It has been stated that some persons are getting ready to oppose the Navy Island bridge project and the success of the scheme will only be attended by the exercise of much care. It is expected that definite information as to details and costs of the undertaking will be in the hands of the committee in a very few weeks. Engineer Holt is now busily engaged in preparing the plans, while estimates of the draw and superstructure are in course of preparation by a number of well known bridge building firms. 16-17.

The second game was even a greater surprise than the first At the end of half time the Mission team were twelve points ahead of the St. Stephen Tigers and it proved too great a handicap, the Mission finally winning out, 19-17.

The St. Joseph's University and U. N. B. sevens are endeavoring to have the Queen's rink here for February fifteenth. Should arrangements with the management be completed the match will undoubtedly be a fine exhibition of hockey, and St. John enthusiasts would be delighted to see both teams. A gentleman visitor to the Queen's rink last evening remarked to The Sun that St. John had the material for a cracker jack team providing they would get down to practice. He was much disgusted though when he visited the rink on a practice night and found but few players. He stated that if the boys didn't practice they could not play fast hockey.

The bean supper and concert in the Every Day Club last evening was very enjoyable. At a meeting of the Treasury Board held last night it was decided to exempt from taxation in future incomes of $300 and less. Subsequently it was resolved to permit anyone affected by the provision to exercise the franchise on application for assessment of $300.

The change proposed als material one, involving almost fifty per cent of the income ratepayers of the city.

It was decided upon only after a lengthy and lively debate, in which all the members of the board took

Ald. McGoldrick thought that the Ald. McGoldrick thought that the poor man would object to being entirely relieved of taxes. He had never asked for that and would relinquish his franchise with no little comcern.

Ald. Baskin thought that the franchise was the most sacred thing possessed by man. To make its exercise obtainable without cost would tend to lower this sacredness.

Ald. Kelley characterized the suggestion of disfranchisement as rot. The discussion so far had been nothing more than a play to the gallery.
