LONDON, Nov. 15. Bennett Burleigh, in a despate from Mustapha Pass to the Telegraph describing the fighting around Adrianople, says:—Port Arthur produced no grander or more terrible effects than Sunday's night furious bomard-ment. Hundreds of shells burst a the same instant over and around Adrianople. Guns, of all sizes and kinds nade a flaming, roaring inferno which must have reverberated for miles along the Balkan mountains, and rocked and rattled the houses at distant Mustapha Pass. The Turks attempted to reply, but were soon overpowered by the tremendous strength, energy and accuracy of the besiegers' artillery. Describing the storming of the forts on the north-Bulgarian storming battalions first attended divine service. They then striped off their coats and left their baggage in the trenches. The Turks precipitated matters by attempting a rifle fire on both sides. Then the Bulgarians ran in with bayonets. There as wild and terrible work, with no was wild and terrible work, with no wish to ask or giver quarter. Such Turks, as could do so, fled, but they left an awful trail of blood of dead and dying on the fleid. The battle continued for many hours in a heavy rainstorm. Despite the weather, the Bulgarian transport goes on. I have seen around Adrianople tens of thousands of sheen and cattle providing ands of sheep and cattle, providing fresh meat for the troops; enormous convoys daily of fresh brown bread; plentiful spplies of groceries and vegetables of all kinds, as well as firewood; while wine and tobacco can be had. Montreal, Nov. 7 .- With Motorman Eugene Laclair hanging out of the vestibule shricking a vain warning as a signal, a tram car whizzed down St. Lawrance Boulevard this morning and smashed into another car standing of Ontaro street.

Nine people were taken to hospitals in ambulances, of whom two are seri ously injured and a score badly shaken up is the toll of this latest addition to the long list of accidents to Montreal Streets cars.

Both cars were crowded, and that many were killed is regarded by eye witnesses as nothing short of miracul-
