forthcoming Exhibition in St. John should be only the above-mentioned trades from the Prize List. We do not expect the Government Printing Office, (the "Royal Gazette") to compete; as it is above consideration of this character, and the managers of the exhibition ought not to overlook the "retrospective," and the important Blank Book and Book-binding industries. Crochet work, pig pumpkins, shaggy roosters, Berkshire dogs, patent leather boots, water color dusters, etc., are very laudable objects to foster, but the printing and sister businesses ought not to be lost sight of even if only about $200,000 are invested in them in this Province.

Teachers' Parliament.

WEDNESDAY—CONTINUED.

Evening Session.

Mr. D. Morrison approved of the course of instruction, and thought its framers merited the thanks of the teaching faculty. Yet it might be improved somewhat. In grade 3 mental arithmetic might be introduced. Mr. Belyea thought the course for country districts was too indefinite. Pupils could not be expected to finish it in four years. [Dr. Rand said it was not laid down it should be finished in four years.]

Mr. Inch thought some more mathematics should be infused into grade 8. He thought the physics of grade 8 might be scattered more through grade 9. The text book on physics might be dispensed with.

Mr. Parice said the course required too much oral work of the teacher. He thought that the Latin in grade 8 might be overtaken on the completion of the work of that grade. [Dr. Rand said he thought the Fables of Phaedrus might be omitted from the first Latin Book.]

Mr. Coyne thought the course an excellent ideal one, but it was too ambitious for the generality of schools to accomplish. He showed how difficult it was for a pupil to get an accurate knowledge in five per cent. of the school time of the events included in Canadian history from 1812 down to the present time.

Mr. Denton of Moncton criticized the grammar school curriculum quite freely. Mr. D. P. Chisholm said, from the simplicity of the subjects in grade 8, thoroughness was next to impossible. Mr. Wilbur said the last year's course had been more mathematics. There were too much required; we had to pass too rapidly from one subject to another.

Dr. Rand—But there is a grand unity in the whole. Mr. Wilbur—Yes; it is that unity which troubles me. Mr. Chisholm—I would like to ask the object of this discussion. There is no result hanging on it. What does it mean?

Dr. Rand—I wish to gather up the judgments of the Institute leading to the amendments of the course. There is no result hanging on it. What does it mean? Mr. G. R. Parkin said the course was impracticable. There was danger of having the system choked by too much direction and final regulation, the lines were being drawn too tight, while much should be left to the discretion of the teacher. It was impossible, according to rule, to carry out the course in all parts of the Province.

[Mr. Parkin spoke warmly and well; and it was a great harm had our teachers given a free rein to their convictions. —Ed.]

As it here appeared to be getting a little too hot for the founders of the Web of Instruction, a motion passed providing that this tangled subject be set aside for the evening, and the late Inspector Regulations be discussed instead.

Afternoon Session. Mr. John Marsh resumed and concluded the discussion on the Common School course. The High School course was then resumed: Mr. Marsh disapproving of Greek for girls' High School.

Mr. Crockett said that such Greek was optional, and he thought a medium course between ancient and modern subjects should be adopted for girls. He pointed out that no provision for domestic economy was made in the girls' schools. This might be substituted for other branches not adapted to girls. However, he thought a discussion of the course should be postponed till next week.

Mr. H. C. Creed, who had been previously primed by Dr. Rand ventured to take up the discussion. He thought the latter part of the Canadian History—the English period—might more properly be studied first; and that a "great deal of uninteresting material should be eliminated from the text book in use.

[Why, we thought the book was not full of uninteresting material. Mr. Creed would not have to go to Tuttle to amplify Archer's statements.—Ed.]

St. John Notes. SERVICES are held in the R. C. Church at St. Mary's by the Very Rev. Mr. Connolly on Thursday of each week for the accommodation of the residents of that locality.

On Thursday of last week a pleasing event in connection with the mass was the singing of several hymns by a congregation of youthful choristers chosen from the Catholic school in the vicinity of Point. That young lady has caused considerable interest to be taken by her pupils in vocal and instrumental music, and will during the vacation train them for a concert which will take place in the school house in the course of a few weeks.

