A Duty

The Daily News this morning makes an appeal on behalf of the Permanent Marine Disasters Fund which it is certain, will strike a responsive chord in the heart of every Newfoundland who reads it. The appeal is one which does more than touch our sympathy; it awakens the public to a sense of its responsibility, for the Fund is short by $698.53 of the total subscribed last year, and until that amount is made up everyone who has it in his power to help must be sensible of an obligation that has not been fulfilled.

Seafarers, Newfoundlanders are by nature; seafarers, they will continue to be just as long as the waves of ocean thunder against our shores. Just so long, too, will the sea demand its annual toll in human lives in return for the wealth taken from its depths or snatched from its frozen bosom.

Those of us who sleep safely at home, while the storm with which the fisherman is fighting for his very existence is raging outside, are no less dependent upon the success of his efforts for our comfort than he for the pitance it brings him and his family, and when, despite his courage, resource, and endurance the fight goes against him, what less can we do than see to it that the widowed and fatherless are not left destitute as well as desolate?

Newfoundland has mercifully been spared any disaster of an overwhelming nature during the fishing season which has just closed, but how many weeks have passed in which the loss of a life now here, now there along our coast, has not been recorded? Even to-day there are families waiting—and we fear, hopelessly—for tidings of those who left their homes and returned not again. To them the helping hand must be extended, and there are many others deprived of their support in previous disasters, to whom the assistance rendered by the Permanent Marine Disasters Fund has proved a godsend, and who are still compelled to rely upon its assistance.

Come, Newfoundlanders, whenever the call on behalf of the widow and orphan is heard, rally to their aid! Generous though your response has been in the many appeals made recently, let not the Christmas season dawn before your aid has been lent to this worthy object.

The Agreement Signed

The event which occurred in the British Foreign Office this morning, when the plenipotentiaries of various European States penned their signatures to the Locarno Pact and the other arbitration agreements, marks an epoch of world import, and gives promise of a period of peace such as has never before been known.

It is not so much the act itself that is significant as the spirit which has prompted the act, and although at present the covenant is not signed by all the powers, it is only reasonable to conclude that the concurrence of all is only a matter of time. The following message was flashed around the world this morning, announcing that the feelings of mistrust and suspicion among the European powers had given way to a mutual understanding and an earnest desire to live at peace.

LONDON, Dec. 1.—Treaty of Locarno, made between the leading powers of Europe and binding their Governments to maintain the territorial frontiers established by the Treaty of Versailles even to the extent of war, was signed here to-day. The plenipotentiaries of Great Britain, France, Germany, Belgium and Italy affixed their signatures to the document. Four subsidiary pacts pledging the use of arbitration in the event of boundary disputes between Germany and each of her neighbors, France, Belgium, Poland and Czechoslovakia, were signed at the same time. Several copies of the treaties were signed and sealed for their Governments by men who created them at Locarno in October—the Rt. Hon. Sir Austen Chamberlain for Great Britain, M. Briand for France, Dr. Stresemann and Chancellor Luther for Germany, Emile Vandervelde for Belgium, and Count Scialoja for Italy. The arbitration treaties were signed on behalf of Poland by M. Skrzynski, Premier, and of Czechoslovakia by its Premier, Edward Benes.

Civil Action Heard

A civil action, brought by Mr. Rose of Portugal Cove, against the owners of the S.S. Mary, concluded in the Magistrate's Court yesterday afternoon. Judgment was reserved. McNelly addressed the Court on behalf of the plaintiff and Mr. L. E. Emerson for defendant.

Mr. Justice Kent has been accepted by all concerned.

PEPYS BEHIND THE SCENES

Nov. 30th.—Up betimes, and the weather grown so cold that going abroad in my light top coat, I have not gone far when needs must I return home. Heavily outdressed even then am I, chilled to the very marrow.
 Little news anywhere, but meeting Mr. Stafford, I glean a little information of the new hostel, being among other things, that the progress is mighty satisfactory, and the superintendent pleased beyond all measure with the work of the local men employed with him, who did learn their work quickly and make no complaint of labouring under any weather conditions. The scaffolding in use is the first of the kind that was ever in the country, being of steel and with a roof over it that it may be used in all sorts of weather.

The further hearing of the action which the Minister of Finance takes against Sir R. Squires at the Petty Court this morning, and much argument between counsel as to whether the returns submitted by Sir Richard could be officially admitted as such. Following the argument, His Honour did advise the Court that he will give judgment on Wednesday.
 My wife in a great rage this night, being that some person writes to the evening paper in her name, and seeks support for the women candidates in the Municipal Election. I did bid her hold her peace, however, being that 'tis a great compliment to us Pepsys that our name should be held of such importance that it would contribute to the support of those on whose behalf it is used.

