First Blood to The Fishermen.

To the fishermen go the first honors in their contest with the Government. They have drawn first blood in a fight waged for right, for the privilege of having a say in the disposal of their products, and have won a lasting victory in demanding the remission and subsequent abolition of an export tax on all their exports. This is but the driving in of the thin end of the wedge for other reduced taxation. Having won the initial round it is scarcely possible that the United Fishermen's movement is going to cease. Their demand is for several other eliminations of a burdensome nature bearing heavily upon them as producers, and the glory of their successful combat in the primary conflict will but induce and encourage them to greater efforts. They are not alone in this great economical movement which they have undertaken. The fishermen of the other great Northern bays and of the South and West coasts are at one with them in their endeavours. The very success of their beginning has brought thousands of sympathizers to their ranks, sympathizers who are only waiting an opportunity to assist and strengthen them by every means in their power. The voice of the West has long been insistent on something being done to reduce the vexatious taxes imposed on the people. The sentiment of the South is unanimous in demanding that redress shall be made to those who were robbed by the iniquitous Fish Regulations, and who are still further being held up by legalised brigandage in the collection of excessive duties, that extravagance may run rife and outrageous expenditure be continued. The people are alive to-day. No longer are they dormant and enjoying a Rip Van Winkle slumber. The sins of omission and commission of the present government are being kept tab on, and woe betide the reformers (?) when they appear again to solicit the suffrages of an impoverished and blood-white electorate.

The victory won by the fishermen of the North is a victory for themselves, irrespective of that which might be attributed to it. They came, they saw, they conquered. By the might of their forces they compelled the government to remit the Export Tax on Codfish. They thus reap the benefit. But their work is not completed. Other reductions in taxation on imports they are seeking, and in the first flush of victory it is not at all likely that they will rest on their oars and pursue a unctative policy of delay in insisting on their further demands. Mr. Coaker, through the columns of his personal organ, on Saturday, arrogated to himself all the credit for the remission of the Export Tax. What do the fishermen think of that? Having won their victory, are they going to allow an individual who did not help them one iota take all the praise for a movement, in which he absolutely refused to interest himself, when approached by the men who carried the issue to fruition? All the arrangements were made. All the negotiations were conducted without the personality or opinion of Mr. Coaker obtruding on the deliberations of the Executive. As a matter of fact he was entirely ignored by the Cabinet. His advice was neither asked or sought, and whatever kudos is due, Mr. Coaker cannot share in any application thereof. He knows he fought the demands of the fishermen, and refused to listen to their reasonable requests. Now when they have won out on the first point, he seeks to assume all the glory, and to deprive the men who withstood him of all the honor of the fight for the benefit of the commonwealth. One more victory you have to win, men of the North! ere you return home, and that is the abolition of the sur, super and sales duty taxes, which being imposed by a stroke of the pen, can be removed in a similar manner. Two victories will then be to your credit, and your accomplishment of these in so short a time will prove for ever to the men who now misgovern you that

THE PEOPLE STILL RULE.

Newfoundland Participates.

IN ANGLIO-SPANISH TREATY.

Dear Sir,—I have received the following telegram from Messrs. Hawes & Co. (London), Ltd.:—
"Alcázar office wires Custom House informed them Newfoundland enters new treaty from sixth."
Mr. Hawes received private messages last week saying that the Premier and Mr. Lewis were meeting in Madrid and that they hoped to get Newfoundland placed under the most favourable tariff, the same as that under which the fish of competing countries is imported, and further that they were endeavouring to have this arrangement made retrospective as from the 6th inst., so that Newfoundland would not be placed at any disadvantage.
Mr. Hawes thinks that the information received from the Alcázar Custom House is in all probability correct, but confirmation should be awaited from the Premier or the British Government.
The advantage gained under the new tariff would be 4 pesetas gold per quintal, equal to 3/2.

Yours very truly,
J. PATERSON.

St. Bon's Hockeyists Meet.

ASSOCIATION FORMED.

