St. John Exhibition Educational Dept.

The St. John Exhibition Association are attempting this year a display in the Natural History Department that will be more comprehensive and of greater educational value than anything that has been attempted for some years. This Exhibit, which will be under the able management of Dr. Wm. McIntosh, curator of the Natural History Society, will deal with the Minerals, Forest and Animals, Birds and Insects life of the Province. It is planned to make the exhibit not only educational, but also extremely practicable; e.g. in the matter of our forest wealth, exhibits will include a section of the tree in its natural state, the polished grain, a legend showing in what section of North America the species is found, specimens of the manufactured products obtained from that particular tree, with a classification of the products, those manufactured here distinguished from those made elsewhere. The object is to bring clearly home to the people of these Provinces the extent to which the raw materials are being exported and the profits of manufacture reaped by outsiders; in short, the exhibit is being planned with the definite object of showing the people of the Maritime Provinces the possibilities latent in these Provinces and the New Brunswick Provincial Government is giving every co-operation it can to the project.

Newspapers Suspensions

The reduction in the number of daily newspapers by suspensions, absorptions and amalgamations, is not alone due to higher paper and other costs, but to changing conditions in the newspaper business, and is likely to continue for we are entering upon most critical times for them.
The main supply of world-wide news is now furnished by the Associated Press and several other news-gathering services. Exactly the same general, and much of the local news appears in every daily newspaper in Canada. The same condition exists in the advertising columns. This standardization of news and advertising service is likely to go on steadily improving and the publication of more than one good morning or evening paper in a centre is becoming very much of a wasteful duplication of effort. A good, daily paper, even in the smallest centres, is well worth, and should be sold for five cents, and a family should be content with one.

Rural weeklies, national weeklies and periodicals are in a different class. Their contents are entirely original. That is, they do not appear in any other publication. They are becoming increasingly more expensive to produce. The reading matter in a single issue of a leading Canadian magazine costs more than eight to ten times the whole reading contents of a leading daily paper.
The Free Press, Forest, Ontario refers to the passing out, because of increased costs within the last few years, of eight of the fifteen newspapers published in Lambton County. A rural weekly and small city daily a more of a public institution than a money-making enterprise. There are few editors of rural and smaller daily papers who are not underpaid self-sacrificing public servants. They live more than they get from their communities, and when they are eaders, as so many are, commanding respect and confidence, their papers are a great power. THE FINANCIAL POST is in cordial sympathy with the action of Parliament in continuing to—in spite of the opposition of the big city dailies for whom R. L. Richardson, M. P., spoke—to transport rural weeklies free of charge in their local districts. Another phase of good work these local papers do is to keep those who go out into the world, to the big centres and foreign parts, in touch with their old homes. For that reason we would also favor carrying copies of rural papers going to these subscribers free of postage. This is really a great national service, a good investment for the country. There are few men or women who do not hope to go back to and do something for the old home. If the world treats them well they want to share the good things with the schools, churches and institutions in their old homes. Many of them do. These generous thoughts can be best retained by keeping them constantly in touch with the doings at home. There is only one way—the local newspapers. No matter how busy we are we make time to read that, if it comes to us. At one time these papers were carried free to any subscriber in Canada or in the United States, but Dr. Coultor dropped this very soon after his advent to the Deputy Postmaster-Generalship. It was a very serious mistake. Thousands of Canadians were out of touch who have never since regained touch.
We submit these facts to Parliament with the suggestion that they, the M. P.'s, seriously consider whether or not a good business proposition—we should not permit these rural weekly and smaller dailies an unlimited free postal area. The investment will be trifling and the return to the nation, very profitable.

Park And Play-grounds In Cities

Probably there never was a time when it was as important as it is at present to develop outdoor recreation and to improve the park areas and playgrounds of our cities.

In proportion as we close the saloon we must open and extend the park; as we shorten the hours of labour and extend manufacturing, we must provide facilities for healthy outdoor recreation; as we enlarge our cities we must enlarge their lungs. In proportion we extend the uses of the automobile and develop good roads we must have playgrounds to enable children to play in safety.

With regard to the first matter it will ever be true that constructive temperance reform is to be found only in healthy means of recreation and social intercourse. Whatever effort may be made to prevent men from abusing themselves and their time in the saloon will fail unless we provide the means for them to find healthy recreation. The greatest constructive social reformers in England have found from long experience that good housing conditions and recreation facilities were the only permanent antidotes to intemperance. Mr. George Cadbury at Bournville, Mrs. Barnett at Hampstead, and others, have given valuable demonstrations of that fact. There is also need for healthy occupation for the leisure time of the workers as a means of maintaining industrial efficiency.

Employers and employees are not quite agreed as to whether the same reduction can be secured with an eight-hour as with a nine-hour day. Does it not partly depend on how the leisure time of the workers is occupied? Those captains of industry who have succeeded in making the shorter working day profitable to themselves did it by providing their workpeople with opportunities for recreation and education. A man may use his spare time to make himself either a better or a worse instrument of production. Owing to the nervous strain caused by modern industrial methods, it is almost necessary to have a shorter hour than in the past, but if they are to be obtained without loss of production we must see to it that the time outside of the working hours is profitably used. Both in Britain and the United States hundreds of millions of dollars were spent in building model houses and raising out recreation grounds as a means of increasing the output of munitions during the war.

"Certainly not," replied the prosperous citizen. "But may I ask why you want to know?"
"My wife's been after me to buy a flivver and I'm going to argue against it on a limousine basis."
