ST. JOHN, N. B. SATURDAY, JANUARY 25, 1902.

Y AND SEAMY SIDE OF LIFE IN ST.

seding to the opinion of one Rowson, St. John is the abode of sin, use his own words, 'the nursery of 'Rev. George A. Sellar at the nary church last Sunday morning of debasing influences upon society rejessing Christians of the dance, the ad professing Christians of the dance, the seater, the gaming saloon and resorts, f unquestionable respectability. Strong rink, he urged, had wrought its fata work amongst generations of our young manhood. From it they had graduated to the abedes of vice in billiard hall and hrothel. According to the Telegraph, fair. Sellar said intemperance and sinful resorts had exercised their destroying power, which knowledge was grevious enough to know, but even more vile was the realization that thousands who considered themselves as examples of Christian manhood and womanhood, were being drawn steadily away from the church drawn steadily away from the church through the toibles of so-called innocent nusements. It was in the apparent sim-licity of the dance that its principal dan-ar lurked. It was in the brightness, the ghtsome vivacity, and sparking cination of the opera or play wherein the presence of evil was so successfully cloaked that the real danger lay. They are all,' coucluded Mr. Sellar, 'but nurseries of Satan; traps of sin."

These are strong words coming from a sinister of the gospel and certainly contain an arraignment against the citizens of moral St. John.

The newspaper scribes of the city had themselves billed for a drive out to mine host Newcomes to day. The weather clerk intervened, however, and the drive did not materialize. It was a good thing for "Billy" that the spread did not take place as he would have been minus his Sunday dinner, the proverbial reporters appetite, liquid and solid, is known to

There was a hot time in the old town on Monday night when the colored brethren got-real mad in St. Phillip's church building. The scene was probably the most exciting of the kind ever held in St. John.

Visions of razors, etc.

The meeting was called by C. E. Brackett, Philip Bushian, I. T. Richardson and John Jackson, trustees of the Ferrie fund, they desiring to render an account of their stewardship to the people of the church.

The meeting opened with John Jackson The meeting opened with John Jackson in the chair and a crowd in attendance that was limited only by the capacity of the room. Instead of being in the lower portion of the building, which is used for the devotional services of the congregation, the meeting took place in the upper This ended the proceedings and a few for a few of those most directly interested that was as loud in its reports as the shells that flew at the Relief of Mafeking. We was a thing of the past, was a thing of the past, and expenditures and contended that the board last reported 18 months ago instead of even pears as had been stated by the of seven years as had been stated by the other party. Helpad wouchers for all the other party. Helpad venchers for all the expenditures made and also had a report from W. C. Simpson as auditor who certified that the accounts were correct.

Just before the statement was finished, Philip; Bushfan arrived and took the chair, Mr. Jackson resigning in his favor.

Mr. Jackson resigning in his favor.

R. H. McIntyre and Rev. Mr. Morley were the principal agents of the people of the church. Mr. McIntyre stated that the accounts should be sudited by an anditor of their own choosing and moved that the meeting elect three men, they to select an anditor and have the accounts gone over at once, lMr. Bublian states the accounts were already audited, but this did not auit Mr. McIntyre, who pressed his motion, which was seconded by Rev. Mr. Morley. When the motion was put the chairman asked that the meeting express its approval or disapproval in the usual manner, vis. aye or nay; but such a pandemonium was mained that this plan was found inappropriate and a show of hands was called for.

to be on the sate side elevated both to an altitude limited by length of arm. only. Then Mr. Melntyre started to count and count he did at a rate which would have done credit to a lightning calculator. Fast as his lips could frame the figures, he announced them to the audience—one, two; three and so on up to 70; then he stepped for hegath.

There was considerable difficulty in geting a vote as the whole meeting was in an uprear and the chairman, or any one else uprear and the chairman, or any one else for that matter, could not make himself heard. There was crimination and recrimination. "Why can't you keep quiet?" said one of the present trustees. "We can't make your gang shut off!" was the response from one of the other faction.

Rev. Mr. Morley then appealed to the meeting to keep some semblance of order. They should respect the rules of decement

They should respect the rules of decency and decorous behavior.
"You can't run us all" said a voice from the back of the room and so the conflict waged.

Finally when, as stated, the vote was counted and the result announced, both sides let loose, the supporters of Mr. Mc-Intyre's motion in shouts of acclamation and the opponents in as vigorous denun-

Both sides claimed the victory and how the affair would have ended would be interesting, but just here an interruption occurred which changed the tener of

Down lin the centre of the room were two ardent [church attendants of the male ersussion and the sister of one of them. Carried away by the excitement and the general exhaberant environments the roman in the case commenced to express her views in a manner by no means sotto

'Hold your jaw,' said one of the men. Then the weman's brother rose to the ponent hold his jaw.'

He was just preparing to give an unsolicited exhibition of his ability in the hand out line, but friends interfered and the contestants merely glared at each other encouraged by cheers, hisses, admonitions of 'soak him Billy,' and other remarks which would have been in better taste in the squared circle than in the circle of the church. The dispute, small as it was, sufficed to remove any chance which might have existed of getting the gathering into order. It was bedlam broken loose and after a vain effort had been made to restore quiet Deputy Chief Jenkins, with

Finally, those departed and the meeting was a thing of the past.

