

THE WORLD BY WIRE.

Inflammatory News Sent from Chili by a U. S. Agent—"The Napoleon of France."

In Favor of the Postal Telegraph—Distinguished at Baccarat—U. S. Campaign Funds.

New York, Feb. 25.—A Valparaiso special cablegram to the Herald says: "Judge of Crimes Nigra is conducting an enquiry into the authorship of certain dispatches to a New York newspaper from this city. The agent of the company was summoned to testify and said the messages were signed 'Reamy.' This is declared to have been the assumed name of Lt. Harlow, the World's Fair Commissioner to Chili. Valparaiso papers to-night publish the facts in the case and say that they do not understand why Lt. Harlow, sent to Chili on a mission of peace on account of the World's Fair, should spread such inflammatory news in the United States. They express the hope that the directors of the World's Fair and the United States government will take cognizance of Lt. Harlow's actions. The telegraph manager also testified that Lt. Harlow received messages under the name of 'Reamy' at the U. S. consulate. Public opinion is considerably excited against him and Consul McCreey has stated publicly that he was not aware of Harlow doing anything of the kind.

New York, Feb. 25.—Henry S. Ives, the "Napoleon of Finance," is reported to have made $300,000 by a deal which he is said to have recently put through in connection with the sale of the stock of the Journal and Barnham company, of Brooklyn, which was formed recently. Mills W. Barnes, president of the Exchange Bank of New York, some time ago bought Mrs. Jones' interest for $500,000, paying $25,000 down to bind the bargain. Mr. Barnes is said to have purchased the interest for Henry S. Ives. John H. Conklin, manager of the Journal and Barnham corporation, denied, yesterday, that Ives was behind the deal.

Portland, Or., Feb. 24.—A contract has been entered into between the Merchants Steamship Company, lately incorporated here, and the Canadian Pacific to put on a line of steamers between this city, Vancouver and Victoria, to connect with the Canadian Pacific Railway and its line of steamers to China and Japan. A ten days' service will be inaugurated during March, and later, if found necessary, a five days' service between Portland and Victoria. This virtually gives Portland the fourth transcontinental railroad and the completion of the Great Northern will, in the near future, place her out of reach as the greatest railroad center on the Pacific Coast. The first steamer on this new line sailed to-day.

London, Feb. 24.—It is authoritatively stated that there is no truth whatever in the widely circulated report that there has been a difference of opinion between the Queen and the Prince and Princess of Wales, respecting the place of the Duke of Clarence's burial. It appears that the Queen and her Royal Highness have from the first concurred in deciding that the coffin of the lamented Duke shall remain permanently in the Albert memorial chapel, and it will soon be placed in a sarcophagus, similar to the one in which the Duke of Albany is buried. It is unfortunate that the rumor in question has been obtained general currency, as it may have given pain to the Prince and Princess, who in their great grief and affliction have the sympathy of all classes.

London, Feb. 25.—Arthur Wilson, jr., of Transvaal fame, was married yesterday afternoon, to the Cecil Agnes Elmer, daughter of Lady Tiltner.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Feb. 25.—At a meeting of the Sacramento Board of Trade resolutions were adopted requesting representatives in Congress to urge the adoption of Postmaster-General Wanamaker's report favoring the establishing of a postal telegraph system. The establishment of a postal telegraph system. The adoption of the resolution will be forwarded to all boards of trade in the hope of inducing united action thereon.

New York, Feb. 25.—A Richmond, Indiana, special to the Times says the story which is said to have come from Henry Villard, the railroad magnate, to the effect that Postmaster-General Wanamaker, just previous to the last presidential election, approached him with a proposition to place at his disposal the commission of the general land office for $100,000, to be used for campaign purposes, has been brought to the attention of Wm. Dudley Foulke, civil service commissioner. Mr. Foulke makes this statement for publication.

New York, Feb. 25.—A press special from Washington, says a report that Secretary Noble was about to leave the Cabinet in order to succeed Whitelaw Reid as U. S. Minister to France, which was current here to-day, is the renewal of a report based upon the preference of Secretary Noble, and which is believed by many who ought to know, to be not discordant with the unexpressed desire of the President. There is, however, no basis for the rumor in any accomplished or contemplated negotiation. It is generally accepted in Washington, that Minister Reid has made every proposition to resign his commission and to return home this summer in time to take part in the Presidential campaign. The State Department has denied that Mr. Reid will resign. That, however, has nothing to do with the undoubted fact that Secretary Noble is tired and would have resigned the office of the Interior Department, last summer, had it not been that the President requested him, at that time, to continue in office.

New York, Feb. 25.—A dispatch from London says: It has transpired that

Wm. Turnbull of the American warship Baltimore, murdered during the disturbance at Valparaiso, Chili, was not an American subject but a Canadian. His aged father, Capt. Turnbull, is a resident of Charleston, P. E. I., and has made a claim on the American Government in respect of his loss by his son's death.

