TAKE 50 IN UNIFORM IN BIG RESORT RAID

Police Make Sunday Morning Descent Upon Cafes in Upper Broadway

Instigated in Washington — Army and Navy May Take Drastic Action Unless City is Cleaned up-Many Women Detained

New York Times.)

Betyeen fifty and sixty soldiers and sailors, under the influence of liquor, were found in the company of women, most of whom had been arrested several times, according to District Attorney Swann, who supervised a raid by police detectives yesterday morning, between two and four o'clock, upon nearly a score of all night restaurants and clubs, between Forty-fourth and Fifty-fourth street and Sixth and Seventh Avenues.

While this raid was going on Army Intelligence officers were making a careful survey of the same territory, and some of the intoxicated men in uniform, found by the District Attorney's raiders, were turned over to them. The purpose of the investigation by the army officers, it was stated, was largely for the purpose of reporting to Washington on moral conditions in New York City, which had caused dissatisfaction in the Army and Navy Departments recently, according to dispatches from Washington.

District Attorney Swann said the raids carried out by members of his staff, in co-operation with the police, were undertaken largely at the instigation or army officers, who reported to him that they needed help in preventing the sale or presentation of liquor and drugs to soldiers and sailors. It was reported last night that unless drastic action is taken by the New York authorities to suppress vice and the sale of liquor to men in uniform the War and Navy Departments when interest themselves energetically in the situation. When asked last night if it had been intimated to him that drastic action would be taken by the government unless the New York authorities succeeded in bringing about satisfactory conditions promptly, Judge Swann refused to answer.

The raid was the most thoroughgoing which has ever taken place in this sec-answer.

The raid was the most thoroughgoing which has ever taken place in this section. During two hours, in which raiding parties of detectives were sent into one restaurant and club after another, a total of more than 100 prisoners were gathered up and taken to police stations, where thirty-three were finally held as prisoners.

prisoners.

The first places entered were cafes in which, according to Assistant District Attorney James E. Smith, the murder of Harry Cohen, alias "Harry the Yot," who was killed last Monday morning, was planned, and an alibi for Morris Rothenberg, the alleged murderer, was composed and rehearsed by several witnesses who have appeared in favor of Rothenberg.

Rothenberg.

The first place raided was Marshall Sofield's at Forty-eighth street and Seventh Avenue, where Rothenberg and Joseph Galupo, Jr., who is also under arrest in connection with the Cohen murder, questioned. The next place raided was the St. Regis Cafe in West Forty-seventh street, not far from Broadway, where, among those arrested were four men whom the police say had records as "hold-up men" and "confidence men."

The next visit was to Wolpin's cafe, a large restaurant at Forty-seventh street and Broadway, where more than 800 persons were present when the police entered. The detectives picked out fifteen men and women, most of whom had been identified as old offenders, and took them to police stations.

By that time swarms of men and wo-men from neighboring cafes had gather-most of those taken into custody.

They were told that, in that case, they would be released, provided they showed their cards proving that they had registered for the draft. Not one of the men arrested was able to do this, and their failure put the right of the police the arrest them beyond question.

Only one army officer in uniform was found during the raids, and he was sober. He protested indignantly when he and his woman companion were prevented from leaving. One of the detectives told him they wanted to know a little more about the woman he was little more about the woman he was with first.

Police Inspectation of the raids:

"I believe that this will have a great moral effect. This element must get out of the city. Undoubtedly many quite innocent persons were embarrassed by these raids, but a lesson of this kind is not amiss to them when they are out between two and four o'clock in the morning in very shady places. It will teach them not to be out in the early hours."

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, common liquid arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need), apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dis-

District Attorney Swann said yesterday that the thirty-three prisoners would be questioned today at his office.

"Some of them know a good deal about the Cohen murder," he said. "Others can tell us about gambling. Others will have to testify about the selling of liquor to men in uniform. Evidence of this kind will be turned over to the federal district attorney and to the Army Intel-
