It was at one time reported that cholera had almost entirely disappeared in the East, and to-day we are startled with the intelligence that this fearful scourge has reappeared with increased virulence in New York city, and has attacked the soldiers stationed at Hart Island and Governor's Island, nineteen deaths being officially reported, besides several cases in the city. We have no desire whatever to be alarmists, but prevention is better than cure, and it now behoves the authorities to give the subiect the consideration that its importance demands, and, in view of the not improbable importation of the malady to the Pacific, to obtain the earliest advice of its appearance at forcement of quarantine laws and adopted to arrest, if possible, the progress of the unwelcome visitor to our shores. From Europe our telegram is only ten days old! So far, the proposed armistice had produced no praetical results. Prussia, it is hinted declined all terms, remaining firm in her demands, while Italy, regardless of the French mandate, was advancing on Venetia. Our recent prognostication, it would seem, is on the eve of being realized; instead of the cession of Venetia to France resulting in a peaceful solution of difficulties, it has tended only to fan the flame, and one of the London journals goes so far as to foreshadow a general

European war. A The Derby Ministry has tendered its friendly advice to the Court at Florence to accept mediation, and the French official organ asserts that attempts were being renewed for a peaceful settlement, but we question much whether the "friendly advice" of the combined neutral powers can now effect that end. Prussia was still pushing her victorious way south.

The free city of Frankfort-on-the-Main, on the borders of Bavaria, where the Federal Diet sits for nine months out of the twelve, was threatened, while Prague, the capital of Bohemia, a strongly fortified city, of 200,000 inhabitants, had either fallen or was likely to fall. This would give the Prussians the key to Vienna, where we may look for the next great struggle.

The Italians on the other hand have met with another severe defeat at Borgoforte, on the Po, near Mantua, and despite the withdrawal of Austrian troops appear to be making no head-

FROM KOOTENAY .- Mr Weil, a merchant of Kootenay District, B. C., returned to this city on Saturday. Mr Weil left Wild Horse creek, June 26, and experienced considerable trouble in getting through owing to the high stage of the water, which inundated the trails-especially the trail built by Dewdney, which he found utterly impassable. The mining news is very encouraging. Many companies were doing well on Wild Horse.

There were about 800 | white and Chinese miners, all of whom were at work. A ditch to cost $12,000, was being brought in and several companies were preparing for hydrau-lie mining on a large scale. Rich prospects were reported on Finlay creek, distant sixty miles from Wild Horse. Mr Weil brought down $9000 in gold dust.

THE SHUSWAP SILVER LEAD .- Mr Jeffer-

Shuswap Lake on Saturday, reports unfavorably of the appearance of the silver eads there. Mr. Carter is one of a company of capitalists who have organized to open one of the leads and thoroughly prospect the