PORT TOWNSEND, Feb. 24.—Rumors have been in circulation here for the past two days to the effect that a large number of Chinese had been smuggled over from British Columbia, and were to land near Port Discovery. Collector Vasson and forces were on the alert for the new arrivals, but failed to detect them. It is said that a sloop manned by whitemen dressed as Chinese was sent out from Victoria, on Monday, to throw the customs officers off their guard, and while all the attention was given to this craft a large boat load of Chinese landed near Port Townsend. Collector Vasson now receives a report which says a Canadian Pacific steamer arrived from Japan, the Empress of China, arrived on Monday with 171 Chinese, most of them bound for the United States. Only one Chinaman has been legally landed at the stand why Lt. Harlow, sent to Chili on a mission of peace on account of the World's Fair, should spread such inflammatory news in the United States. They express the hope that the directors of the World's Fair and the United States government will take cognizance of Lt. Harlow's actions. The telegraph manager also testified that Lt. Harlow received messages under the name of 'Reamy' at the U. S. consulate. Public opinion is considerably excited against him and Consul McCreey has stated publicly that he was not aware of Harlow doing anything of the kind.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 24.—The delegates to the big national industrial conference profess to believe that a mammoth new political combination is in existence for the coming presidential campaign. A stormy convention probably will be before ended, yet quietly, in seeming harmony, and that, too, after virtually slamming the door in the face of a national party claiming a million votes. The efforts of the National Union party, which the prohibitionists have been snuffed out at the last moment. The People's party men, who are chiefly from the Northern states, figure to-night that they have by strategy captured the political strength of the Alliance in the South. On the other hand, the Southern Alliance men, under the plea of having acted as individuals, assert that they have not altered the views they have held from away back.

ONTARIO, Cal., Feb. 25.—There were two more, but slight, shocks of earthquake last night, one at 9:20 and the other at 10:00. The first occurred while a large audience was listening to G. W. Cable at Workman Hall. Had it been heavier a panic would have resulted.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Feb. 25.—Three light shocks of earthquake were felt here early this morning.

MONTREAL, Feb. 25.—Hon. Mr. Patterson's election in West Huron appears to be very gratifying to the French Canadian press, which claims that the new member of the House of Commons is a French Canadian and a Catholic.

QUEBEC, Feb. 25.—Ex-Premier Mercier has taken action against A. P. Pelletier for defamation of character.

BRELSAU, Feb. 25.—Henry Hiker, of Berlin, took a fit of coughing here yesterday. Hemorrhage of the lungs followed and he died in ten minutes.

LONDON, Feb. 25.—The Dominion election took place to-morrow. There is much excitement over the contest.

TORONTO, Feb. 25.—The revised majority of Hon. Mr. Patterson, in West Huron, is 22.

WINDSOR, Feb. 25.—Premier Greenway has been re-nominated as the Government candidate for Mountain.

WINDSOR, Feb. 25.—The Society for the Propagation of the Gospel and the Council of the Colonial Bishops of the Church of England have promised £1,000 each toward the diocese of Calgary.

HAVESLOCK, Feb. 25.—Wm. Keith, aged 71, a prominent resident, committed suicide by shooting. He was engaged by sickness.

ST. JOHN, N. B., Feb. 25.—The men employed in the West End Granite Works have been charged, and the works have been closed it is said for good. Manager Bupe says that the plant is likely to be removed to Eastport, Maine, as business is impossible in Canada, owing to the heavy tariff imposed by the United States.

MONTREAL, Feb. 25.—A special cable to the Star from London, says immigration prospects are most hopeful. The steamship companies say that all their booking agents report well. The Canadian Pacific exhibit car has done good work in the South-West.

ENGLAND, Feb. 25.—Hastley, having with 100 families for the Northwest.

MONTREAL, Feb. 25.—Arthur Boyer, who was a member of the dismissed Mercier Ministry, has openly repudiated Mr. Mercier, and will, under no circumstances, accept his leadership. In making his declaration, Mr. Boyer says he remains a Liberal and stands by the traditions of the old Liberal party. News of the stand taken by Mr. Boyer has caused a sensation in political circles.

MONTREAL, Feb. 25.—Matters are still in an unsettled condition in regard to the dismissal of the Intercolonial. It is said a hundred more men will be dismissed before the end of the month. There will also be reductions in the Chief Superintendent's and other offices.

TORONTO, Feb. 25.—An action was instituted on behalf of one of the shareholders in the defendant Central Bank, to procure the arrest and extradition of D. Mitchell McDonald, one of the directors of the bank, on a charge of forgery. McDonald is in Los Angeles, Cal., where he has been since the bank failure.

