

| | PAGE |
|--|------|
| Adventur with a grizzly bear—Left alone—A long crawl for life—Hunger, thirst, and travail—A grizzly again—“The Great Spirit, like an eagle, looks down upon the prairie”—Saved—Watched | 67 |

CHAPTER V.

| | |
|---|----|
| An Assineboine camp—The trader McDermott—The chief “Wolverine”—Fire-water and finesse—The Assineboine war-party—A chance of a Cree scalp—The trader hears a well-known name—A big bid for murder, two hundred skins ! | 82 |
|---|----|

CHAPTER VI.

| | |
|---|----|
| The Sioux forecasts our course—On the watch—Directions—We separate—Red Cloud is seen far out on the plains—Rival tactics—Scent versus sight—A captured scout—The edge of the hills again—The signal fire | 97 |
|---|----|

CHAPTER VII.

| | |
|---|-----|
| The watched one halts—A light to the north-east—The Stonies find their mistake—Distant thunder—A light in the dark—The fire wind— Sauve qui peut —How the fire was lighted—We ride across the fire field—Enemies in sight—A dilemma—Between friend and foe—The scout throws in his lot with us—We ride to the rescue | 111 |
|---|-----|

CHAPTER VIII.

| | |
|---|-----|
| The fight—The Sioux and the swamp—The trader's triumph—Red Cloud fights on foot—The trader finds he has other foes to reckon with—The Assineboine draws a straight arrow—The trader's flight—Our losses and gains—Winter supplies—Our party is completed—“All's well that ends well.” | 129 |
|---|-----|