those expressed by Col. Denison in this city. Sir Charles said:

The imposition of a dety of five shillings a quarter would be quite sufficient to determine in the minds of prospective settlers on which side of the boundry they would prefer to live. The Canadian northwest is the real wheat belt of the country, and I feel confident that the establishment of preferential trade would result in the immigration to Manitoba and the northwest of hundreds of thousands of farmers from the British Isles and Europe. Canadian industries and manufacturers would receive a tremendous impetus under this policy, and the mother country would be greatly strengthened for the development of her outlying colonies. It Canada, with a population of five millions, can furnish England with 3,000 troops, what would she be able to do if, her population were doubled or trebled? Now that the chancellor of the exchequer has been brought face to face with the additional expressed, but the feeling is that it must not be brought about by additional taxation of the people. It is generally recognized that the area of taxation must be widened. This could be attained by the imposition of a tax upon the products of foreign countries, and at the same time the establishment of reciprocal trade relations with colonies could most successfully be established, and foreign countries and at the same time the establishment of reciprocal trade relations with colonies could most successfully be established, and foreign countries and at the same time the establishment of reciprocal trade relations with colonies could most successfully be established, and foreign countries and at the same time the establishment of reciprocal trade relations with colonies could most successfully be established, and foreign countries and at the same time the establishment of reciprocal trade relations with colonies could most successfully be established, and foreign countries and at the same time the establishment of reciprocal trade relations with colonies could most successfully

THE ZONE SYSTEM.

A cable announces that the zone tarff system will be introduced on the state railways of Sweden. The system is thus described:—

The "zone tariff" system was first put in operation on the state railways of Hungary in 1889, and has proved a complete success. From Budapest, as a centre, fourteen zones are described, the first having a radius of about fifteen mites, and the others being of corresponding width. For any point in each of these zones the fare is the same, the rates thus arranged being greatly reduced from the former rates, in several cases one-half, and in others even much more, the average reduction being not far from two-thirds. The annual number of persons travelling by rail has increased several times over under this system. Tickets are sold to workingmen at so cheap a rate that it is readily feasible for them to move at once to any point in Hungary where their labor is needed.

submit to popular vote an amendment to the constitution providing that "the entire educational fund of the state shall be divided between the negroes and whites for educational purposes in exact proportion to the amount of taxes paid by each." If such a proposition were adopted, says an American paper, less than one-tenth of the appropriations for public education would go to the support of colored schools, although two-fifths of the population of Georgia are solored. This is a remarkable scheme for the uplifting of the negro. The legislature will no doubt reject it. to the constitution providing that "the

The crop in the terristics is also a record breaker.

A statement just prepared by the Ontario director of surveys and issued by the department of crown lands, shows that out of the total estimated area of the province of 126,000,000 acres there are no less than 85,883,925 acres still unsurveyed. In other words, of the total area 33 per cent. is surveyed and 67 per cent. unsurveyed.
