Wedding Bells

RYAN-KING.

The marriage of Miss Mary C. Ryan, only daughter of the Hon. J. D. Ryan, K.S.G., and Miss Ryan, to Mr. F. J. King, was solemnized this morning at St. Bride's Chapel, Littlefield.

The Nuptial Mass was celebrated by His Grace the Archbishop, assisted by Rev. Mgr. McDermott, V.G., and the Rev. P. J. Kennedy. The bride was attended by Misses Amy McEvoy and Madeline Kavanagh; the groom was supported by Mr. Hubert Hutton.

Miss Ryan was a prominent member of the R.C. Cathedral Choir; she was crowned with a rich contralto voice, and her musical and dramatic talent, was high above the average. Her splendid talents were ever at the disposal of every philanthropic and charitable object in the community.

The groom was formerly organist at Sandringham, and assistant organist at Norwich Cathedral, which position he resigned to take on work in Newfoundland. Here he was in turn organist at Gower St. Church, and music-master at the Methodist College, organist at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, and later organist and choirmaster at the Anglican Cathedral. He, too, in addition to his musical ability, possesses much dramatic talent which was also given freely for all charitable purposes.

They leave by S.S. Silvia this evening for New York, where the groom has a good position awaiting him, followed by the good wishes of a very wide circle of friends. Their departure will leave a void in musical and dramatic circles, not easily filled.

The Telegram joins with their many friends in wishing them bon voyage, and a very happy future.

"The Fighting Coward"

AT THE MAJESTIC NEXT WEEK.

FAMOUS PICTURE SAID TO BE GREATER THAN "THE COVERED WAGON."

James Cruze again! What more need be said when one recalls such pictures as "The Covered Wagon," "Hollywood," "Ruggles of Red Gap" and "To the Ladies?" "The Fighting Coward" is Cruze's newest production for Paramount and will have its first local showing at the Majestic Monday.

It's an adaptation by Walter Woods of Booth Tarkington's stage success, "Magnolia," which ran on Broadway during 1924.

Ernest Torrence, Mary Astor, Noah Beery, Phyllis Haver and Cullen Landis are featured in the principal roles. The story is an entertaining southern love comedy-drama. Cullen Landis plays Tom Rumford who returns to his home after years spent with a step-uncle in Philadelphia. He knows nothing of the dueling code prevalent in the southern states and is ordered from the house in disgrace when he refuses to fight a duel with Major Patterson for the girl he loves.

In Natchez he meets Gen. Orlando Jackson (Torrence), a fighting, sam-bling man who takes a fancy to the boy and builds up for him the reputation of a dangerous gun-fighter. The notorious Colonel Blake he calls him. Seven years find Tom once more back at his folks' place. It is his moment for revenge. Years ago they had branded him a coward, a miserable hound's dog. Now he, the most feared and respected man along the Mississippi, would show them a thing or two.

Here is a climax that is a climax. Does Tom win the girl back? Does he make Patterson pay for the humiliation he brought upon him? How? Better see the picture.

G. Raymond Nye plays Major Patterson. Phyllis Haver is Tom's fiancée. Mary Astor plays her younger sister. Others in the supporting cast include Richard Neal, Carmen Phillips, Helen Dunbar and Frank Jonasson.

The Annual Collection for Belvedere and Mount Carmel Cemeteries will be taken up at all the Masses on Sunday next, June 14th.—June 11.

issued a proclamation in which he threatened to execute any Chinese who disturbed the foreign concession. There was no repetition to-day of the rioting on Thursday night, in which a number of Chinese were killed or wounded while making an attack upon the British volunteer army. It is estimated that five thousand Chinese soldiers were stationed around the concession to-night. One Japanese was killed and five were injured in last night's fighting before the foreigners fired. This ends the British volunteers were still on duty at the British Concession.

"How did you get that wonderful Pompadour Blue?"

"It's as easy as can be. I dyed it with SUNSET. Isn't it a lovely color!"
"The SUNSET 'Season's Colors' folder that they give you at the store tells how to get all the popular shades. For Pompadour Blue—if your goods are white and weigh a pound—take a cake and three-quarters of Bright Blue and one-eighth cake of Heliotrope. Of course my blouse weighed very little so I used less dye but kept the same proportions. Then I just followed the directions wrapped with the cake."
"It's really very simple—and easy too. I don't mind in the least dyeing things with SUNSET. It never stains my fingers, and doesn't harm the utensils one bit."