CORNBURG, Feb. 25.—The Liberals of West Northumberland, this time as a straight Liberal candidate. His opponent will probably be J. P. Turcotte, whom he defeated last March, by 105 majority. The voting takes place three days after the local election.

CORNWALL, Feb. 25.—The weavers on the flannel looms in the Canada Cotton Company's mills are on strike. There are 170 out. The balance of the mill is running as usual.

VALPARAISO, Chili, Feb. 24.—[Special cablegram to the New York Herald.]—The Torpedero Saer Jenta Alder, on a voyage from Talcahuano to Valparaiso, ran short of coal and provisions a few days ago. Captain Alder was killed in attempting to land, and was drowned in the surf. The corvette Magallanes is conveying the Alder into port.

BERLIN, Feb. 25.—The condition of the working classes in Brunswick is deplorable. Labor riots occur almost daily in the various towns of the province, and every week is held by the working people to discuss their grievances in broken up by the police, generally with a degree of violence which seems unnecessary, and which tends to increase the discontent of the masses.

LONDON, Feb. 25.—While the famous Ladlow fox hounds were out to-day, they ate something poisoned, and three of them died in their tracks. A dozen more are dying. The local excitement over the affair, could hardly be greater. If an invader people had been murdered, big rewards is out for the mercenaries who set the poison, and there is talk of lynching the offenders, if they can be caught.

LONDON, Feb. 25.—Mr. Veckers, a prominent ship owner, has sailed for New York, on business in connection with a proposed new line of steamers to ply between Liverpool and New York, and take advantage of the increased traffic of the Colombian exposition year. The special commissioners' duties on the continent are all busy and confident. Messrs. Higginbotham and Bryan are in Italy, Major Brackett in Spain, and Mr. Bill in Germany. The first named are in an enthusiastic mood, and over an interview with the Pope, in which his holiness spoke approvingly of the exhibition. They even profess to believe that the Pope will issue a letter advising the Pope to participate liberally in the enterprise.

LONDON, Feb. 25.—Fullerton, who won the Waterloo course, was throughout the favorite in the betting and was awarded the victory by the judges, this being the lodgings of the man who was the cup. Colonel North, the nitrate millionaire, owns the dog.

PARIS, Feb. 24.—Excitement was caused a few days ago by the information that a large quantity of dynamite had been stolen from a factory belonging to the State where the explosive is made. It was immediately ascertained that the theft was the work of anarchists, and to-day, the police searched all the houses known to be occupied by anarchists. They refused to divulge the names of the dynamite thieves. This evening, it is said, that dynamite was stolen from stone quarries. Only a few of the missing cartridges were discovered, and these were in the hands of an anarchist. The Journal des Debats, says the police have information that the cartridges were designed to blow up the Spanish Embassy, in Paris, to revenge the recent execution of anarchists at Jerez.

LONDON, Feb. 25.—Major Malet, in charge of Chicago World's Fair operations here at present, addressed to-night one of a series of meetings held for the purpose of arousing public interest in the exhibition among the working people. The meeting was in the Golden Square, and was well attended.

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 25.—The names of the men working in the club, whose members had been saving up for months to defray the expenses of a visit to Chicago next year. Other meetings were held at the same place to-morrow.

LONDON, Feb. 25.—The Dominion election took place to-morrow. There is much excitement over the contest.

TORONTO, Feb. 25.—The revised majority of Hon. Mr. Patterson, in West Huron, is 22.

WINDSOR, Feb. 25.—Premier Greenway has been re-nominated as the Government candidate for Mountain.

WINDSOR, Feb. 25.—The Society for the Propagation of the Gospel and the Council of the Colonial Bishops of the Church of England have promised £1,000 each toward the diocese of Calgary.

HAVESLOCK, Feb. 25.—Wm. Keith, aged 71, a prominent resident, committed suicide by shooting. He was engaged by sickness.

ST. JOHN, N. B., Feb. 25.—The men employed in the West End Granite Works have been charged, and the works have been closed it is said for good. Manager Bupe says that the plant is likely to be removed to Eastport, Maine, as business is impossible in Canada, owing to the heavy tariff imposed by the United States.

MONTREAL, Feb. 25.—A special cable to the Star from London, says immigration prospects are most hopeful. The steamship companies say that all their booking agents report well. The Canadian Pacific exhibit car has done good work in the South-West.

ENGLAND, Feb. 25.—Hastley, having with 100 families for the Northwest.

MONTREAL, Feb. 25.—Arthur Boyer, who was a member of the dismissed Mercier Ministry, has openly repudiated Mr. Mercier, and will, under no circumstances, accept his leadership. In making his declaration, Mr. Boyer says he remains a Liberal and stands by the traditions of the old Liberal party. News of the stand taken by Mr. Boyer has caused a sensation in political circles.

