

His Lordship Bishop Cameron Passes Away.

This morning the community was shocked as the news went round that His Lordship Bishop Cameron had passed away. It was known that, for some days past, he was not in his usual health, but no one suspected that the end was so near. Last evening, however, a sudden change for the worse came on; high fever set in; and a few hours afterwards, at half-past ten o'clock, he calmly breathed his last.

His Lordship was born at South River on February 16, 1826. Having received his early training in his native district and at the famous Grammar School at St. Andrew's, he was sent by Bishop McKinnon to the College of the Propaganda, which he entered on November 12, 1844. He studied in that famous seat of learning for ten years with distinguished success. He received Holy Orders on July 26, 1853. The esteem in which he was held is evidenced by the fact that he was the first prefect in the College at the time and that he was ordained before his classmates to take charge of the students during vacation that year. He arrived home, in September, 1854; and, a few weeks afterwards, we find him at the head of the new college at Arichat. The following year that college was transferred to Antigonish, and Dr. Cameron became its first president there. In fact, he was appointed parish priest of Antigonish and West River in June, 1855, and acted, at the same time, in the capacity of rector of the new institution, which after its transference was known, as it has been ever since, as the College of St. Francis Xavier. The institution was at that time a seminary also, and Dr. Cameron, in addition to his other onerous duties, taught the ecclesiastical dogma and scripture for two hours each day. In 1863, he was appointed parish priest of Arichat, and laboured there as such until 1870, when he was summoned to Rome, which he had visited five years previously, and consecrated Bishop of the province of the Propaganda by Cardinal Cullen on the 22nd of May that year. 1870 was the year of the Vatican Council, and so Bishop Cameron was in Rome also; but, owing to ill-health he set out for home before the Council was over, leaving the newly consecrated Bishop in his stead. Soon, however, the Council closed on account of the Franco-Prussian war, but Bishop Cameron did not leave the Eternal City before he witnessed its capture by the hordes of Victor Emanuel. In 1877, he was appointed administrator of the diocese, but continued to live in Arichat until 1880, when he transferred his residence to Antigonish.

The deceased prelate was a great churchman, and in his palmy days, had few equals. His prestige at the propoganda, as a student, was an early index to his merit; and, in after years no bishop in Canada enjoyed more fully than he the respect and confidence of the Holy See. Of that we have ample evidence during the long and glorious reign of his episcopate. On two occasions he was sent beyond the limits of his native province to adjust quarrels that arose in Church administration. The first charge of this nature was imposed upon him the very first year after that of his ordination, and the second in 1885, when he was sent to Quebec, since more to report on difficulties that unfortunately disturbed the peace of the Diocese of Three Rivers. On each occasion complete success crowned his mediation showing him to have been a prelate of rare tact and prudence, and well worthy of the confidence reposed in him. In fact, he has always been known, on all sides, as a man of superior mould. Endowed by nature with a strong and vigorous mind, he won his first laurels at the Urban College, and ever after, whether he acted in the capacity of college rector or professor, parish priest or bishop, he commanded the highest respect, and even admiration. Nor was this standing determined by his learning and ability alone, but hand in hand with scholarship went a sterling character, a strong personality, lofty ideals, and a frank and generous disposition, coupled with piety, humility and charity worthy of his exalted position—all of which stamped him as a figure, in many respects, unique in this country.—The Casket, April 7, 1910.

Woman's Needless Suffering.

Full of Aches, Frightful Back Pains, Pale and Nervous.

With the use of Dr. Hamilton's Pills, a Wife and Mother Saved from Death.

A few years ago doctors considered that only back pains and bladder disorders were traceable to the kidneys—but to-day science proves that many of the most fatal and dreaded diseases have their source in irregular kidney action.

Such was the case with Mrs. Anna A. Rodrigues, a well known resident of Valencia—read her experience: "For a long time I suffered with failing strength and nagging headaches. My condition grew steadily worse, my limbs became bloated and shaky, I was sallow and thin, felt rheumatic pains, dizziness and chills. I unfortunately didn't suspect my kidneys and was nearly dead when I discovered the true cause of my sufferings. I read so much about the wonderful health and strength that comes to all who use Dr. Hamilton's Pills that I felt sure they would help me. Such blessings of health and comfort I got from Dr. Hamilton's Pills I can't describe. They speedily put me right and their steady use keeps me active, energetic, strong and happy. I strongly urge others to regulate and tone their system with Dr. Hamilton's Pills frequently—avoid all food which seems to distress and take as much exercise as possible."

