—The boys of South London, Colborne cises of the drill there, and the way in which the children executed the movements, with so little practice, was wonderful. At the parade on July 1 it is expected 500 will be in shape with wooden guns and uniforms. The South London Light Infantry has already adopted a suit of blue serge with red belts.

—Secretary Gammage, of the Florists' Association, and other wholesale growers are inclined to object to the recent city bylaw against hucksters quite as much as do the hucksters themselves. "If huckstering is to be abolished," said Mr. Gammage when questioned by an ADVERTISER man, "a wholesale market will have to be established. A good idea would be to have wholesale marketing done before 7 in the morning. It would be utterly impossible for wholesale plant growers to hang around and dispose of their wares retail. To properly regulate huckstering is a good thing, but it is both impracticable and decidedly inconvenient all round—to the wholesaler, the retailer (or huckster) and the consumer."

—Komoka Klunk.

During the past few weeks the grounds "running along the main line track at the station have taken on a very attractive appearance. Several beds of beautiful narcissus, tulips, crocuses, hyacinths and pansies, all arranged in an artistic manner, form a pleasing resting-place for the eyes of a large number of admiring beholders.

David Crombie, the popular G. T. R. agent here, is an ardent lover of beautiful flowers, and he allows his taste every year to run in this direction, so that the station grounds are scenes of beauty during the flowering season, while the air is redolent with delightful perfume.

For a year the Presbyterian congregation in the village, which with Hyde Park enjoys a pastorate, has been without a settled minister ever since the resignation of Rev. Alex. Henderson, now of Appin. It is believed, however, that a permanent pastor will soon be settled, as a call has been moderated, the choice lying between the Revs. Haig and Edgar. The call will come before the Presbytery in June, and although they have been twice refused after going through the preliminaries of a Freyteston mediation, they have strong hopes of success this time.

Hyde Park seems to favor Mr. Edgar, while the Komoka members are strong for Mr. Haig.

The newly-instituted stage between Delaware and Komoka, managed by John Auld, is proving of great convenience to the residents. Good, reasonable and prompt accommodation merits success.

Gravel has been taken out of the pit in very great quantities for the past few weeks, and a "very number of men have been engaged in the work. Tuesday and Thursday train loads were deposited near Glencoe, probably for the new branch line from there to Kingscourt, but the most of it is sent to fill in the tunnel entrance at Sarnia.

The G. T. R. bridge gang have been working in their large yard here for several days loading cars with repair materials, under the supervision of J. Lucas.

Several men have been working in the C. F. R. gravel pit here lately getting out ballast.

Work has been commenced on a double track along the Sarnia branch, and it is said will be continued as far as the diamond (the C. P. R. crossing), a distance of two miles. Last year the wooden bridges were replaced by substantial stone structures, capable of bearing the heaviest waggon and wide enough for double tracks.

The Turnbull brothers have found their horns too small for their constantly increasing store of grain, and have started building greater. A "raising" will shortly take place and the young people will have fun and work to their heart's content.

Thos. McEwen leaves shortly for British Columbia on a prospecting tour. It is rumored he will not return alone, but will be accompanied by several head of mountain cattle.

night operator at Komoka, intends spending his vacation at Fort Erie.