MONTREAL, Feb. 25.—Matters are still in an unsettled condition in regard to the dismissal of the Intercolonial. It is said a hundred more men will be dismissed before the end of the month. There will also be reductions in the Chief Superintendent's and other offices.

TORONTO, Feb. 25.—An action was instituted on behalf of one of the shareholders in the defendant Central Bank, to procure the arrest and extradition of D. Mitchell McDonald, one of the directors of the bank, on a charge of forgery. McDonald is in Los Angeles, Cal., where he has been since the bank failure.

CORNBURG, Feb. 25.—The Liberals of West Northumberland, this time as a straight Liberal candidate. His opponent will probably be J. P. Turcotte, whom he defeated last March, by 105 majority. The voting takes place three days after the local election.

CORNWALL, Feb. 25.—The weavers on the flannel looms in the Canada Cotton Company's mills are on strike. There are 170 out. The balance of the mill is running as usual.

VALPARAISO, Chili, Feb. 24.—[Special cablegram to the New York Herald.]—The Torpedero Saer Jenta Alder, on a voyage from Talcahuano to Valparaiso, ran short of coal and provisions a few days ago. Captain Alder was killed in attempting to land, and was drowned in the surf. The corvette Magallanes is conveying the Alder into port.

BERLIN, Feb. 25.—The condition of the working classes in Brunswick is deplorable. Labor riots occur almost daily in the various towns of the province, and every week is held by the working people to discuss their grievances in broken up by the police, generally with a degree of violence which seems unnecessary, and which tends to increase the discontent of the masses.

LONDON, Feb. 25.—While the famous Ladlow fox hounds were out to-day, they

THE MURDERED BARONESS.

A Retired Army Officer Convicted of the Crime and is Sentenced.

