CATHOLIC COMMERCIAL ACADEMY.

We publish elsewhere in our columns the advertisements of the approaching re-opening of the classes of the six Commercial Academies, and of the Polytechnic School, and of the Primary School of the Plateau, all under the immediate control of the Board of Roman Catholic School Commissioners of the city of Montreal. Whilst referring to the important subject of education, we consider it our duty to Catholic parents to remind them of the very valuable services rendered to the cause of Christian Education as well as to the Canadian youth, both of English and French origin, by these educational establishments, and we have great satisfaction in recalling the marked success which, of late years especially, has so deservedly crowned the untiring efforts and enlightened zeal of the Principals who so ably direct them. In their anxiety to keep pace with the rapidly growing wants of the Catholic population of this city, the Catholic School Commissioners will inaugurate, on the 3rd September next, two new and spacious school buildings, which they have just completed—the St. Antoine and St. Denis Academies—which will advantageously replace the St. Joseph and St. Denis street schools, which have long since become insufficient for the requirements of the neighborhood. It is scarcely necessary to observe that the thoroughly Catholic and at the same time, eminently practical system of education imparted, matured on a system based on the close attention of long years of experience, can hardly be surpassed elsewhere, and must invariably be treated with the best results, especially when the parents, at home, are careful to second the efforts of the teacher. Hence it is that, each year, we have the gratification of hearing of the appointment of an unusually fair proportion of the pupils who terminate their commercial studies in these academies, to places of trust in our city Banks, and to other valuable situations in some of the first mercantile establishments of Montreal. Whilst the course of studies in the several academies is, in all respects the same, as far as the class of Syntax inclusively, and is sufficiently comprehensive to fit a young man for all the ordinary requirements of trade, it is well to keep in view the special advantages and inducements held out by the Commercial Academy of the Plateau, to young gentlemen who may be desirous of completing their commercial education by affording the opportunity of acquiring a thorough knowledge of Banking, Custom House business, Commercial law, Telegraphy, Stenography, etc., etc. To this well-known and highly esteemed institution has been reserved the exclusive rights of conferring diplomas to such pupils as successfully undergo the ordeal of an extremely severe commercial examination; and, so highly has the practical value of the course of instruction imparted been appreciated, that apart from the grand prizes occasionally offered by our worthy ex-mayors, the Honbles. C. J. Coursol, A. Bernard, and Dr. Kingston and Amable Jodoin, Esqs.,—two of our eminent citizens, Edward Murphy, Esq., and the late W. Benjamin Compte saw fit to found, the former, an annual grand prize of $50 and a gold medal of equal value,—the latter an annual grand prize of $50, to be awarded to the two pupils of the Commercial Course who graduate with the greatest distinction. The encouragement so liberally held out to the pupils of the Commercial Course, by Messrs. Edward Murphy and Benjamin Compte has its counter part in the generosity of P. S. Murphy, Esq., who has likewise established in favor of the most successful pupil of the Polytechnic School an annual prize of $50 and a gold medal of the same value, which was awarded for the first time at the recent examination. Nor should we here omit mentioning the generosity of Victor Beaudry, Esq., who, during the last two years, has provided the necessary means ($150 per annum) for the maintenance and tuition of a pupil in the Polytechnic School and also the enlightened liberality of President Reaudry, Esq., of Los Angeles, California, who has founded, in the same school, a valuable and permanent scholarship of the annual value of $150. The religious instruction and spiritual direction of the several academies is entrusted to the reverend curates of the different parishes in which the schools are situated. We hope to have thus clearly demonstrated that as far as the moral, literary, and commercial and scientific result is concerned, Catholic parents cannot—either at home or abroad—meet with schools affording surer guarantees, or greater practical advantages than those presented by the several academies under the control of the Board of Roman Catholic School Commissioners of the city of Montreal.

others booths when he had succeeded in frightening them away. Messrs. Giguere and Rivard went to him to ask an explanation of his conduct, and were grossly insulted and threatened. He struck a poor little apple boy, ordered him to leave, and pointed a pistol at him. Another dealer in fruit was thrown into the river. Conduct such as reported is deplorable. The above is taken from the Witness of the 25th, and on the 27th it jumps down its own throat in the following fashion:— Mr. P. Hogan who catered for the Irish Catholic Union picnic, at Ste. Rose denies that he pointed a revolver at any one, or that a fruit dealer was thrown into the river. A boy, for being very abusive, received a box in the ear. Mr. Hogan says that he had the exclusive right to sell refreshments, as he paid $60 to the society for the privilege, and they rented the grounds from Messrs. Rivard and Giguere. Mr. Hogan intends to take an action for damages against the latter gentleman!

CANADIAN ITEMS. ADDRESS TO MR. COSTIGAN, M.P.—Taking advantage of his presence in the ancient capital, several members of the Hibernian Benevolent Society of Quebec, waited on Mr. Costigan, M.P., at his rooms at Henchey's hotel, and presented him with a complimentary address; expressive of their approval of the course adopted by him last session in Parliament, with reference to the O'Donoghue affair, and thanking the honorable gentleman for the same, in the name of the society. Mr. Costigan, who was completely taken by surprise, received the deputation with a truly Irish welcome, and realizing the importance that may be attached to his utterances on the subject of the address, asked a day or two of time to write a reply. When this has been received, both the address and reply will be published. After spending a few pleasant hours in Mr. Costigan's company, the gentlemen of the Hibernian Society withdrew.