Catholic ladies of the locality are busy preparing for a bazaar which will be held for the benefit of the new church in September. The church is finished with the exception of the putting in of the pews.

Some saying "Who struck Murphy" has become obsolete, no quib has found such general favor by our sports and was as "Did you see Flanagan?" Many people of late days have been cruelly deceived by the information that Mr. Flanagan wanted to see them. Flanagan was represented to be a young man on board of the Vandavia, who was originally from St. John, and was making enquiries in every direction about his friends, etc.

The Bay Shore is sought by hundreds on sultry Sunday summer afternoons. Yesterday they went thither on foot and in carriages and must have felt refreshed with the cool, sea breeze. The invigorating properties of salt water bathing could not but render signal service to those who indulged therein.

Newcastle and Nelson, and under the skilful management of Capt. Beatty were landed in safety at Derby, where we found strawberries and cream with lots of other nice things. After our repast we repaired to the Hall and were entertained for a short time with music, readings, and a speech from Rev. Mr. Steel of Newcastle, returning about 12 o'clock.

The crops in this vicinity are suffering from drought on account of the sandy nature of the soil, but are generally very good. The potato bug is here but has done little damage as yet. There are over a dozen ships in the river yet and all the mills are busy as possible.

WIPED OUT.

A THRILLING INCIDENT ON THE PRAIRIES. Who is that? Look closer and you will see it is a gaunt, grim wolf, creeping out of the little grove of cottonwoods toward a buffalo calf gamboling around its mother. Raise your eyes a little more and you will see that the prairie beyond is alive with buffalo. Count them! You might as well try to count the leaves on a giant maple. They are moving foot by foot as they creep the July grass, and living waves rise and fall as the herd slowly sweep on. Afar out to the right and left—mere specks on the plain—are the flankers, brave old buffaloes, which guard the grove and sniff the air and scan the horizon for intimation of danger. They are the sentinels of the herd, and right well can they be trusted.

The wolf of creeps nearer! All the afternoon the great herd has fed in peace, and as it now slowly moves toward the distant river, it is all unconscious that danger is near. Look you well and watch the wolf, for you are going to see such a sight as not one man in ten thousand has ever beheld. Creep—crawl—skulk—now behind a knoll—drawing himself over the grass—now raising his head above a tuftle to mark the locality of his victim. It is a lone, shambling, skulking wolf, lame and spiteful, and treacherous. Wounded or ailing, he has been left alone to get on the best he may; and his green eyes lightening up with fierce blaze as he draws nearer to his unconscious prey.

There! No, he is yet too far away. Creep—creep—creep. Now he is twenty feet away—now fifteen, now ten. He hugs the earth, gathers his feet under him, and he bounds through the air as if shot from a gun. He is rolling the calf over and over on the grass in three seconds after he springs.

Now watch. A cry of pain from the calf—a furious bellow from the mother as she wheels and charges the wolf—a startled movement from a dozen of the nearest animals and a rush begins. The one wolf is imagined into a hundred, the hundred into a thousand. Short, sharp bellow—notes of alarm—a rush, and in fifty seconds after the wolf had been flung with blood, that living mass is in motion to get away from an unknown terror.

The waves rise higher and higher as the confusion spreads. One instant it is a solid wall of living creatures, the next they are moving bodily away—again waves rise and fall as the crowds behind rush upon those in front who wait to sniff the air and learn the danger. In one minute the alarm runs down the herd to the leaders, further than the eye can see, and the entire herd is going off at a mad gallop, heads down, eyes rolling, and no thought but that of escape. If Lake Erie were to dash itself against a wall the shock would be no greater than the awful crash with which this mass of rattling hoofs, short horns and hairy bodies would meet it. The clatter of hoofs and rattle of horns would drown the noise of a brigade of cavalry galloping over a stone-paved road.

