'Jimmy' Duffy, Runner, Died on the Battlefield

Canada's Greatest Marathon Runner, Holder of Hamilton Herald Race Record and Last Year's Boston Marathon Winner Killed in Action.

TORONTO, April 30.—Canada-s greatest distance runner since the days of Tom Longboat—and a boy just as erratic as the big Indian—is dead on the battlefield at Ypres, where the Canadians so gallantly plugged the hole the retiring French left in the Allies.

Was one minute behind him. Fabre and Duffy were together for 23 miles in that race, and then Duffy said "Good-bye. I'm on my way", and beat him home by a minute.

A month after this race he was thrown out by the A. A. U. of C. for running a five-mile race against Fabre. on the battlefield at Ypres, where the Canadians so gallantly plugged the hole the retiring French left in the Allies' line. He is John Duffy, of Toronto and Hamilton, twice winner of the famous Hamilton therald race and record-holder for that race, and a Ward Marathon and Boston Marathon winner.

Duffy came here from Scotland in the Summer of 1911 and joined the Central Y. M. C. A. Fred Smith, the Central's physical director, sprung Duffy on the running public in the Ward Marathon that year, and he would have won the race right off the reel, but he stopped at the Humber to argue with supporters of Bob O'Brien and wasted the wind he needed to catch the leader. The next spring he joined the Eaton A. A. A. and came under Billy Cumming's coaching. In 1912 at the Olympic tryout over the Hamilton Bay course, Duffy ran second to Harry Jensen, of New York. The day was a scorcher and Duffy, who was used to cold weather, could not stand it. He had the race until 300 yards from home, when Jensen caught and passed him First Canadian in Sweden.

At the Olympic Marathon in Sweden, where Duffy and Jim Corkery represented Canada, Duffy was the first Canadian to finish. He came home fifth in 2:42:18 4-5, a matter of 5:34 behind K, McArthur, the South African, who won it. That was a fiercely warm day, too. In the fall of 1912 he won the Ward Marathon, beating such good men as Jimmy Dellow and Jim Corkery. He came from behind to beat Dellow in the last three miles. Then, Duffy, who was as elusive as the big Onondaga, made a sudden move to Hamilton, where he joined the Ramblers' Bicycle Club and put himself under the care of Tommy Thompson, then gaining fame as a handler of long-distance runners. Duffy, who was in the pink of condition when he left Bill Cumming, was handled cannily by Thomson, and on the day of the next race he and Jim Corkery went out to the ming, was handled cannily by Thomson, and on the day of the next race he and Jim Corkery went out to the front and proceeded to cut all the course records to ribbons. They left the crowd far behind in the first five miles, and then Duffy said farewell to the gallant Corkery and galloped into Hamilton a winner by 300 yards and the holder of a new record. He ran the nineteen miles and 168 yards in 1:46:15, beating the famous record of Sammy Mellor, the Yonkers ghost, by two minutes and twenty seconds, and that record had stood the assaults of a Longboat, a Coley and a Holmer, to say nothing of Mike Ryan, Harry Jensen and a string of United States cracks. In 1913 he repeated his Hamilton Herald race victory against a small field. He was good enough to break his own record and was ahead of it at twelve miles, but he lacked opposition and slowed down. He finished the course in 1:48:38.
