Saves time, because it makes ironing easier. Saves linen, because it gives a better gloss with half the iron-rubbing. Saves bother, because it needs no cooking, just cold water. And it CAN'T stick. Buy it by name. Saves Plenty

The Algerian coral reefs are divided into ten portions, of which one only is finished yearly. Ten years is the time for the proper growth of coral.

A Liniment for the Logger.—Loggers lead a life which exposes them to many perils. Wounds, cuts and bruises cannot be altogether avoided in preparing lumber for the drive and in river work, where wet and cold combined are of daily experience, coughs and colds and muscular pains cannot but ensue. Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, when applied to the injured or administered to the ailing, works wonders.

Very many persons die annually from cholera and kindred summer complaints, who might have been saved if proper remedies had been used. If attacked do not delay in getting a bottle of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial, the medicine that never fails to effect a cure. Those who have used it say it acts promptly, and thoroughly subdues the pain and disease.

Teacher: "Now, Freddie, it's very wrong of you to quarrel with Billy Jones and to harbor such revengeful feelings against him. Come, now, promise me that when you meet Billy tonight you'll forgive him." Freddie: "Well, when I meet Billy to-night, if his big brother is with him I'll forgive him; but, if not, I'll nearly wallop the life out of him."

Not a Nauseating Pill.—The expient of a pill is the substance which enfolds the ingredients and makes up the pill mass. That of Parmelee's Vegetable Pills is so compounded as to preserve their moisture, and they can be carried into any latitude without impairing their strength. Many pills, in order to keep them from adhering, are rolled in powders, which prove nauseating to the taste. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills are so prepared that they are agreeable to the most delicate.

THE CHAPEL OF BONES.

(By a Banker).

One of the most valued gems of the British crown, and one of the most impregnable outposts of her massive power, is the insignificant island of Malta. Although but a mere speck in the ocean, yet within her borders are clustered innumerable objects of notable interest, whether to the antiquarian, the historian, or the lover of the beautiful in art or in nature. Here are some of the finest tapestries in the world; here, in the palace of the Knights of St. John of Jerusalem, is probably the most magnificent collection of armour existing; armour worn by those valiant crusaders who for nearly a hundred years held the Holy City against all the attacks of the Saracens; gilded and embazoned armor worn by dauntless knights in many a stately pageant or brilliant joust or tourney; or the less enriched morion or casque or vizor which took its place when the more romantic age of chivalry had passed away, and was succeeded by a more grim and serious warfare. Or here gorgeously decorated cathedrals, or beautiful subtropical gardens, or natural parterres of brilliant nature-cultivated flowers glowing in many-hued splendor. And then, too, there are the Catacombs, almost exactly similar to those of Rome, although of less size, with many another striking object of great and exceptional interest.

But the strangest sight of all is undoubtedly one of the churches, which, decorated from floor to ceiling with skulls and dead men's bones, present a spectacle weird and ghastly beyond expression. At the entrance to the chancel stand two partly draped skeletons, grasping a scythe to typify Time; the alcoves on which they stand being decorated with, apparently, rib and wrist-bones, arranged in an artistic design, which, though on close approach grisly and unutterably gruesome, from a distance is really handsome and attractive. Round all the walls are arranged lines of skulls, the intervening spaces being filled in with geometric designs formed of every bone of the human body; the wide arches are bedizened with an arabesque design of thigh and other smaller bones, and even the altar itself is decorated with various bones, the reredos being a ghastly work of art in a floral design surmounted with a sort of crown of glory of finger bones, flanked by two large flowers made of shoulder blades.

As there are no seats in the church it is to be hoped that no services are held there. Surely if would have been better to have allowed these relics of poor humanity to rest in their tombs until at the sound of the Archangel's trump they all rise again to life. And then will the angels separate them into two classes those who have lived the life of the righteous, and whose sins are blotted out of the record by faith in the atonement made for them by the Redeemer; and those who, alas, have forgotten their God!

A story is told of a man who was walking beside a railway line with a friend who was very hard of hearing. A train was approaching, and as it rounded the curve the whistle gave one of those ear-destroying shrieks which seem to pierce high heaven. A smile broke over the deaf man's face. "John," said he, "that's the first robin I've heard since Christmas!"

How to Cleanse the System. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills are the result of scientific study of the effects of extracts of certain roots and herbs upon the digestive organs. Their use has demonstrated in many instances that they regulate the action of the liver and the kidneys, purify the blood, and carry off all morbid accumulations from the system. They are easy to take, and their action is mild and beneficial.

CUT YEARS OFF WOMEN'S AGES.

Scheme of German Doctor More Successful Than Satisfactory.

The British Medical Journal of a recent date, tells this story: A German doctor discovered a means of restoring lost youth to women which is more potent than Cagliostro's famous pentacle rejuvenescence and advertised that he could in two days rejuvenate the most decrepit hag. This brought a crowd of ancient dames to his home. At the first interview after a careful ascultation he invited each patient to write her surname and Christian name and age on a piece of paper. The ages to which the women pleaded guilty varied, but all ruled high. The doctor undertook to give each patient the promised elixir the next day, but some time, he said was required to adjust the strength to the individual power of resistance.

On the appointed day the women called again, but the doctor expressed regret that he had unfortunately mislaid the papers containing their ages. For this reason a new set would be required. He added casually that they ought to know that the oldest of them must allow herself to be burned for the good of the rest, as the basis for the remedy was human ash.

The next day the women brought back papers with their ages inscribed. It was found that each had taken many years off the age previously admitted. The doctor, pretending to have found the first papers called them to witness the success of his invention. Comparing the lists, he showed that he had kept his word in regard to rejuvenation, because in forty-eight hours they had all become many years younger.
