Big Building Boom Blossoms

A major expansion program is progressing rapidly on the University of Alberta campus in Edmonton. Work on the education building is ahead of schedule and construction has started on a number of other buildings.

The education building is more than 40 per cent completed and is expected to be ready for use next September. The $4,000,000 building will be 10 storeys high, with two four-storey wings.

Work began early this month on two 11-storey Y-shaped residences west of the Jubilee Auditorium. They will provide accommodation for 600 men and 600 women, at a cost of $6,000,000.

A related food services building is also under construction.

Construction also began this summer on a $2,500,000 library and a $1,000,000 addition to the nuclear research centre.

The five-storey library for advanced studies and research will accommodate graduate students and will provide a total floor space of 100,000 square feet.

An armed services building costing about $150,000 dollars will be built to house the three military units on campus. They are presently housed in the old print shop building.

Council Asks Advice

Council is seeking expert advice on its proposed expansion of SUB. Iain MacDonlad, secretary-treasurer of the Students' Union, last week consulted several people in the Eastern United States who are regarded as experts in the field of con- tion on the building of Student Union Buildings.

MacDonald visited the Association of College Unions in New York at Cornell University and Stanford University in California. Cornell has on file a considerable amount of information on the building of Union Buildings.

MacDonald hopes to gain an insight into the problems of such expansions, and the solutions that have been discovered. In addition, he is particularly concerned with discovering mistakes that have been made.

Between seven and eight thousand dollars will be saved on the printing of yearbooks this year. The contract for the printing of the yearbooks has been awarded to Intercollegiate Press (Canada) Ltd., of Winnipeg.

The company specializes in the printing of yearbooks, and has printed all high school and university yearbooks in Western Canada, excluding Alberta.

Since the yearbooks will be printed in Winnipeg, tighter deadlines will be required. The company will have a permanent man in Edmonton.

The Alberta winter inspired Council to approve the installation of a porch in SUB. The front doors were moved out, and new doors were installed by Prism Construction.

Council is also considering the installation of glass panels in the outer doors.

WELCOMING freshmen with a merry smile, two Wauneitians wipe dishes at the parent-freshman tea Sunday afternoon. Unfortunately, they report, about 1,000 cups of tea were served.

Daddy Jenkins Welcomes Frosh

Welcome to one of the finest universities in the world.

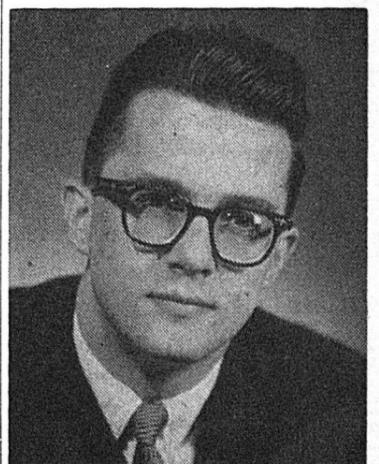

During this week you'll be thumped around like you're one of a cast of thousands in a movie re-enactment of the Riel Rebellion. Don't let it bother you, as in a few days you should be able to get your bearings (unless you're like the fluffy little thing last term who claimed she didn't find the Rutherford Library until Christmas in her second year).

Make no mistake about it. Your primary task here is to study. Only by honest, diligent work will you be able to prepare yourself for the heavy responsibility that society places upon the educated person today.

Studies are not everything, however. The student who passes through university without taking part in extra-curricular activities emerges only partly educated. He is an incomplete person, who may never adjust to normal life.

We students—you and I—are fortunate in that student government here is independent to a degree admired by other universities. Yet at the same time an atmosphere of full co-operation and mutual interest exists between the university administration and the students.

On behalf of the Students' Union and Students' Council, I bid you a warm welcome, and wish you every success in your endeavors at the U of A.

Thou Art Our Hope

Huddled in blissful rejection in an upper corner of SUB is a collection of elite offering the guidance of their superior minds to such apathetically accepted gangs as Gold Key Society, Jenkins' Janitors and the Alberta Chapter of the Bomb the Banners Clique. Twice weekly this unique gathering pools its collective neuroses to offer weak, old news, dictate standards and opinions, give life to dead issues and in general well waste Students' Union finances.

Be you pacifist, anarchist, Christian, atheist or merely glazed-eyed frosh with deviant tendencies, The Gateway will make room for you on its masthead. While the ability to write or work is an asset, such is not a prerequisite; some of our better editors never allow themselves to become so limited.

Each September The Gateway, its numbers thinned by old age, flunk-outs, deaths, births, and early graduations, issues a challenge to all students to enter their ivory tower. Be you void of social and moral conscience without fear of ostracism, or desirous of learning a little journalism, The Gateway dares you to come to introduction night Wednesday, September 26, west end, third floor Students' Union Building. Aged gaffers holding over from past years will be on hand to answer questions. The dashing editor-in-chief will be present and has indicated he will try to be civil. Members of photo directorate will talk with students interested in photography for both The Gateway and the Evergreen and Gold.

Needed are sports, news, fine arts and feature writers, copy-readers, make-up staff, proof-readers, aspiring editors and a thinker.

Again this year, proof-readers will be PAID. Proofing will be done Monday and either Wednesday or Thursday afternoons. Applicants are expected to be intelligent, and must know how to read and/or write.

REMEMBER

Classes begin 8 a.m. Friday. This is half an hour earlier than last year's starting time.