Ride out on their trail. Here where the stampede began the ground is torn and furrowed as if a thousand cannon had been fired. The ground is black and here and there calves which have been crushed or gored—here and there older animals with broken legs and disabling wounds. Here, where the herd was faintly visible, the wolf would go for a gold sovereign in a blade of grass. You look for three miles as you look east. It is a trail of dirt and dust, and ruts and furrows, where half an hour ago was a carpet of green grass and smiling flowers. The most dreaded cyclone known to man could not have left more horrible scars.

Miles away, on the bank of a winding, growling river, are three white-topped mounds of earth, the big camp fire flares up to boil the kettle—men, women and children stand around, and peer over the setting sun at the distant mountains and glad that their journey is almost over. Burflies come and go on lazy legs, the crickets chirp and sing in the grass, and the eagle sailing overhead has no warning to give.

Hark! Is that thunder? Men and women in their seats; they look in vain for a cloud. That rumble comes again as they gaze into each other's faces. It grows louder and louder; women turn pale, and the men reach out for their trusty rifles. The ground trembles, and there comes a din which strikes terror to the heart. They whisper, "Indians!" Yes, a thousand times better for them that any Pawnee dared ride down where those long-barrelled rifles could speak in defence of their camp.

"A stampede of buffaloes!" gasps one of the men, as he catches sight of the vanguard under the awful cloud of dust, and guns are held ready for a shot and the woman and children cling up on the heavy wagons, while the huge procession gallops past. Here they come! Crack! crack! crack! from the rifles, and a shout as shot tells. Away in the distance a shaggy head followed by a dust-brown body rushes through the camp. Then another and another. The men shout and wave their arms wildly; the women turn pale yet. The rear and din shut out every other sound, and the wagons jar and tremble with the concussion. Now another loud shout—another—half a dozen—a score—now a great living wave which tears on with the power of a tornado, follow others more dense and strong, and the camp is blotted out of the face of the earth more completely than by any power of man. Nothing to be seen—no shout to be heard. Wave follows wave across the river bank—into the stream, and at length when the last of the herd has passed, the keenest hunter can find nothing of wagon, of wool or cloth or iron or bone or flesh, to prove that a dozen men, women and children, were there wiped out of existence and reduced to shred and dust.

A Good Thing. To-day Mr. A. F. Gue, agent for the American standard brake, accompanied by a STAR Reporter went to Gibson to see the apparatus work. At the car shed they were joined by Mr. Logan, the master mechanic, and through his kindness were shown the apparatus. Said Mr. Logan: "This is just the thing we want. The only thing I am sorry for is that we did not have it on two years ago. If we had we might have saved considerable money. In about ten days we will have this brake on every car and engine on the road." He then went on to explain as follows: "There is no friction, no power needed. It is the easiest brake I have ever seen. Why," said he, "we went up the line twelve miles this morning at the rate of 30 miles an hour, and came down at say 15 miles per hour; and by applying this brake the train three cars would stop in about 150 feet before stopping." Mr. Logan prefers this brake particularly because it does not make any noise when applied.

"We have given it a thorough test," said he, "and found it to excel any brake we have had on the road so far."

One way. Doctor Rand, Chief Superintendent of Education, entertained the Inspectors and Mr. Crockett to supper at the Barker House. Doctor Rand forgot all about it being Friday, till one of the two Roman Catholic Inspectors refused to pollute his lips with chicken liver. It is much to the doctor's credit that he did not point out to these two deluded persons how wrong it was to abstain from such an antiquated custom. There was nothing making or anything of that kind, but after the train of three cars would stop in about 150 feet before stopping." Mr. Logan prefers this brake particularly because it does not make any noise when applied.

Personal. Mr. Mesereau, Principal of the Bathurst schools, is spending a few days in Fredericton among his friends. Bishop Rogers of Chatham, went by special train on the N. B. Road the afternoon to Edmundston.

STAR BRIEFS. The 71st Batt. Band was delighting the public yesterday evening when the rain came on. They had to disperse shortly after 9 o'clock. Most of the teachers attending the Institute have home; a few remain over till next week. —The hot season, our people are fondly hoping, has passed. We have now cool breezy days, and delicious nights but the sun has not yet passed Cancer or neared Virgo.