A large and enthusiastic gathering of the members of the old St. Bon's hockey team was held at the college yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Rev. Bro. Strapp was moved to the chair and carried out the duties in a workmanlike manner. The accounts of last year were read and adopted. Messrs. Francis Edens and Patrick Keegan handed in their report showing that a large number realized the great interest that was taken in the team this year. It was then decided that a hockey association be formed to look after the interests of the hockey team. This association would embrace all ex-pupils of the college, this being thought desirable because every old boy becoming a member of the hockey association would naturally take a deep interest in the team, because only those who played would be members of the hockey team, yet, the hockey team itself would be organized under the association. The election of officers resulted as follows:—

Hon. Pres.—Rev. J. J. Pippy.
President—C. J. Fox.
Secty.—Francis Edens.
Manager Hockey Team—C. B. Fox.
The meeting was informed that hockey sticks had been ordered last week, and it was the intention to get new sweaters for the season. All of last year's players are available with the exception of "Coke" Cahill who is in Halifax, and John K. Higgins who has decided to retire. As there are many matters of importance to be discussed, it was decided to adjourn the meeting until next week.

Very useful and dainty plain work. Fancy work and fine embroideries. The latest thing in handkerchiefs, paper novelties (something quite new). Preserves, Pickles, Jellies, etc. Candy Vegetables and tins, all to be bought at the most reasonable prices. The early comer will have the best choice at the Sale of Work in Congregational Church Lecture Hall on Wednesday afternoon next.—Nov 20, 21.

Free Lance Flat Falsehoods Refuted.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir,—I understand that the Free Lance is published by a company which includes Messrs. Modell, Stafford and Thistle, and which besides publishing the Trade Review, also aims to publish the Royal Gazette, by arrangement with the Government. The Hon. Dr. Modell, late Editor of the Star, is, I believe, Editor of the Free Lance. So much then for the environment of this organ for public information.

In last Saturday's number of the Free Lance, editorial mention is made of the United Fishermen's movement, and to my connection with it. I shall not now refer to the purely personal matters, except to ask Dr. Modell if he does not think that it would comport more with his dignity and his welfare if he eschewed personalities altogether from this time forth. The Free Lance represents the United Fishermen as asking (in re the proposed Fish Trust) that "a large portion of the catch should be taken over by the Government at a price which these engaged in the regular business of the country refused to pay." This is flat falsehood! The request was, that the Government should guarantee advances on fish at precisely the current prices paid by regular dealers, not at prices they refused to give. The fishermen believed these prices unfairly low, and asked to be enabled to get a higher price, if possible, by an export for their own benefit.

The Free Lance correctly points out that no such great reduction in public expenditure as the United Fishermen have asked for can take place without cutting down the services given by railways, steamboats, telegraphs, marine grants, etc., and asks, "are the United Fishermen ready to make these sacrifices?" Sir, if sacrifice cannot be endured, great reform is impossible. Being intelligent, the United Fishermen understand this. They know they cannot eat their bread, and have it too. And they also know that the financial condition of the Colony is now such that it is a choice between sacrifice and insolvency, between making this Colony in which they can continue to live, or deserting their country. It is pitiable, Sir, to see so splendid a movement as this, springing from the very people themselves, opposed and misrepresented by those, whose intelligence and education should combine to make them strong advocates of the public impulse for reform. But I would not have it supposed, Sir, that no great public saving can be made without general public sacrifice. It is true that merely by cutting official salaries, a saving running into millions cannot be made, yet a very large reduction would result. But much money can be saved to the public treasury without harm to the public service. The cost of the telegraph and steamboat service, for instance, can be materially reduced, while the work done can be improved. The public institutions can be made more efficient now and their cost less, by cutting out patronage. Many thousands can be cut off from the public printing bill. I speak with fairly complete knowledge of public affairs, and with a sense of personal responsibility, when I say that savings running into many hundreds of thousands can be saved side by side with increased efficiency in the public service.

Yours truly,
ALFRED B. MORINE.

LATEST SCREEN OFFERING "STRAIGHT FROM PARIS" ANOTHER SADA COW. AN HIT.
Motion picture fans have lately been victimized by one announcement after another that a forthcoming production was the "most lavish" ever made. It seems to be forgotten that extravagance in itself is a credit to a photographer, unless the luxury of scene and setting serves to heighten the action of the picture as a whole. This point has been realized by the Equity Picture Corporation in convincingly shown in their latest Clara Kimball Young photodrama "Straight from Paris," written by the celebrated Sada Cowan, who won her laurels as the writer of "Hush," Miss Young's former starring medium.

Evidently the producers felt that in filming a picture based on the sparkling romance of society life, a typical French surrounding was necessary to heighten the realism of the action. That is why "Straight from Paris" the spectator not only enjoys a delicious love-story that includes old-fashioned French intrigue, but surveys a succession of gowns, robes and smart creations of French fashion in abundance and richness that is enchanting. A session of this artistic masterpiece of screen production proves once more that Clara Kimball Young is an artist in every sense and a supreme master in the skill of adornment.