No greater medicine exists than Dr. Hamilton's Pills for the cure of indigestion, constipation, flatulence, liver, bladder and kidney trouble. Refuse substitutes for Dr. Hamilton's Pills. 25c. per box, or five boxes for $1.00 at all dealers or The Cattarhous Company, Kingston, Ont.

Mr. Goodland's Lecture

A large audience attended Mr. W. H. Goodland's lecture on "Rambles in St. John's" at the British Hall Monday night. In fact he had one of the largest gatherings that attended any lecture of the series held under the auspices of the N. B. B. the past winter. Mr. A. G. McCoubrey occupied the chair and introduced the lecturer. The lecture was a great treat and the pleasure was enhanced by the different rare photos exhibited on the screen. The views included Earliest Government House, Old Factory, Queen's Road; Garrison Hill before the fire, Hall of Wood, Celebrities and Characters, Mummery Scene Fifty Years Ago, Earliest Post Office and many other views of places and scenes long since forgotten. Appropriate anecdotes were here and there related by Mr. Goodland, which gave a pleasing variety to the entertainment. Mr. Grey operated the lantern slides. A pleasing innovation and one that met with the warm approval of the audience was the singing of the "Green Half-Door" by Miss K. Murphy. The poem is a composition of the late Mr. St. George, and although it has been floating around for a quarter of a century it had never been sung before. Miss Murphy was encored vociferously and repeated the last verse. Miss Clara Smith accompanied her on the piano in perfect tune and time. No doubt the "Green Half-Door" will become a popular song in the future, and to Mr. Goodland belongs the credit of unearthing it. At the conclusion a vote of thanks proposed by Mr. A. H. Martin and seconded by Mr. Maund was carried by acclamation. We understand that Mr. Goodland has been asked to repeat the lecture.

Warning.

Since the discovery in England and the introduction into Newfoundland of SALVIA, the Great Hair Grower, and on account of the phenomenal sale it has had, others have tried to imitate SALVIA. Beware and make certain you get the original. Every bottle bears the name, "SALVIA" (Latin for sage.)

The results obtained from using SALVIA are remarkable. Falling hair is at once fastened to the scalp; new life springs up from the roots; and the growth of the hair is amazing. Dead hairs are restored to their natural color. The Dandruff germ is destroyed. Every bottle has a written guarantee. Your dealer always keeps a stock of SALVIA on hand. Try a bottle and watch your hair grow. SALVIA is the only preparation, as far as we know, that is sold with a guarantee. A large bottle for 50c.

LACERATED HIS HAND.—A young man, a resident of Hueville, while shooting birds a few days ago had his hand badly lacerated by the bursting of the gun he carried. Friends hurried him home and he was attended by Dr. Shankell. It will be some time before he can use the member again.

Hambourg Emotional and Intellectual.

"Of the different kind of pianists we have in Mark Hambourg a happy blending of the emotional and the intellectual types, the former predominating in a sufficient degree to impart to his playing an atmosphere which glows with warmth and vitality. He is virile, brilliant, fascinating and successfully audacious performer; he is magnetic; he carries you off your feet, and can make you cry or laugh, and compels you whether you will or not; he causes a sensation of your critical faculties for the time being, while his daring and originality amaze and bewitch you. He is a magician who paints tone pictures of a marvelous beauty and he interprets as we have heard no one before him. His lightning-like speed, the accuracy of his execution, his conceptions, at times dignified and grand, at times subtle and suggestive, his marvelous tone, his wonderful use of the pedal, his abandon and finesse, and above all the poetic feeling he displayed, drives the audience frantic with wonder and delight. Perhaps one of the notable features of this many-sided genius is the decided originality of some of his readings. His Beethoven is not the cold, classic, restrained Beethoven, but tinged with the warmth of life, an emotional living and an altogether delightful Beethoven. It might be considered somewhat too subjective by musical purists, but it is from this subjectivity that all the fascinating glow and vitality proceed, and for our part we would not have his conception of the great master altered in the smallest particular. We infinitely prefer the living to the dead Beethoven. His Chopin playing is marked by marvelous fire, nervous energy and indescribable entrain. The beauty of expression and perfection of finish with which he endows every work of the pianoforte poet stamps him as a fearless exponent of the ultra-refined romantic school. The delicacy of his tone in the passages is delicious to the ear, while the grace and charm with which he invests the dainty sprays of ornamental grace notes cannot be set down in words."

