cussed for several hours the scheme of reforms for Cuba prepared by the Spanish Premier and Colonial Minister. The reforms include much broader municipal and provincial administration and decentralization than the recently formulated reforms for Porto Rico. The principal feature of the plan is the creation of a local assembly, styled the council of administration, consisting of 21 members, part of whom shall be elected by direct limited franchise and part by corporation and commercial interests, in a similar manner to that in which the Spanish Senate is elected. The powers of the Governor-General are much developed under the scheme, but the Cuban chamber will be empowered to this city today, where they are to make a colonial tariff, on the condimeet leading political men to discuss tion of always securing a high protec- the tariff, alien labor law and other this concession the chamber will only have the control of local affairs, the Cortes continuing to vote the budgets understood that these gentlemen come and conclude all legislative treaties. not as formal representatives of the The Cuban representation in the Senate and Chamber of Deputies will remain unaftered.

Details of the Trouble on the Island of Crete.

Six Villages Reported Destroyed by Fire.

English and Italian Sailors Extinguish the Flames. London, Feb. 4 .- A dispatch to the Times from Athens gives additional details of the troubles between Christians and Mohammedans on the Island of Crete. It is announced that 3,000 Christians have surrounded the seaport town of Canea and that they have already burned the Mussulman village of Taratzi in revenge for the burning of the town of Galata. Altogether, six villages are reported to have been destroyed by fire at the hands of Mohammedans and Christians, and a rumor has been widely circulated to the effect that a massacre of Christians has occurred at Gallata. Continuous firing can be heard in tion of communication. It is, however, known that the Mohammedans made an attempt to burn the telegraph station at Suda. Troops were landed from the Eng lish and Italian warships, and aided ning at his residence, 83 Eaton Square. in extinguishing the flames. The foreign fleet, on account of the increased danger in the vicinity of Canea, left Suda and anchored in the harbor of Judge Vance told the prisoner that the extreme penalty in each case was fourteen years' imprisonment, but to impose it would be of no benefit to anyone, and in any event, the sentence would fall heavier upon the family than upon the prisoner himself. Referring to the crime, the judge commented that the acts were of such a deliberate character that a severe penalty was necessary and imposed a sentence of seven years at Ionia upon the one charge, while upon the other he suspended sentence.

Bloody Chapter in the Career of Slim Birch, the Juneau Desperado.

Port Townsend, Wash., Feb. 4.-The steamer Alki, from Alaska, brings news of a bloody chapter in the career of Slim Birch, the motorious young desperado of Juneau, who, while awaiting transportation to serve a three years' sentence in San Quentin prison, California, was released by accomplices who visited the jail, overpowered the jailer, locked him in a cell, and accompanied the escaping prisoner. No tidings of Birch were received until the closing day of January, when Indians brought news to Juneau that Birch and his companions were stopping in a cabin 30 miles from Juneau on an island.

Deputy Marshal Hale at once char-Baysee, and an Indian policeman, practices performed upon him. started in pursuit. The cabin was located the following day, after a tor-turous trip over rough snowy counturous trip over rough snowy country, amid terrific cold. Bad generalin the charge upon the cabin permitted two of the inmates to escape to a rocky eminence, between which and the cabin the posse was situated. A terrible battle then began, Watts being shot twice, Hale once, seriously; and Baysee wounded in both legs. Ten minutes later all the posse except poor Watts started back from the scene of the fight to where the boat was anchored. Watts was left at the mercy of the outlaws on the hill, and they shot him several times, where he lay half dead. The steamer made all haste back to Juneau with the wounded men, and London, Feb. 4.-The Daily Chronicle a posse of twenty men started out, prints the report of an interview with returning next day. Watts was found dead, frozen stiff, in the snow, his cowardly companions had left him. which the famous traveler is quoted The search was continued for two days without success, until the desperadoes were finally located by Indians, lying asleep in a dense underbrush. Word was carried to two herculean fellows, named Cheney and Olsen, in a cannery, who made the capture in a picturesque style. Unarmed, they climbed a ledge tweive feet above the sleeping and heavily armed pair of bandits, and at a given signal jumped down on them. Both men were manacled after a short resistance.