Each party is inclined to blame the other for the manner in which the meeting ended, Just what will be done now is a matter of conjecture as Mesers. Brackett and Richardson state that their board is and Richardson state that their board is not affected by the election of church trustees. They are still the trustees of the Ferrie fund and as such will continue to exercise their functions. They will not deliver any books or accountings to the other party beyond the statement sub-mitted at last evening's meeting.

Dr. A. B. Welker, the colored legal luminary, came out in the papers and deprecated the whole affair, describing it as a regular 'Jim Crow' affair, etc. Dr. Walker did not like the idea of Lawyer John Korr being present at the secting in the capacity of a paid comment. The whole matter seemed of a sharp nature.

All is not harmony at present in police circles. There are many svils existing in that happy home on King street east. The police, the beach and the jail authorities are a three-cornered combination that fail to werk. One of the grisvances which the public is called upon to winess is that prisoners arrested on Baturday by the istrate for disposal. This arrang convenience. Even though persons hap pen to be drunk, it seems hardly fair to leave them for almost two days in a dingy underground cell in the basement of the police court, where there are no convennces for eating or anything else.

That the city has a great big elephant on its hands is smply demonstrated by the sore way in which the ambulance has been

There have been several calls for the ambulance since the deadlook about its "keep" set in, and in every case a coach was forced into service, Mr. Hamm adhering to his decision in having nothing further to do with the Red Cross vehicle. Such a sta e of affairs, citizens claim should not exist. At Sand Point accident of a serious nature are happening every few days, and a coach, with its limited capacity, is not a fit conveyance for a broken limbed or badly shaken up sufferer. A few weeks ago a man was conveyed from Carleton to Lom-bard street in a coach, suffering untold agony on the way home in his cramped-up quarters. Boards were put crossways from seat to seat, but still be was not in the proper position for one burt as he was. If the unfortunate man Howard, had been badly broken up, instead of killed instan ly, what sort of a conveyance would a coach have been for him? The ambulance is on e of the best in Canada and few in the States excel it. It was the city no-thing to build it, and during its few years in town has done untold good. It is now out of service because the city cannot find occasion and announced his ability to housing for it. Practical taxpayers say hand one out that would make the op the natural remedy for the present trouble is a house built specially for the vehicle.

> Coasting, that good old sport, is all the age at preent and is not a lost art by any nesns. During the past few nights the poonlight and the favorable condition of the hills continued to bring many out. Last night, Cliff street, Carmarthen street, Wentworth street and the ever popular Coun. Lowell again asked the name or every delinquent was on the list.

Coun. J. R. Armstrong stated that many delinquents were able and willing to pay it called on to do so. He instanced the case of one man who had never received a bill for his taxes and consequently did not know how far he was in arrears.

Coun. Lowell sgain arose to attack the auditor and said he objected to any officer of the municipality bringing out the names of individuals as delinquents. It was a high-handed piece of business and if the auditor would busy himself as much about the city in debtedness as about the county he would find the burden would be shifted.

he would find the burden would be shifted.

Coun. Christie rose to a point of order, claiming Coun. Lowell should not attack an efficer of the council in an open meeting where the officer could not reply. Any grievance should go before a committee rather than be ventilated in open council.

nunicipality was to be raised by Coun. Obristic. It so it was unfair, and he would not olerate it any longer.

The warden upheld Coun. Christie's point of order and stated that he must rule against Coun. Lowell.

Coun. Lowell again asserted that it was lost to check the country of th unjust to single out certain men and hold them up as delinquents. It was one of the meanest most contemptible things he had seen in his six years at the board.

the remark with a snsp of the fingers. "I have my duty to perform here and am not to be burked by him. If he is as interest. ed as he seems he can tell on me and I'll tell him who the delinquents are. He needs not threaten the auditor for that gentleman is in no danger of losing his office because he has acted honestly. I intend to see that the people of the parishes pay their taxes as well as those in the city. There should be no such arrearage. Any gentleman who can take European tours can pay his taxes."

Coun. Lowell—'Who do you mean?'
Coun. Christie—'I'm not such a fool as to be caught by you.

Coun. Baxter thought the remuneration was too small and though the council

Coun. McGolderick strongly censure the board of health for not paying Dr. Morris a larger salary. He thought they should resign as soon as they had settled with the doctor, for that gentleman was not fairly treated.

Coun. Millidge thought both Drs. Ellis and Morris should have been paid at least $10 per day each.

Two Hebrews and an auctioneer, turnished some little amusement at the city court this week. There was a long seasion on Thursday, there being several the docket. The session was continued up to ten o'clock at night. It is seldom a night session is necessary. One of the cases caused some amusement. It was an action by a firm of Hebrews, Hervard & action by a firm of Hebrews, Hervand & Levy, against Dennis Burke, auctioneer. The plaintifis swore that they had purchased a deak at Mr. Burke's auction room and had paid for it, but when they went [next day to take it away, Mr. Burke prevented them and ejected them from the shop. Mr. Burke swore that it was not a desk they purchased at all, but a bed, and that he prevented them from taking away a deak that did not belong to them. There was evidently a misunder standing, and the judge advised Mr. Burke to refund the money paid him.