PARIS, Feb. 26.—The trial of Lieut. Anastro, for the murder of the Baroness Dillard, which began yesterday was brought to a close to-day. The atrocious incidents of this crime were fully proved. It appears that he was an old acquaintance of the Baroness and her husband. She lived with her son on the Boulevard du Temple, Paris, where, on the 24th, a man came and asked to see M. Dillard. He was shown upstairs. Half an hour later the neighbors were alarmed by the cries of the servant, who appeared at the window overlooking the street, and shrieked, "Help! help! We are being murdered!" She had a gaping wound in her throat, and as she screamed and was breaking open a large wardrobe, the blood poured down into the courtyard. The door! Don't you hear some one crying for help!" As he spoke he went out. The poor old lady was found lying dead on the floor in her son's bedroom, with her throat cut. The retired army officer was arrested, and near her was the knife which had served to commit the crime. A large kitchen knife, about six inches long and two inches wide, and very sharp. After the murder of Mrs. Dillard the assassin went into her bedroom, and was breaking open a large wardrobe, the blood poured down into the courtyard. The door! Don't you hear some one crying for help!" As he spoke he went out. The poor old lady was found lying dead on the floor in her son's bedroom, with her throat cut. The retired army officer was arrested, and near her was the knife which had served to commit the crime. A large kitchen knife, about six inches long and two inches wide, and very sharp. After the murder of Mrs. Dillard the assassin went into her bedroom, and was breaking open a large wardrobe, the blood poured down into the courtyard. The door! Don't you hear some one crying for help!" As he spoke he went out. The poor old lady was found lying dead on the floor in her son's bedroom, with her throat cut. The retired army officer was arrested, and near her was the knife which had served to commit the crime. A large kitchen knife, about six inches long and two inches wide, and very sharp. After the murder of Mrs. Dillard the assassin went into her bedroom, and was breaking open a large wardrobe, the blood poured down into the courtyard. The door! Don't you hear some one crying for help!" As he spoke he went out. The poor old lady was found lying dead on the floor in her son's bedroom, with her throat cut. The retired army officer was arrested, and near her was the knife which had served to commit the crime. A large kitchen knife, about six inches long and two inches wide, and very sharp. After the murder of Mrs. Dillard the assassin went into her bedroom, and was breaking open a large wardrobe, the blood poured down into the courtyard. The door! Don't you hear some one crying for help!" As he spoke he went out. The poor old lady was found lying dead on the floor in her son's bedroom, with her throat cut. The retired army officer was arrested, and near her was the knife which had served to commit the crime. A large kitchen knife, about six inches long and two inches wide, and very sharp. After the murder of Mrs. Dillard the assassin went into her bedroom, and was breaking open a large wardrobe, the blood poured down into the courtyard. The door! Don't you hear some one crying for help!" As he spoke he went out. The poor old lady was found lying dead on the floor in her son's bedroom, with her throat cut. The retired army officer was arrested, and near her was the knife which had served to commit the crime. A large kitchen knife, about six inches long and two inches wide, and very sharp. After the murder of Mrs. Dillard the assassin went into her bedroom, and was breaking open a large wardrobe, the blood poured down into the courtyard. The door! Don't you hear some one crying for help!" As he spoke he went out. The poor old lady was found lying dead on the floor in her son's bedroom, with her throat cut. The retired army officer was arrested, and near her was the knife which had served to commit the crime. A large kitchen knife, about six inches long and two inches wide, and very sharp. After the murder of Mrs. Dillard the assassin went into her bedroom, and was breaking open a large wardrobe, the blood poured down into the courtyard. The door! Don't you hear some one crying for help!" As he spoke he went out. The poor old lady was found lying dead on the floor in her son's bedroom, with her throat cut. The retired army officer was arrested, and near her was the knife which had served to commit the crime. A large kitchen knife, about six inches long and two inches wide, and very sharp. After the murder of Mrs. Dillard the assassin went into her bedroom, and was breaking open a large wardrobe, the blood poured down into the courtyard. The door! Don't you hear some one crying for help!" As he spoke he went out. The poor old lady was found lying dead on the floor in her son's bedroom, with her throat cut. The retired army officer was arrested, and near her was the knife which had served to commit the crime. A large kitchen knife, about six inches long and two inches wide, and very sharp. After the murder of Mrs. Dillard the assassin went into her bedroom, and was breaking open a large wardrobe, the blood poured down into the courtyard. The door! Don't you hear some one crying for help!" As he spoke he went out. The poor old lady was found lying dead on the floor in her son's bedroom, with her throat cut. The retired army officer was arrested, and near her was the knife which had served to commit the crime. A large kitchen knife, about six inches long and two inches wide, and very sharp. After the murder of Mrs. Dillard the assassin went into her bedroom, and was breaking open a large wardrobe, the blood poured down into the courtyard. The door! Don't you hear some one crying for help!" As he spoke he went out. The poor old lady was found lying dead on the floor in her son's bedroom, with her throat cut. The retired army officer was arrested, and near her was the knife which had served to commit the crime. A large kitchen knife, about six inches long and two inches wide, and very sharp. After the murder of Mrs. Dillard the assassin went into her bedroom, and was breaking open a large wardrobe, the blood poured down into the courtyard. The door! Don't you hear some one crying for help!" As he spoke he went out. The poor old lady was found lying dead on the floor in her son's bedroom, with her throat cut. The retired army officer was arrested, and near her was the knife which had served to commit the crime. A large kitchen knife, about six inches long and two inches wide, and very sharp. After the murder of