TO-DAY'S MESSAGES.

KU KLUX KLAN STATE.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.
The Post prints under a Baton Rouge date a despatch to the effect that Louisiana is under the rule of Ku Klux Klan, and that Governor John M. Parker, with the Attorney General of the State, is on the way here to ask President Harding to take over the administration of law in Louisiana as the State Government is unable to function.

THE CHILDREN'S CASE.

DUBLIN, Nov. 20.
The Irish Times today says a writ has been issued from Chancery Office in behalf of Erskine Childers with a view to quashing proceedings of a military court, which tried him on a charge of illegally possessing firearms.

CONFERENCE ASSEMBLED.

LAUSANNE, Switzerland, Nov. 20.
A host of foreign diplomats gathered to discuss the most momentous questions of the world to-day, when delegates of leading nations gathered for a discussion and settlement of the Near East crisis. Premier Poincaré for France, Lord Curzon for Britain, and Mussolini agreed to attend for Italy, although refusing to come to Lausanne for preliminary conference with British and French delegates. It is understood that representatives in a meeting yesterday at Terziet, near here, came to some former unanimous agreement on the attitude to be adopted at the conference.

NEW PARLIAMENT OPENED.

LONDON, Nov. 20.
A parliament in which Ireland, with the exception of Ulster, is not represented, and in which the Labor Party appears as chief contender for recognition as the opposition, opened at two-thirty-five this afternoon. T. P. O'Connor proposed John Henry Whiteley for re-election as Speaker of the House, and the House adjourned to receive the King's formal assent to the choice. The paramount question centres upon which party is to be recognized as the official opposition, and it is believed that Labor's numerical right will clash with the claim of the Liberals, with a possible combination of Asquithian and Georgian forces to offset their claim.

EFFECTING REPAIRS.

FIGHTER TURNED LECTURE.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.
Captain Helmut Von Muecke, former naval officer commanding the raiding Emden in South Pacific exploits during the early part of the war arrived here on the steamer Hanover, and announced he would start to lecture in Chicago this week, speaking in German, and mentioning only those activities carried out by the Emden before the United States entered the war.

STIRRING TIMES IN DUBLIN.

DUBLIN, Nov. 20.
Dublin is suffering an attack of nervous party owing to DeValera's threat of reprisals, if Children's convicted of carrying arms, is executed, and partly through the horror of the Inchicore explosion, and other happenings. Yesterday, when a lorry, with Free State troops, passed through a meeting of protest in connection with the hunger strikers in Mountjoy, the crowd hooted and shouted epithets, calling for a volley in which three civilians were wounded. Mary MacSwiney is continuing her fast since Nov. 6th, and her sister, Annie is still in her position at the front gates of prison, where she maintains a foodless vigil. Four men were killed at the Inchicore explosion.

EX-SULTAN AT MALTA.

MALTA, Nov. 20.
The British Dreadnought Malaya, with Sultan Mohammed VI. arrived here this morning. The latter, travelling incognito, was given no state reception, but Governor Plumer went aboard to extend an official welcome. It is understood the Sultan will stay at Fort Tigne, which will be specially fitted up for his occupancy.

Magistrate's Court.

A man named Rideout appeared on a charge of having in his possession intoxicating liquors, which is a breach of Sec. 4 Chap. 65 of the Consolidated Statutes. Mr. D. J. Davies, the Government Analyst, examined the contents of the bottle and stated in his opinion that it contained alcohol up to 28.6 proof. The defendant was arrested for being drunk on the 4th inst., and upon being searched at the police station the stuff was found. The accused stated he paid $1 for the bottle, but did not know the man's name who sold it. He was fined $100 or 30 days.

Prince Makes Late Dancing Popular.

LONDON.—The popularity of the cabaret and the evening dances in London's fashionable West End restaurants is returning, and the reason therefore seems to be in no small measure due to the Prince of Wales and his brothers. Immediately after his return from the Far East, the Prince appeared at several well known restaurants for the late supper and dance accompanied generally by the Duke or Prince Henry, and a party of friends. Also since the return of the Prince from Scotland he has been seen at several of these dances, and so have his two brothers. The Royal visitors applaud heartily the entertainment and music, but only occasionally take part in the dancing. The mere fact that they are present, however, is enough for the West End, and the places are crowded nightly in the hopes that some member of the royal family will be present.
