He got off the boat again and heaved a sigh of relief, but his feeling of serenity did not last long. As he was walking from the sheds speaking to Mrs. Lowther and one of his party, a dock official none too gently caught Mrs. Lowther's arm and informed her that she could not pass. BRANTFORD, May 20-Geo. Bygraves and Harland Harper were killed, and Herbert Bygraves, nephew of the first named, when their automobile jumped a bridge on the Cockshutt Road near Burtch's Corners, sometime after eight o'clock last night.

Not until daylight enabled the people to see them lying in a ravine at six o'clock this morning, was the accident known and not until then was Herbert Bygraves removed to a hospital suffering from his injuries and all night exposure. The party went out to bring in Mr. Bygrave's mother, who has been seriously ill. On the high level bridge the car swerved from the road and crashed through the railing, landing in the ravine about 70 feet below. The two were instantly killed. . Harland Harper was assist. ant to the President of the Ver-critical condition at the hospital here. Ernest Harper, a brother, when the party failed to return last night made a trip to Wilsonville, passing the place of the fatality without hearing
