

How we behave towards each other at home has an impact on our interests abroad. And what we do abroad determines how prosperous and safe we are here at home.

Engagement with the new Europe is not a luxury; it is a necessity. And Canada will be there, as we must, for our own sake, our own security, our own prosperity.