I with great joy find myself to have gained this month above 150 dollars clear, and in the whole to be worth nine 1600 dollars. Thus I end this month in great content as to my estate and gettings.

At Rest

The funeral of the late Frederick Rose took place from his late home, Brazil's Square, on Sunday afternoon and was attended by a large concourse of citizens, including a guard of honor from Leeming Lodge, L.O.A. of which the deceased was a member of long standing. The floral tributes were many and beautiful, testifying to the esteem in which he was held. An impressive service was held at the home by Rev. C. H. Johnson and Rev. J. G. Joyce. Interment was at the General Protestant Cemetery. At the graveside the last honors of the L.O.A. were performed, "until the day dawn and the shadows flee away."

Record Attendance at the Circus

The G.W.V.A. Circus has proved a great success. This event, all for the modest sum of twenty-five cents, is delighting the many patrons of the show. Many who have seen it are making repeated return visits, and last night's attendance reached the high point thus far. The performers supply improvements in their stunts nightly. The famous Keeler flying cloud is the premier thrill. Professor Allrean walked his wire in the identical boots which carried him over the Falls of Niagara. "Marie on the Web" sang as sweetly as ever while hanging head downwards. The Faustus provided a barrel of fun on their revolving ladder, while "Bligh" defied all attempts to mount him. The Ringlings won much applause as did also the Pattersons in their act.

VOTING CONTEST

In connection with the popularity contest, all interested are asked to note the fact that this will be closed at 11 p.m., after the close of Thursday's show, at the Rink. Checkers have been employed, and at 9 a.m. Friday they will begin. Hourly bulletins will be posted at the Maritime Drug Store. It is planned to complete checking by Saturday noon, when the final figures will be announced. On Saturday night at 10.15 (so as to give those working in the Water Street stores a chance to witness it), the coronation of the "Queen of the Circus" will take place at the Prince's Rink, thus bringing to a fitting conclusion the biggest circus ever held in Newfoundland.

If you are a young voter, cast your vote for T. E. Collett, the young candidate.—dec1.11

Magistrate's Court

A seaman named Williams, who joined the S.S. Hitherwood in Montreal on her last sailing was fined $10 or 30 days imprisonment for assaulting and wounding a ship mate named Martin. The latter stated that he gave Williams no cause for the assault. The fracas started on ship board last night when the accused hit Martin over the head with a poker.

A boarding mistress of the west end of the city, who yesterday had her husband bound over to keep the peace appeared before His Honour again to-day and complained that her better half had not mended his ways and had tried to evict her boarders. Hubby, who has been the star boarder, was ordered to leave the home and sign a bond of $100 as surety that he will not give his wife any more trouble.

A twenty-five-year-old laborer of Plank Road, named Pender, whom the Judge dubbed "the burglar," was given six months imprisonment for a string of larcenies and charges of doing damage to property. Included in the charges were that of destroying the fence valued $20.00 on the property of James Beck, on Saturday night last; stealing a barrel of pork from the store of Jas. Wiseman, Carter's Hill on Wednesday night last; and on the same date breaking a pane of glass in the residence of David Donnelly, McParlane Street, also taking on the same night a barrel supposed to contain beef from the store of Fred Best, Brasili's Square; on Thursday night last whilst making a purchase at the store of Mrs. Mary Murphy, Water Street, of stealing a cash box and its contents; and of the charges for doing property damage dated back to Nov. 21st and are as follows:—Damage to school, Mundy Pond; smashing a gallery belonging to Joseph Butler, Pierce Avenue; breaking gates owned by M. Whelan and John Connors and a fence owned by Wm. Ebbury, all residents of Pierce Avenue. The prisoner pleaded guilty.

A 25-year-old laborer named Dewling, resident of Hayward Avenue, pleaded guilty to a charge of obtaining money under false pretences and was remanded for eight days. The prisoner is charged with obtaining by means of a cheque on the Royal Bank of Canada the sum of $5 from Alexander House, an employee at Clouston's. He it appears, had no funds in the bank. It is alleged that the accused has issued other worthless cheques and postponement of the case was asked in order that the police may collect them.

Judgement on Football Coupons

King's Bench Divisional Court: The Lord Chief Justice (Lord Hewart) and Justices Avelly and Sankey.

