Surely there must be, as your article suggests. "A colored infant somewhere." Likely to Be a Success.

The success of the Mayor's municipal convention scheme seems to be assured. "a colored infant somewhere."

This city is still groaning beneath the heavy load cast upon it by the real estate boomers cajoling and bullying the Councils of the past into converting gone converting gone where the success of the Mayor's municipative convention scheme seems to be assured towns all over Canada, who are sending the convention of the past into conventing gone conventions.

> The action of the aldermen you mention in your editorial of the 17th reminds me of the "dog in the manger" story. They cannot sell their own land, and until they can they will do their best to prevent the sale of other lands. This is a fine exhibition of fitness for an alderman's position on the part of one, while the cravings for the North Toronto nomination on the part of the other will never be satisfied, now that he has shown the constituency he desires to represent that their interests are of no concern to him, and that he intends to refuse them the rights which their fellow tellow citizens in the east and west (as Ald. Sheard's letter in to-day's issue justly observes) have already enjoyed for years. I hope from this time forth the ratepayers will closely watch the action of their representatives, and next year send back to council only those who show a desire to support and push forward any measure which will add to the growth and development of the city, and retire to private life that only ability consists in assisting that their only ability consists in assisting the recent about to warm peof the danger.