Mrs. Dillard the assassin went into her bedroom, and was breaking open a large wardrobe, the blood poured down into the courtyard. The door! Don't you hear some one crying for help!" As he spoke he went out. The poor old lady was found lying dead on the floor in her son's bedroom, with her throat cut. The retired army officer was arrested, and near her was the knife which had served to commit the crime. A large kitchen knife, about six inches long and two inches wide, and very sharp. After the murder of Mrs. Dillard the assassin went into her bedroom, and was breaking open a large wardrobe, the blood poured down into the courtyard. The door! Don't you hear some one crying for help!" As he spoke he went out. The poor old lady was found lying dead on the floor in her son's bedroom, with her throat cut. The retired army officer was arrested, and near her was the knife which had served to commit the crime. A large kitchen knife, about six inches long and two inches wide, and very sharp. After the murder of Mrs. Dillard the assassin went into her bedroom, and was breaking open a large wardrobe, the blood poured down into the courtyard. The door! Don't you hear some one crying for help!" As he spoke he went out. The poor old lady was found lying dead on the floor in her son's bedroom, with her throat cut. The retired army officer was arrested, and near her was the knife which had served to commit the crime. A large kitchen knife, about six inches long and two inches wide, and very sharp. After the murder of Mrs. Dillard the assassin went into her bedroom, and was breaking open a large wardrobe, the blood poured down into the courtyard. The door! Don't you hear some one crying for help!" As he spoke he went out. The poor old lady was found lying dead on the floor in her son's bedroom, with her throat cut. The retired army officer was arrested, and near her was the knife which had served to commit the crime. A large kitchen knife, about six inches long and two inches wide, and very sharp. After the murder of Mrs. Dillard the assassin went into her bedroom, and was breaking open a large wardrobe, the blood poured down into the courtyard. The door! Don't you hear some one crying for help!" As he spoke he went out. The poor old lady was found lying dead on the floor in her son's bedroom, with her throat cut. The retired army officer was arrested, and near her was the knife which had served to commit the crime. A large kitchen knife, about six inches long and two inches wide, and very sharp. After the murder of Mrs. Dillard the assassin went into her bedroom, and was breaking open a large wardrobe, the blood poured down into the courtyard. The door! Don't you hear some one crying for help!" As he spoke he went out. The poor old lady was found lying dead on the floor in her son's bedroom, with her throat cut. The retired army officer was arrested, and near her was the knife which had served to commit the crime. A large kitchen knife, about six inches long and two inches wide, and very sharp. After the murder of Mrs. Dillard the assassin went into her bedroom, and was breaking open a large wardrobe, the blood poured down into the courtyard. The door! Don't you hear some one crying for help!" As he spoke he went out. The poor old lady was found lying dead on the floor in her son's bedroom, with her throat cut. The retired army officer was arrested, and near her was the knife which had served to commit the crime. A large kitchen knife, about six inches long and two inches wide, and very sharp. After the murder of Mrs. Dillard the assassin went into her bedroom, and was breaking open a large wardrobe, the blood poured down into the courtyard. The door! Don't you hear some one crying for help!" As he spoke he went out. The poor old lady was found lying dead on the floor in her son's bedroom, with her throat cut. The retired army officer was arrested, and near her was the knife which had served to commit the crime. A large kitchen knife, about six inches long and two inches wide, and very sharp. After the murder of Mrs. Dillard the assassin went into her bedroom, and was breaking open a large wardrobe, the blood poured down into the courtyard. The door! Don't you hear some one crying for help!" As he spoke he went out. The poor old lady was found lying dead on the floor in her son's bedroom, with her throat cut. The retired army officer was arrested, and near her was the knife which had served to commit the crime. A large kitchen knife, about six inches long and two inches wide, and very sharp. After the murder of Mrs. Dillard the assassin went into her bedroom, and was breaking open a large wardrobe, the blood poured down into the courtyard. The door! Don't you hear some one crying for help!" As he spoke he went out. The poor old lady was found lying dead on the floor in her son's bedroom, with her throat cut. The retired army officer was arrested, and near her was the knife which had served to commit the crime. A large kitchen knife, about six inches long and two inches wide, and very sharp. After the murder of Mrs. Dillard the assassin went into her bedroom, and was breaking open a large wardrobe, the blood poured down into the courtyard. The door! Don't you hear some one crying for help!" As he spoke he went out. The poor old lady was found lying dead on the floor in her son's bedroom, with her throat cut. The retired army officer was arrested, and near her was the knife which had served to commit the crime. A large kitchen knife, about six inches long and two inches wide, and very sharp. After the murder of Mrs. Dillard the assassin went into her bedroom, and was breaking open a large wardrobe, the blood poured down into the courtyard. The door! Don't you hear some one crying for help!" As he spoke he went out. The poor old lady was found lying dead on the floor in her son's bedroom, with her throat cut. The retired army officer was arrested, and near her was the knife which had served to commit the crime. A large kitchen knife, about six inches long and two inches wide, and very sharp. After the murder of Mrs. Dillard the assassin went into her bedroom, and was breaking open a large wardrobe, the blood poured down into the courtyard. The door! Don't you hear some one crying for help!" As he spoke he went out. The poor old lady was found lying dead on the floor in her son's bedroom, with her throat cut. The retired army officer was arrested, and near her was the knife which had served to commit the crime. A large kitchen knife, about six inches long and two inches wide, and very sharp. After the murder of Mrs. Dillard the assassin went into her bedroom, and was breaking open a large wardrobe, the