NECESSARY FOR THE FAMILY.

If health is to be maintained there must be at hand in every household a medicine which can be positively relied upon to regulate the liver, kidneys and bowels. Dr. Chase's Kidney Liver Pills have proven their right to first place in this regard and already hold a secure position in the great majority of homes.

A Venerable Clergyman's Confession.

Sir James Crichton Browne told a good story at the Sheffield-Burns dinner. At a certain dinner a venerable clergyman confessed that he was tipsy once. He had just married, he said, and had himself to marry a couple. As was the Scottish custom in those days, the ceremony was in the evening, and he joined in the supper afterwards. As the toasting was going on he realized that he was getting tipsy. When he got home he stealthily slipped into the bedroom, and was relieved to find that his wife had fallen asleep while reading in bed. He was getting into bed as quickly as he could, thanking God that he had so happily escaped detection. When he heard his sweet little wife, in her soft voice, exclaim, "John, dear, why are you coming to bed with your hat on?"

New York, April 4.—That intoxication killed four year old Joseph Klein, who died to-day, was the assertion of the police, who arrested John Silver, twenty-three years old, a cousin, for the lad's death. Silver has been locked up charged with homicide. The relatives of the Klein child, the police say, made him drunk yesterday at a family party.

A BROKEN-DOWN SYSTEM.

This is a condition for disease to which doctors give many names, but which few of them really understand. It is simply weakness—a break-down, a failure of the vital forces that sustain the system. No matter what may be its causes (for they are almost numberless), its symptoms are much the same: the more prominent being sleeplessness, some of prostration or weariness, depression of spirits and want of energy for all the ordinary affairs of life. Now, what alone is absolutely essential in all such cases is increased vitality—vigour.

VITAL STRENGTH & ENERGY to throw off these morbid feelings, and experience proves that as night succeeds the day this may be more certainly secured by a course of the celebrated life-reviving tonic.

Least Gallons

That's the thing to go-by in paint—least gallons—Devoe.

The strongest takes least gallons, of course; and, of course, wears longest.

Costs half to three-quarters; more likely half. Depends on what you compare it with.

Compared with average paint, Devoe costs half and wears two or three times as long.

Compared with the worst, Devoe costs a third—the worse your paint, the more it costs. You'll find it out when you pay for putting it on.

You pay by the gallon. No matter how you pay, you pay by the gallon.

You pay for putting it on by the day; but the painter paints a gallon a day; a day is a gallon; you pay by the gallon.

If you don't know it, better look-out.

If you want to know what a gallon costs you, put-on; add together the gallon price and the day's-work price.

You pay that for every gallon you have put-on; no matter what paint; no matter what price; no matter who paints it; no matter what bargain you make.

An extra gallon means weak paint, a little more money for paint, more money for painters' wages (about $5 a gallon for both), and painting again too soon.

The cheap paint is Devoe; the others are dear; there are 8 not-adulterated in the United States; 200 adulterated; 100 short-measure; one Devoe. Take your choice.

If anyone doubts any statement above, here's the proof:

He may paint half his job Devoe, the other half any paint he likes. If Devoe doesn't take less gallons and cost less money (1) for the gallons and (2) for putting it on, no pay. If it does, Devoe is the paint that makes least first cost.

The Khedive and the Rascal

Even to the adventurers and downright swindlers who hung about his court at Cairo and afterward pursued his wanderings Ismail extended a good-natured, half contemptuous patronage. He liked a rogue far better than a fool. Once, when he had formally forbidden his door to a flagrant offender, the man who knew his character, got a ladder and climbed into the viceroys' room, remarking: "I have obeyed your highness' commands and have crossed your threshold by the window and not by the door." The humor of the thing at once appealed to Ismail, and the offender was reinstated in his favor.

For a time afterwards he remained on the island as one of the personal attendants of the fallen Emperor.
