savages, cuts the captive's cords and bears him away before the wondering Indians have recovered from their astonishment? That's the information I'm after. I want to know if that sort of thing is perpetrated here!" and she swung the umbrella around her head.

"I don't remember these specific acts," protested the young man.

"I want to know if this is the precinct where the adventurous boy jumps on the back of a buffalo and with unerring aim picks off one by one the blood-thirsty pursuers who bite the dust at every crack of his faithful rifle! I'm looking for the place where that sort of thing happens!" and this time she brought the unlucky young man a tremendous whack across the back.

"I think—!" commenced the dodging victim.

"I'm in search of the shop in which the boy road agent holds the quivering stage driver powerless with his glittering eye, while he robs the male passengers with an adroitness born of long and tried experience, and kisses the hands of the lady passengers with a gallantry of bearing that bespeaks noble birth and a chivalrous nature!" screamed the woman, driving the young man into the corner. "I'm looking for the apartment in which that business is transacted!" and down came the umbrella with trin-hammer force on the working of his served and after the working of his served and after the working of his served and after the working of his served and reflection. Take the beam out of your own eye, first, etc. Why. Dr. Clark, do you think for one moment that I, a young lady, would take such insolence from you or any other man, and not murmur? No, indeed, I could not. I would not give much for a lady who had not a temper, I mean enough to fight her own way through this world. Your letters I will keep till I have no further use for them and they have served my purpose, but you can have your ring when you return me mine at my own home.