Provincial News. Mr Turgeon of Gloucester has been getting himself into trouble. A complaint signed by four persons, Wm. Balfour, Jas. Thompson, John Irvine and Peter Hatcher, against Customs Collector O'Brien was forwarded to Ottawa. On examination it was found that the names of the above four were forged, they knowing nothing of it. The writing is said to be Turgeon's, and an action for forgery was taken against him. Mr. Anglin "rolls this as a sweet morsel into his tongue."

A sad accident happened on Monday night to a Miss Tupper, daughter of Hon. Jas. McDonald, Minister of Justice. While driving, her horse took fright and threw her violently to the ground. She is now lying between life and death. She had been married only a few months.

DANGEROUS.—A 3-year old bull attacked a son of Ella's Peck on Monday, and but for his presence of mind in throwing his arms around the bull's neck would have been gored to death. The bull also attacked Mr. Peck who received a slight wound on his cheek from his horns; his son was also slightly injured. —Moose Lake, S.A. SMITH IN BEDFORD BASIN.—Warren Smith and Ham, while out practicing in the shed on the Basin, a day or two ago, were speared by a large shark, and the race they rowed was so fast that they could not escape. A shark several times got so near that it turned its back to the side of the boat, and in its jaws, but the delay thus caused enabled the fishermen to get away. In one minute the alarm runs down the herd to the leaders, further than the eye can see, and the entire herd is going off at a mad gallop, heads down, eyes rolling, and no thought but that of escape. If Lake Erie were to dash itself against a wall the shock would be no greater than the awful crash with which this mass of rattling hoofs, short horns and hairy bodies would meet it. The clatter of hoofs and rattle of horns would drown the noise of a brigade of cavalry galloping over a stone-paved road.

Telegraphic News. The East. LONDON, July 16. The Morning Post says it is credibly reported that the British Government has received from the smooth optimism that fancied that a supplementary conference could end the difficulties in Eastern Europe by a few unanimous resolutions. The benevolent eagerness of Russia to be the executive agent of Europe not only shocked Germany and Austria, but it is asserted frightened even Mr Gladstone's self-confidence. The foregoing is a proposal of the reports that Russia proposed that Russian troops be sent to assist Greece in taking possession of the awarded territory.

The news from Constantinople received in Berlin on Wednesday would indicate that the Port will reply courteously but evasively to the collective note, and prepare to wage an official war. Prince Nicholas of Montenegro has ordered his troops to keep on the defensive, as he desires not only by diplomatic means, but desperate fighting is apprehended.

Crops Damaged. LONDON, July 16. Heavy rains have caused great damage to the crops in the midlands of Warwickshire and Leicestershire, and other parts of the Provinces. DUBLIN, July 16. Excessive rains have prevailed over all Ireland the past fortnight, and are beginning to excite serious apprehensions regarding the harvest.

Montenegro. PERA, July 16. The Montenegrin agent has informed the Porte and foreign ambassadors that an Albanian attack on the Montenegrin position is inevitable.

Chung How. ST. PETERSBURG, July 16. China advises report that Chung How has been liberated and degraded from the first to the fourth rank of mandarin. Nevertheless the war party is in the ascendant.

Zulla, the French female gymnast, is to walk on wire across Niagara Falls. A Conservative convention is to be held at Selkirk on July 22nd to select a candidate in opposition to Donald A. Smith, the Liberal.

UNITED STATES. New York, July 16. Balbo, the Italian murderer, who will be hung on August 6th, was prostrated by the hanging of Cox, to-day. He shut himself in his cell and could not eat, and refused to see any one. Gen. Hancock has not yet written a line of his letter of acceptance. It will probably not be ready for a fortnight. This evening Dr. Tanner returned from a long ride. He felt cheery and seemed in good spirits.

Boston, Mass., July 16. A heavy thunder storm in various parts of the country is reported this evening. At Hanover, N. H., a disastrous cyclone unroofed houses, blew down barns and did other damage. At Chester, Penn., 35 houses were unroofed.

Deaths. At Fredericton, on Tuesday morning last Geo. W. son of Harvey Strickland, Esq., of this city, aged 9 years and 4 months. [St. John papers please copy.]