blood poured down into the courtyard. The door! Don't you hear some one crying for help!" As he spoke he went out. The poor old lady was found lying dead on the floor in her son's bedroom, with her throat cut. The retired army officer was arrested, and near her was the knife which had served to commit the crime. A large kitchen knife, about six inches long and two inches wide, and very sharp. After the murder of Mrs. Dillard the assassin went into her bedroom, and was breaking open a large wardrobe, the blood poured down into the courtyard. The door! Don't you hear some one crying for help!" As he spoke he went out. The poor old lady was found lying dead on the floor in her son's bedroom, with her throat cut. The retired army officer was arrested, and near her was the knife which had served to commit the crime. A large kitchen knife, about six inches long and two inches wide, and very sharp. After the murder of Mrs. Dillard the assassin went into her bedroom, and was breaking open a large wardrobe, the blood poured down into the courtyard. The door! Don't you hear some one crying for help!" As he spoke he went out. The poor old lady was found lying dead on the floor in her son's bedroom, with her throat cut. The retired army officer was arrested, and near her was the knife which had served to commit the crime. A large kitchen knife, about six inches long and two inches wide, and very sharp. After the murder of Mrs. Dillard the assassin went into her bedroom, and was breaking open a large wardrobe, the blood poured down into the courtyard. The door! Don't you hear some one crying for help!" As he spoke he went out. The poor old lady was found lying dead on the floor in her son's bedroom, with her throat cut. The retired army officer was arrested, and near her was the knife which had served to commit the crime. A large kitchen knife, about six inches long and two inches wide, and very sharp. After the murder of Mrs. Dillard the assassin went into her bedroom, and was breaking open a large wardrobe, the blood poured down into the courtyard. The door! Don't you hear some one crying for help!" As he spoke he went out. The poor old lady was found lying dead on the floor in her son's bedroom, with her throat cut. The retired army officer was arrested, and near her was the knife which had served to commit the crime. A large kitchen knife, about six inches long and two inches wide, and very sharp. After the murder of Mrs. Dillard the assassin went into her bedroom, and was breaking open a large wardrobe, the blood poured down into the courtyard. The door! Don't you hear some one crying for help!" As he spoke he went out. The poor old lady was found lying dead on the floor in her son's bedroom, with her throat cut. The retired army officer was arrested, and near her was the knife which had served to commit the crime. A large kitchen knife, about six inches long and two inches wide, and very sharp. After the murder of Mrs. Dillard the assassin went into her bedroom, and was breaking open a large wardrobe, the blood poured down into the courtyard. The door! Don't you hear some one crying for help!" As he spoke he went out. The poor old lady was found lying dead on the floor in her son's bedroom, with her throat cut. The retired army officer was arrested, and near her was the knife which had served to commit the crime. A large kitchen knife, about six inches long and two inches wide, and very sharp. After the murder of Mrs. Dillard the assassin went into her bedroom, and was breaking open a large wardrobe, the blood poured down into the courtyard. The door! Don't you hear some one crying for help!" As he spoke he went out. The poor old lady was found lying dead on the floor in her son's bedroom, with her throat cut. The retired army officer was arrested, and near her was the knife which had served to commit the crime. A large kitchen knife, about six inches long and two inches wide, and very sharp. After the murder of Mrs. Dillard the assassin went into her bedroom, and was breaking open a large wardrobe, the blood poured down into the courtyard. The door! Don't you hear some one crying for help!" As he spoke he went out. The poor old lady was found lying dead on the floor in her son's bedroom, with her throat cut. The retired army officer was arrested, and near her was the knife which had served to commit the crime. A large kitchen knife, about six inches long and two inches wide, and very sharp. After the murder of Mrs. Dillard the assassin went into her bedroom, and was breaking open a large wardrobe, the blood poured down into the courtyard. The door! Don't you hear some one crying for help!" As he spoke he went out. The poor old lady was found lying dead on the floor in her son's bedroom, with her throat cut. The retired army officer was arrested, and near her was the knife which had served to commit the crime. A large kitchen knife, about six inches long and two inches wide, and very sharp. After the murder of Mrs. Dillard the assassin went into her bedroom, and was breaking open a large wardrobe, the blood poured down into the courtyard. The door! Don't you hear some one crying for help!" As he spoke he went out. The poor old lady was found lying dead on the floor in her son's bedroom, with her throat cut. The retired army officer was arrested, and near her was the knife which had served to commit the crime. A large kitchen knife, about six inches long and two inches wide, and very sharp. After the murder of Mrs. Dillard the assassin went into her bedroom, and was breaking open a large wardrobe, the blood poured down into the courtyard. The door! Don't you hear some one crying for help!" As he spoke he went out. The poor old lady was found lying dead on the floor in her son's bedroom, with her throat cut. The retired army officer was arrested, and near her was the knife which had served to commit the crime. A large kitchen knife, about six inches long and two inches wide, and very sharp. After the murder of Mrs. Dillard the assassin went into her bedroom, and was breaking open a large wardrobe, the blood poured down into the courtyard. The door! Don't you hear some one crying for help!" As he spoke he went out. The poor old lady was found lying dead on the floor in her son's bedroom, with her throat cut. The retired army officer was arrested, and near her was the knife which had served to commit the crime. A large kitchen knife, about six inches long and two inches wide, and very sharp. After the murder of Mrs. Dillard the assassin went into her bedroom, and was breaking open a large wardrobe, the blood poured down into the courtyard. The door! Don't you hear some one crying for