Only Forty Odd Miles of Travel Where Formerly Seven Thousand Were Necessary.

Facts are facts, despite the croakers who thirty years ago said the feat was impossible of accomplishment. The expenditure of $400,000,000 brought about the desired result; but money means nothing when a world achievement is the goal. Think of the millions of hours and the millions of miles annually saved by eliminating the stormy trip around Cape Horn!

Here are a few facts which tend to show the world importance of the Panama Canal. Only 27 per cent, of the earth's surface is covered by continents and islands, the great seas and oceans comprise the remaining 73 per cent. Three-fourths of all the laifd on the globe is north of the equator. Of the world's population 85 per cent, is in the northern hemisphere.

A close study of these figures will show the unlimited significance and importance of the Panama Canal. It is now possible to journey by water entirely around the earth in the northern hemisphere, without once crossing the equator—a feat hereto-fore impossible. The long and arduous trip around the South American Continent is now done away with. As three-fourths of the earth's land surface and 85 per cent. of its entire population is north of the equator, it is in the northern hemisphere.
