STUDY YOUR OWN BUSINESS.

You can always get plenty of books and literature along the line of your employer's business, and when he finds that you are keeping your eyes, ears and mind open, that you are studying his business, he will keep his eyes on you, says Orison Swett Marden in an article in Success Magazine. Your employer is not blind. Do not think because he is not constantly patting you on the back that he is not taking your measure.

The first thing the successful employee must realize is that he is really working for himself. Every bit of work he does heartily, honestly, thoroughly, is developing his own capacity, making him a bigger, broader, more capable man. If he robs his employer of time or energy, he is robbing himself more because he is practicing dishonesty, and cultivating a weak character and destroy his reputation for trustworthiness.

The men who have done great things in the world have been prodigious workers, particularly during the time when they were struggling to establish themselves in life.

Young men who are sticklers for hours, who are afraid of working overtime, who want to leave the office on the minute a little before, who are always a little late in the morning, or who take their employer's time for their own personal use—such employees never get very far.

In every large establishment there are a few employees who show promise and are sure of promotion. They stick and die, and hang on to their task when other people are in a hurry to quit. They do not measure their hours by the clock, or their obligation to their employer by the amount of salary they receive; they do not feel that, when they begin work earlier or stay later, it is an injustice on his part not to pay them for overtime.

JEALOUSY CAUSE OF A COLD-BLOODED MURDER IN ONTARIO

Petrolia Woman Shot to Death By Former Boarder

She Had Rejected Him—Daughter is Also Wounded by Bullet—Murderer Took Laudanum Before The Shooting

Petrolia, July 11.—This town was stirred to its depths when it was learned Mrs. Frederick King, who lives over the Plaza, had been shot to death by William Moore, an employee of the wagon works company. The shooting was a clear case of jealousy. The murderer, who is about twenty years of age, being with the King family until about a month or so ago and was asked to leave the house by one of Mrs. King's sons, owing to the vile language he had been in the habit of using, and also because he had got behind with his board bill. He then went to live with his mother, a Mrs. Perkins of this town, later going to his grandmother's in Oil Springs, leaving there to attend camp in Goderich. Upon his return from camp he called at the King house and asked to see Mrs. King, of whom, notwithstanding the fact that she was over twice his age, he was enamored. He was met at the door by a daughter of the murdered woman, who informed him that her mother was out of the house. He did not say anything at the time, but went away quietly, only to return this morning about 11:30 o'clock. He entered the house, which has a front and side door with a veranda running on the side across the front at the side entrance, without knocking, and found the family preparing dinner, and the room at the time were the victim and her daughter Florence, a child of fourteen years, and a married daughter, a Mrs. Hollifield. The latter being nearest to him asked "What do you want?"

"You stand back," he replied, and immediately pulling a twenty-two calibre rifle out of one of his pant legs, aimed it at Mrs. Hollifield, who dropped to the floor to avoid the shot which struck little Florence in the wrist just at the pulse.

The child screamed and ran out of the house, followed by the sister and mother, the mother turning to the right the other two to the left screaming for help.

Shot Twice

The frantic mother ran down the veranda, followed by the enraged man and attempted to make for the side door, but was shot in the left side twice before she reached the door, the shots being only a few inches apart. In her agony and excitement the terrified woman dashed against the door and fell to the floor of the veranda. At this moment a man named Macdonald, a clerk in the postoffice, passed on his way to dinner, and seeing Moore with a rifle, pointed at the prostrate form, shouted to him, asking him what he was doing. For answer he fired the rifle, shot into the woman, while Macdonald ran to telephone for a doctor.

The murderer then threw down the gun and walked into the arms of Policeman Whitlock, who had come up, and was taken to No. 2 police station, being transferred to No. 1 by an ambulance half hour later. Here he showed symptoms of opium poisoning. Dr. Danfield was hurriedly called and washed out the man's stomach and used antidotes to prevent the opium from having a fatal effect. There are hopes of his recovery. Yesterday the murderer procured a one ounce bottle of laudanum at Dale's drug store, and had apparently taken it before he went to the victim's house. The bottle was afterwards picked up by G. F. Pitkin.

The woman was taken into the house with blood streaming from her wounds, and died in her daughter's arms five minutes later. Florence was taken to the Charlotte Eleanor Englehart Hospital, and is in a very weak condition, owing to loss of blood. Unless complications set in she will recover.

The murdered woman, who was 42 years old, came to Petrolia from a small town a half ago, from Gladwin, Mich. Prior to living in Gladwin, the family lived for a time in Owen Sound, and then in Sarnia. She and her husband had not been living together owing to some domestic difficulty, but the family, which consisted of three boys, a sailor in Montreal, Harry and Sandy in Petrolia, and two girls, Florence, Lizzie and Mrs. Hollifield, also of Petrolia.

"I can't understand why I would do such a thing," said Mrs. Hollifield, "Poor mother never did anything to her. He appeared to be fond of her and I believe it was a case of jealousy. About two or three months ago he asked mother to marry him, but she refused saying that she had been married once and she was not going to marry again even if she could. He did not say much at the time, but today's sequel explains his silence."

About Moore not much is known. He came to Petrolia last fall from Oil Springs and secured a position in the wagon works. Only a few weeks ago the gas exploded, burning him severely about the head. He was taken to the hospital and since resuming his work his fellow workmen say that he has been acting strangely. Only on Sunday night last Moore attended a Salvation Army meeting and seemed to be greatly impressed.

In the hot cell at the police station the prisoner is in a dazed condition, and seems to feel his position keenly.

"Oh, it's awful it's awful," he kept moaning, "I never thought I would come to this. I've worried; oh, I've worried; oh, why did I do it? I was driven to it."

Daily Hints For the Cook

POTATO RIBBONS.

This is a pleasing variation from the popular potato chips. Peel the potatoes, then peel the potato itself, round and round, in very thin shavings or ribbons dropping them as cut into ice water. Let stand an hour, drain and dry in a clean cloth, then fry in a deep hot fat. Drain on a sieve, sprinkle over with fine salt and serve hot.

CREAMED NEW POTATOES.

An excellent way to cook new potatoes is to wash and scrape clean, then drop into boiling water and cook rapidly until tender. Have ready cream and butter hot, but not boiling, drain the potatoes, sprinkle with salt and transfer to a hot vegetable dish. Pour over them the hot cream, sprinkle with a little minced parsley and serve.

Many a rich man makes a poor husband.