The proprietors of the Premier Sporting Times appealed against a conviction by the Ipswich justices and a fine for running a football betting business. The question was whether a newspaper publishing a coupon and offering money prizes to readers who successfully forecast the results of a specified day could be convicted of an offence against the Ready Money Football Betting Act, 1924.

The appeal was dismissed with costs, Lord Hewart saying that the newspaper contained what was called "the weekly skill contest and free football competition with coupon." No money was to be sent with the coupon, which was not surprising seeing the price charged for the newspaper (6d.). The appellants' obligation began at the time the first purchaser paid his 6d. and sent in his coupon, and they took the risk and were betting on all orders in New Terms cash. Address: L. British Envoy Claims Europe on Monday

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 30.—(A.P.)—

"Great Britain and the United States are working together to set China on her feet and to free her by friendly assistance from the Communist domination under which at one time a considerable part of her population seemed anxious to fall." Sir Eame Howard, the British Ambassador said at a dinner of the Knife and Fork Club and the St. Andrew's Society. The Ambassador urged that the atmosphere of distrust such as marked pre-war days in Europe be not allowed to grow up between English-speaking nations who he said, saw the difficulties arising out of the state of civil war in China, and would like to see them removed so that Chinese aspirations might be fulfilled.

"If England and the Dominions on one side," he said, and this great Republic on the other can continue to stand shoulder to shoulder to promote peace and prosperity in the Far East by fair play and justice, and open and frank dealing with the two great Eastern nations, China and Japan, we shall accomplish there what I sincerely hope France and Germany and the other signatories of the Locarno treaties will at last accomplish in Europe, just and enduring peace." Discussing European affairs, the Ambassador expressed the opinion that the decision of the United States to hold aloof from the League of Nations was perhaps a blessing in disguise.

"I can quite understand the feelings that prompted the majority of the American people in making that decision," he said, "and I feel sure that, feeling as they did, it was better that the United States did not enter the League, for had they done so, it is more than probable that, disgusted with the aftermath of war and what appeared to be the hopeless tangle of European animosities, they would have retired from the League and that might have been a death blow to it."

Although coming as a shock, he continued, the decision compelled the peoples of Europe to try to work out their own salvation, contending against an atmosphere of distrust which he likened to the "nightmare" stage of European history.

"But I would like to tell you this, gentlemen," he added, "Affairs in Europe are on the mend. I believe that the signature of the Locarno security treaties, which seem to me by far the most important thing in the history of the world for generations past, provided they are ratified and kept, is the result of this changed feeling."

These treaties were not merely the instruments negotiated by statesmen and diplomats, he asserted, but reflected a general and popular desire for peace.

London's Houses of Parliament Are in a Bad Way

Towers and Cupolas Now Shapeless Blobs—Loose Stone a Menace.

LONDON, Nov. 29.—(Canadian Press Cable).—The towers, cupolas and garreties which have adorned the Houses of Parliament in the past have degenerated to almost shapeless blobs of masonry constituting an eyesore at certain angles. But a more serious aspect is the disintegration of the buildings mentioned by the noted architect, Sir Frank Baines, to a committee of the House of Commons. Sir Frank said that members of Parliament were beset with great dangers as they walked on the terraces. There was no fear of the building collapsing, he assured them; it was too well built for that, but owing to the combined effects of London's smoky atmosphere and the crystallization of the stonework the building was in a state of extreme mutilation. Hundreds of tons of loose material had been removed and there were still innumerable masses at great heights easily removable by hand.

Sir Frank Baines estimated that it would cost £12,000,000 to erect the building to-day and that the repairs would cost about £1,000,000.

Large Audience Sees "North of 36"

CAPACITY HOUSE DELIGHTED WITH SUPER SPECIAL.

Just as predicted, "North of 36" super special, which was shown at the Majestic Theatre last night, was all that was said about it and every one of the large audience who witnessed it is loud in praise of the excellence of this stupendous production. It is generally conceded that this extraordinary film is greater and better than "The Covered Wagon." The spectacular stampede, the Indian locations and the other outstanding scenes which helped to make the picture what it is were, to say the least, marvellous. As said before, an all star cast is featured, the most outstanding being Lois Wilson, Jack Holt, Noah Beery and Ernest Torrence. To-night the picture will be repeated, also to-morrow afternoon, when popular prices will prevail. Apart from the fact of inducing the public in the ordinary course of events, we do certainly suggest that every screen lover should make a special point of seeing "North of 36," not alone because of the many spectacular scenes and the wholesome story that is embodied in the same, but because the picture is really one that will from an educational standpoint, is a typical lay-out of the days on the Texas border.

Don't forget the Pony Contest.