help!" As he spoke he went out. The poor old lady was found lying dead on the floor in her son's bedroom, with her throat cut. The retired army officer was arrested, and near her was the knife which had served to commit the crime. A large kitchen knife, about six inches long and two inches wide, and very sharp. After the murder of Mrs. Dillard the assassin went into her bedroom, and was breaking open a large wardrobe, the blood poured down into the courtyard. The door! Don't you hear some one crying for help!" As he spoke he went out. The poor old lady was found lying dead on the floor in her son's bedroom, with her throat cut. The retired army officer was arrested, and near her was the knife which had served to commit the crime. A large kitchen knife, about six inches long and two inches wide, and very sharp. After the murder of Mrs. Dillard the assassin went into her bedroom, and was breaking open a large wardrobe, the blood poured down into the courtyard. The door! Don't you hear some one crying for help!" As he spoke he went out. The poor old lady was found lying dead on the floor in her son's bedroom, with her throat cut. The retired army officer was arrested, and near her was the knife which had served to commit the crime. A large kitchen knife, about six inches long and two inches wide, and very sharp. After the murder of Mrs. Dillard the assassin went into her bedroom, and was breaking open a large wardrobe, the blood poured down into the courtyard. The door! Don't you hear some one crying for help!" As he spoke he went out. The poor old lady was found lying dead on the floor in her son's bedroom, with her throat cut. The retired army officer was arrested, and near her was the knife which had served to commit the crime. A large kitchen knife, about six inches long and two inches wide, and very sharp. After the murder of Mrs. Dillard the assassin went into her bedroom, and was breaking open a large wardrobe, the blood poured down into the courtyard. The door! Don't you hear some one crying for help!" As he spoke he went out. The poor old lady was found lying dead on the floor in her son's bedroom, with her throat cut. The retired army officer was arrested, and near her was the knife which had served to commit the crime. A large kitchen knife, about six inches long and two inches wide, and very sharp. After the murder of Mrs. Dillard the assassin went into her bedroom, and was breaking open a large wardrobe, the blood poured down into the courtyard. The door! Don't you hear some one crying for help!" As he spoke he went out. The poor old lady was found lying dead on the floor in her son's bedroom, with her throat cut. The retired army officer was arrested, and near her was the knife which had served to commit the crime. A large kitchen knife, about six inches long and two inches wide, and very sharp. After the murder of Mrs. Dillard the assassin went into her bedroom, and was breaking open a large wardrobe, the blood poured down into the courtyard. The door! Don't you hear some one crying for help!" As he spoke he went out. The poor old lady was found lying dead on the floor in her son's bedroom, with her throat cut. The retired army officer was arrested, and near her was the knife which had served to commit the crime. A large kitchen knife, about six inches long and two inches wide, and very sharp. After the murder of Mrs. Dillard the assassin went into her bedroom, and was breaking open a large wardrobe, the blood poured down into the courtyard. The door! Don't you hear some one crying for help!" As he spoke he went out. The poor old lady was found lying dead on the floor in her son's bedroom, with her throat cut. The retired army officer was arrested, and near her was the knife which had served to commit the crime. A large kitchen knife, about six inches long and two inches wide, and very sharp. After the murder of Mrs. Dillard the assassin went into her bedroom, and was breaking open a large wardrobe, the blood poured down into the courtyard. The door! Don't you hear some one crying for help!" As he spoke he went out. The poor old lady was found lying dead on the floor in her son's bedroom, with her throat cut. The retired army officer was arrested, and near her was the knife which had served to commit the crime. A large kitchen knife, about six inches long and two inches wide, and very sharp. After the murder of Mrs. Dillard the assassin went into her bedroom, and was breaking open a large wardrobe, the blood poured down into the courtyard. The door! Don't you hear some one crying for help!" As he spoke he went out. The poor old lady was found lying dead on the floor in her son's bedroom, with her throat cut. The retired army officer was arrested, and near her was the knife which had served to commit the crime. A large kitchen knife, about six inches long and two inches wide, and very sharp. After the murder of Mrs. Dillard the assassin went into her bedroom, and was breaking open a large wardrobe, the blood poured down into the courtyard. The door! Don't you hear some one crying for help!" As he spoke he went out. The poor old lady was found lying dead on the floor in her son's bedroom, with her throat cut. The retired army officer was arrested, and near her was the knife which had served to commit the crime. A large kitchen knife, about six inches long and two inches wide, and very sharp. After the murder of Mrs. Dillard the assassin went into her bedroom, and was breaking open a large wardrobe, the blood poured down into the courtyard. The door! Don't you hear some one crying for help!" As he spoke he went out. The poor old lady was found lying dead on the floor in her son's bedroom, with her throat cut. The retired army officer was arrested, and near her was the knife which had served to commit the crime. A large kitchen knife, about six inches long and two inches wide, and very sharp. After the murder of Mrs. Dillard the assassin went into her bedroom, and was breaking open a large wardrobe, the blood poured down into the courtyard. The door! Don't you hear some one crying for help!" As he spoke he went out. The poor old lady was found lying dead on the floor in her son's bedroom, with her throat cut. The retired army officer was arrested, and near her was the knife which had served to commit the crime. A large kitchen knife, about six inches long and two inches wide, and very sharp. After the murder of Mrs. Dillard the assassin went into her bedroom, and was breaking open a large wardrobe, the blood poured down into the courtyard. The door! Don't you hear some one crying for help!" As he spoke he went out. The poor old lady was found lying dead on the floor in her