Gets 8,000 For Invention.

Windsor, Jan. 4.—H. H. Steere, superintendent at McLean's mill, has received $8,000 for the American rights of an invention he has perfected to minimize danger in the operating of shaping machines. The device is attached to the machine and holds the wood so that there is no danger of the operator getting his hand caught by the saw. It has been approved by the Michigan state and Ontario factory inspectors. Mr. Steere retains the Canadian rights.

Does Your Heart Flutter.

You know heart fluttering means you're not as well as you should be. It's an evidence of impaired nerve and muscular power. To obtain cure, try Ferrozone; it has a special action on the heart as seen in the case of Thos. Grover, of Cole Harbor, N. S., who says: "I exerted myself it would bring palpitation. To carry any heavy weight or go quickly upstairs completely knocked me out. When bad attacks came on I lived in fear of sudden death. Ferrozone gave my heart the very assistance it needed, and now I am quite well." For heart or nerves it's hard to excel Ferrozone, 50c per box at all dealers.

Changed the Weight.

A young farmer named William A. Cook, who lives at Richview Postoffice, near Lambton Mills, appeared before Magistrate Denison on a charge of theft and was sent to jail for seven days, with hard labor. Cook's father explained that his son had just launched into the farming business, and was making his first visit to the city with a load of hay. At Lambton Mills he had the hay weighed, the weight being 2,225 pounds, but on the way to the hay market he changed the second figure from a 2 to an 8, and received payment for six hundred pounds more than the actual weight.

Blizzard at the Hat.

Medicine Hat, Jan. 24.—Medicine Hat experienced the worst blizzard of the season yesterday, and the C.P.R. is badly tied up in consequence. The storm had been raging west of Moose Jaw for several days, and worked its way to Medicine Hat on Wednesday morning. Monday evening's train has not reached here yet, and at last accounts all trains from the east were being held at Moose Jaw.

Killed by Fast Train.

Hagersville, Jan. 24.—Two sectionmen, John Fyle and Hiram Hendershott, were run over and killed today near Duffin, by No. 3 eastbound express on M.C.R. There was a blinding snowstorm at the time and it is believed they could not see the fast running train until it was on them.

It HAS MANY OFFICES—Before the German soldier starts on a long march he rubs his feet with tallow, for his first care is to keep his feet in good condition. If he knew that Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil would be of much better service he would throw away his tallow and pack a few bottles of the Oil in his knapsack. There is nothing like it.

A Difference.

Little Willie—Say, pa, what is the difference between a statesman and a politician?

To Keep Apples

The best way to keep apples till the spring is to place them on a flat surface—boards for example—don't crowd them into baskets or barrels—have lots of air circulation and keep the temperature as low as possible, but not below freezing, (32 degrees).

Works Both Ways.

The members of the East Lambton Farmers' Association contributed their full quota to the agitation which resulted in binder twine being placed on the free list. If we are not mistaken, many of them are now questioning the wisdom of the move. At any rate they are forced to admit that it has not resulted in cheaper twine. It could not possibly do so. With twice on the duty list the home manufacturer was protected from the mammoth twine factories of the U. S., and the latter, in order to gain a foothold in our market, forced prices down and created a keen competition which resulted in cheap twine for the farmer. Just as soon as twine was placed on the free list our neighbors to the south of us gained complete control of the market with the result that the now dictate the price of twine and the farmer is paying the shot. The tariff question certainly works both ways.—Alvinston Free Press

SKETCH OF THE LIFE OF LYDIA E. PINKHAM

And a True Story of How the Vegetable Compound Had Its Birth and How the "Panic of '73" Caused it to be Offered for Public Sale in Drug Stores.

This remarkable woman, whose maiden name was Estes, was born in Lynn, Mass., February 9th, 1819, coming from a good old Quaker family. For some years she taught school, and became known as a woman of an alert their mother, combined forces to restore the family fortune. They argued that the medicine which was so good for their woman friends and neighbors was equally good for the women of the whole world.

