The large gathering stood and all joined heartily in singing "O Canada" and "He's a Jolly Good Fellow". Although Mr. Foster's address was short it conveyed a great deal. Her only attendant was Mrs. Oliver Lodge, of Vancouver, who was gowned in rose brocade chiffon, also wearing a black picture hat and carrying a bouquet of pink carnations and maiden hair fern. The bride's mother was charmingly gowned in black satin and net relieved with ivory lace. The groom was supported by Mr. Douglas Wetmore, of Truro, N. S. C., where Mr. Blois is chief electrical engineer for the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company.

DIARY OF MARGARET D. MICHENER

April 10th, 1851. This has been a beautiful day; the sun shines brightly. Yesterday morning was very rainy, but it cleared away fine. Maria came in after school and stopped until meeting time. Mrs. T. Faulkner also called. Had prayer meeting, then inquiry, then preaching by Mr. Hurd, a young stranger from the Academy. He preached a beautiful sermon. He chained the attention of the congregation so not the least noise or motion was heard. He spoke of the suffering of our Saviour, and hard indeed must be that heart that would not feel any emotion. Jane Elder came down and stopped all night with me. I felt happy whilst I heard her engage in prayer; she said she felt it to be a cross, but she will feel a satisfaction in taking up her cross. I believe she is a sincere Christian and is only waiting for the moving of the waters that she may step in. We talked nearly all night, then arose early this morning and took a walk down to the beach, where we lingered a while and watched the sun rise; the tide being up, the scene was delightful. We felt much refreshed and did not envy our more dilatory neighbors. Mrs. Kendal Holmes had a son last night.

OLD AND NEW MINISTERS OF FINANCE

Hon. J. A. Robb, left, with Hon. W. S. Fielding, right, on the occasion of the presentation to Mr. Fielding of a bond of the 1923 issue (the last issued during his administration) and an address by the members of the Finance and Insurance departments of the government. Mr. Fielding has spent more than nineteen years in the office of Minister of Finance. This long term is said to be almost unprecedented in modern history.

11th. Went to meeting last night. Mr. Hurd preached again; he told of the many enticements to lead us from Christ, and of the many professors who went back and walked to more with him; he spoke of the love of Christ and how we should love him. I went up to father's and stayed all night. When I awoke this morning, the snow was flying merrily; it snowed till near school time.

12th. I took care of Mary's children last night so she could go to meeting. Mr. John Frost died last night. He took his last ride yesterday with Mr. Harris. He kept about till the last; they did not even have to watch with him one night. I thought, when I heard he had passed away, what a happy exchange; O, what a glorious thing to die a Christian; having our sins forgiven and the blessed hope of a glorious immortality beyond the grave.

13th. Very cold today. Went to conference yesterday afternoon; had a good congregation and there seemed to be new life infused into many. Mr. Churchill was there and spoke. I was very glad to hear him and sincerely hope our church may be again united in the bonds of love. I have felt a happiness in praying to God, and I could resist the spirit to sing no longer. With the dawning of this morning my heart and voice were attuned to praise God. As we were coming home from meeting last night, we saw Peter Shaw's shop in flames; the blaze poured from all parts and it was soon consumed. This is the second shop that has burned this winter.

CULLED POTATOES FOR FATTENING STEERS

Prince Edward Island increased its area of certified seed potatoes in 1924 to 9000 acres. The seed trade demands a certain type and weight of tuber and when the potatoes are graded there are considerable quantities of cull potatoes left with the grower. Some of these can be marketed as table stock, but most of them are available at small cost for feeding to live stock.

An experiment was started in the autumn of 1924 in feeding cull potatoes to fattening steers to determine if they could be used to replace roots in the ration and still produce beef profitably. Six lots of steers were purchased at $5.50 per cwt. They were run on grass, most of them dehorned and given a preliminary uniform feeding period up to December 19, when the test started. The cost of cattle, plus feed to that date, was $6.35 per cwt.

Three lots of steers, each were fed 25 pounds of cull potatoes per steer per day. The testing period lasted for 89 days until March 17, 1925. The estimated value of the potatoes was twice as much per pound as the turnips and the amount fed was just one half, so the estimated cost per steer was the same throughout the experiment for the roots and potatoes.

In order to feed a balanced ration and counteract the laxative effect of the potatoes, cotton seed meal was fed in the grain mixture, while oil cake meal was added to the grain fed with turnips. The cattle all ate heartily and remained healthy throughout the experiment. The amount of oats and meal fed was 6 pounds per steer per day at the beginning. This was gradually increased to 12 pounds per day at the close of the test.

At the commencement of the test the nutritive ratio for the ration containing turnips was 1:7.3 and for the ration containing potatoes it was 1:7.4, instead of 8, which was fed out straw for the ration for this pen was 1:8.6.

The steers fed turnips made an average gain of 151 pounds in the 89 days. Those fed cull potatoes made an average gain of 155 pounds in the same period.

The average cost per pound gain was 17 cents for those fed turnips and 20 cents per pound gain for those fed cull potatoes. The oil cake meal cost $58.00 per ton while the cotton seed meal cost $70.00 per ton; this gave a profit per steer fed turnips of $10.39 and a profit per steer fed cull potatoes of $8.94. A balance in favor of the turnips of 45 cents per steer.

When cull potatoes are available they may be used to advantage to replace turnips or other succulent forage crops provided the ration is balanced and the laxative tendency of the potatoes is counteracted by some other food in the ration.

THE BOY SCOUTS MAKE ANOTHER HIT

It is not possible to find a body of youths in the Province whose slogan of "Service" is more efficiently carried out in daily practice than that excellent organization The Boy Scouts. Moved by its previous experience of the reliability and promptness of the Boy Scouts in connection with the procuring of election returns from the booths in the cities and larger towns of the Province, the Maritime Telegraph & Telephone Company approached the leaders of the local companies in Halifax and Dartmouth, Sydney, New Glasgow, Antigonish, Canso, Truro, Glace Bay, Lunenburg, Parrsboro, Bridgewater, Wolfville and Yarmouth with a view to obtaining the services of the Boy Scouts in connection with the Federal Election returns in the places mentioned, and it was without a dissentient voice that the leaders of the companies concerned embraced the opportunity of rendering service, not only to their respective communities, but to the Province and to the Dominion at large.

The Telephone Company reports that the work done by the Boy Scouts was invaluable, and that it was largely due to the devotion to duty and intelligence of the Boy Scouts that returns were so promptly made available to the public.

Roth:—"I hear Sam Heath wrecked his auto down the Mill road last night. What was the cause of the accident?"

Graham:—"Chickens."

Roth:—"B'gosh there should be a law against letting chickens run in the road."

Graham:—"These chickens were in the car."
