

We really feel sorry for our contemporaries appear to be laboring of the remaining of God's gifts with their hands, while you grow tired to toil for the distance according to the laws of nature power, and like the candle to my eye, who really does his duty, we would consider them, they are only the children of the God, and the God's gifts are given to us for we have had no time to consider, they will come.

A BUSINESS SKETCH OF A BUSINESS MAN.

We copy the following sketch of the life of a very extraordinary man, from an editorial in New York Sun—

"As an illustration of business, fact, and talent, we may point to the career of Professor Horatio Nelson Chapman, the proprietor of the most popular medicines of the age. The rise and progress of this extraordinary man have had no parallel during the present century."

Chapman, and obtained permission for the sale of his preparations from most of the crowned heads of the Old World. The queen of Spain and Portugal, the king of Naples and Sicily, granted him audiences; and Petersburgh, which day he visited a short time before the commencement of the war, he was received with marked consideration by the ladies' household.

The first premium, $500, was awarded to Helen Elshoff, of Easton, Pa., four years and 6 months old, and weighing seventy-eight pounds.

He has now a large number of subscribers, whose professional riders from Philadelphia and Boston who figure conspicuously.

The first premium was awarded to Miss Mary E. Abbott, of Worcester, Mass., second daughter of Senator Abbott, who died at Mrs. Jonathan of Worcester Square.

There were about 30,000 persons in attendance, to witness the ladies' horsemanship.

Montgomery.—The following is from the Lancaster Times, records of business transactions during the recent sales there which could not be surpassed by the wildest exaggeration.

"A woman who attempted to sue her husband for the division of their estate, the woman first, one who was dying with a young infant in her arms, was followed by a host of women, who carried up and down the streets of this city, calling out 'We want our husbands back again.'

The number of subscribers to his medicine has increased every day, and the price of his medicines have been reduced to the same proportion.

He has added more, and the fact that he can maintain his high position, proves that his medicines have an intrinsic value, which the world understand and appreciate.

The sum expended in advertising by professor Horatio Nelson would be sufficient if they were not authenticated by his books. His payments to the press range from $100,000 to $200,000 per annum.

There is no printed language in which his advertisements do not appear.

The ramifications of his business extend from the local post to his vast establishment in New Strand, London—over the width of the earth.

"This extraordinary man is now in this country in this city. The Tribune, in a just tribute to his wonderful enterprises, thus having, like Alexander, subdued the Old World, he is now preparing to conquer the New.

Professor Horatio Nelson has not been tempted further by a thirst for gold—for his wealth is sufficient to satisfy the most ardent worshippers of mammon—but by a philanthropic desire to extend the benefits of his medicines among a people whom he admires.

In a short period, the American population by far the greatest in the world, will rival those of Europe.

To ascertain this probability, let us add that the fees taken, was an average—