The Pinkhams had no money, and little credit. Their first laboratory was the kitchen, where roots and herbs were steeped on the stove, gradually filling a gross of bottles. Then came the question of selling it, for always before they had given it away freely. They hired a job printer to run off some pamphlets setting forth the merits of the medicine, now called Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and these were distributed by the Pinkham sons in Boston, New York, and Brooklyn.

The wonderful curative properties of the medicine were, to a great extent, self-advertising, for whoever used it recommended it to others, and the demand gradually increased.

In 1877, by combined efforts the family had saved enough money to commence newspaper advertising and from that time the growth and success of the enterprise were assured, until to-day Lydia E. Pinkham and her Vegetable Compound have become household words everywhere, and many tons of roots and herbs are used annually in its manufacture.

Lydia E. Pinkham herself did not live to see the great success of this work. She passed to her reward years ago, but not till she had provided means for continuing her work as effectively as she could have done it herself.

During her long and eventful experience she was ever methodical in her work and she was always careful to preserve a record of every case that came to her attention. The case of every sick woman who applied to her for advice—and there were thousands—received careful study and the details, including symptoms, treatment and results were recorded for future reference, and to-day these records, together with hundreds of thousands made since, are available to sick women the world over, and represent a vast collaboration of information regarding the treatment of woman's ills, which for authenticity and accuracy can hardly be equaled in any library in the world.

With Lydia E. Pinkham worked her daughter-in-law, the present Mrs. Pinkham. She was carefully instructed in all her hard-won knowledge, and for years she assisted her in her vast correspondence.

To her hands naturally fell the direction of the work when its originator passed away. For nearly twenty-five years she has continued it, and nothing in the work shows when the first Lydia E. Pinkham dropped her pen, and the present Mrs. Pinkham, now the mother of a large family, took it up. With woman assistants, some as capable as herself, the present Mrs. Pinkham continues this great work, and probably from the office of no other person have so many women been advised how to regain health. Sick women, this advice is "Yours for Health" freely given if you only write to ask for it.

Such is the history of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound: made from simple roots and herbs; the one great medicine for women's ailments, and the fitting monument to the noble woman whose name it bears.

and investigating mind, an earnest seeker after knowledge, and above all, possessed of a wonderfully sympathetic nature.

In 1843 she married Isaac Pinkham, a builder and real estate operator, and their early married life was marked by prosperity and happiness. They had four children, three sons and a daughter.

In those good old fashioned days it was common for mothers to make their own home medicines from roots and herbs, nature's own remedies—calling in a physician only in specially urgent cases. By tradition and experience many of them gained a wonderful knowledge of the curative properties of the various roots and herbs.

Mrs. Pinkham took a great interest in the study of roots and herbs, their characteristics and power over disease. She maintained that just as nature so bountifully provides in the harvest-fields and orchards vegetable foods of all kinds; so, if we but take the pains to find them, in the roots and herbs of the field there are remedies expressly designed to cure the various ills and weaknesses of the body, and it was her pleasure to search these out, and prepare simple and effective medicines for her own family and friends.

Chief of these was a rare combination of the choicest medicinal roots and herbs found best adapted for the cure of the ills and weaknesses peculiar to the female sex, and Lydia E. Pinkham's friends and neighbors learned that her compound relieved and cured and it became quite popular among them.

All this so far was done freely, without money and without price as a labor of love.

But in 1873 the financial crisis struck Lynn. Its length and severity were too much for the large real estate interests of the Pinkham family, as this class of business suffered most from fearful depression, so when the Centennial year dawned it found their property swept away. Some other source of income had to be found.

At this point Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was made known to the world.

How do you know you are in its thrall? Note the symptoms—headache, watery eyes, pains over the eyes, deafness, buzzing in the head, dropping in the throat, offensive breath, dryness in the nostrils—any or all of these symptoms are forerunners of catarrh, and catarrh in the head stage can be relieved in 10 minutes by Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder and the sufferer may be saved the suffering that comes with the chronic stage and the distress and maybe fatal results when catarrh takes hold on the lung tissues. Take catarrh in time with this wonderful cure, which, as thousands have said and thousands more could say, "works like magic," and you will have struck the chord that is the keynote to health and happiness.
