Know Your Enemy

Not for years has there been such evidence on all sides of industrial activity as may be seen at present. The winter of our discontent has passed, and the employment available enables the worker not only to take a personal interest in his labour, but gives him the gratification of knowing that by his own efforts he is providing for himself and maintaining those dependent upon him.

It is unemployment more than anything else that kills his spirit, that breeds discontent, and makes him susceptible to the poisonous whisperings of the seducer, the enemy of peace and prosperity, the vile thing that recognizes no principles, is devoid of any sense of loyalty, and is intent only on stirring up strife to serve its own unholy purposes.

There are not wanting now signs that the conspirator is assiduously at work, and it may not be long before it will be possible to drag him out into the light of day, which he hates, and expose his plot in all its ugliness. It is not the kind of task that anyone seeks from choice, but it has to be done, there will be no half measures, and we have sufficient confidence in the intelligence and loyalty of the people of this country to feel assured that, when the real purpose of those plotters is exposed, they may be relied upon to give them short shrift.

The shame of it! For years this country of ours has been struggling against almost insurmountable odds. Having shouldered nobly the burden of war, it felt the full force of the reaction. Gamely it fought to keep its head above water, but even as it gasped for breath there were those who did not hesitate to take advantage of it in its travail. Desperate as was the situation, indifferent as were the rulers to its agony, it fought for life and it won, and its victory was testimony of the sterling worth of the people.

Once more the blood is pulsating through its veins, its muscles have regained their strength, its vitality is restored throughout, and it faces the future full of hope and firm in its faith.

Upon us reposes the responsibility—no, the privilege—of helping this island home of ours to attain to the place of honor and importance which it should occupy among its sister dominions. And how best can this be done? By fermenting enmity and strife? By precipitating a crisis for baseless reasons? By treachery? God forbid! Our duty is clear. We must be on the alert; prompt to observe the enemy's movements and firmly to stand shoulder to shoulder to resist his attack. Place love of country above all else, and find inspiration in the fact that no power on earth, provided its manhood remains true, is able to crush its spirit or humble its pride.

Held Over

We regret that as the copy was unavailable in time, the address delivered by the Presi-

Cochrane Street Centennial Church

At the service to-morrow morning at 11 o'clock the new pastor, Rev. E. C. French, will be inducted by the Rev. Dr. Curtis. Mr. French comes to us with a splendid record of work in various places around this island. At Burin, his last charge, he endeared himself to the people by his splendid preaching and his active sympathy with his congregation in every good work. He bids him welcome to the ranks of the city clergy and trusts that he will have a successful and happy ministry at Cochrane St. Church.

Remove the Fences

Our attention has again been called to the fact that the old railway line inside Fishwater Road is fenced across in various places and in consequence persons who prefer this pleasant walk to the more frequented highways are prevented from using it. It would seem to be a matter in which the members of the West End might interest themselves. So far as we can learn no one has any authority to fence this property, and out of consideration for the many pedestrians who are not privileged to go countrywards in motor cars to enjoy the pleasures of the open, we would suggest that those responsible for the obstructions should be compelled to remove them at once.

Women's White Canvas and Buckskin Boots, only $1.25 pair at F. SMALLWOOD'S.—July 18, 1925.

Road Cumbered Up

In the course of excavating along the north side of Quidi Vidi Road to build a retaining wall on the front of Mount Carmel Cemetery, hundreds of tons of rock and earth have been deposited in the drain and extends to a considerable distance into the highway, to the obstruction of traffic. Whoever is responsible for this unsightly heap should promptly be told to remove it.

Body of Girl Exhumed

MAGISTERIAL ENQUIRY ORDERED.

An enquiry into the death of Grace Williams, which occurred at the home of P. Mulford, Monaghan, P.E., May 24th, will take place at Placentia during the first week in August. The enquiry, which has been ordered at the solicitation of the parents of the deceased, will be held before Magistrate Sinnott. Mr. P. J. Summers, Deputy Minister of Justice, will represent the Crown, and about 17 witnesses will be subpoenaed.

The death of Miss Williams occurred through the alleged accidental discharge of a gun which was lying on a rack at the home of Mr. Mulford. As the parents were not satisfied with the enquiry which took place shortly after the tragedy, the authorities decided to make further investigation and last week the body was exhumed and submitted to a post mortem examination by Dr. O'Connell, of Placentia.

George Street Sunday School Picnic will be held on Wednesday, July 22nd. Full particulars in Monday's paper.—July 18, 1925.

CHILD WELFARE

HEALTHY BABIES.

"An Ounce of Prevention is Worth a Pound of Cure."

FEEDING:
"Learning to do proper things in a proper way forms a large part of a child's early education. A child who has been trained to eat properly can usually be trained to anything else that is important."

These sentences taken from a book on the "Care of Baby" are very interesting. We at once think of a child or two or three, and that is the time when training should begin, but with a little thought it will be seen that training must begin far earlier. The feeding of Baby from his birth to when he is 9 months old is one of the most important things in his life.

So begin to ask yourselves questions:

1. What is the proper food?
2. What is the proper way of giving it?
3. When should Baby have his food?
4. How long should Baby spend taking his food?
5. Should Baby sleep all night?
6. What are wrong foods for Baby?
7. Does Baby always cry because the food is wrong?
8. What is the best way to know that Baby is having the proper food?

If there are any who would care to answer these questions by writing the answers, enclosing them in a sealed envelope and sending them to "The Child Welfare Association," 268 Duckworth Street, before July 31, 1925, we would be glad.

We offer a prize for the best set of answers, and if there are enough entries we will publish the result on August 1, 1925.

PEPYS BEHIND THE SCENES

July 17th.—Up betimes, the weather might warm, albeit I have known it much hotter at this time. Indeed, it is so seldom we have had a warm day this year, that methinks those few that do come to us must be left over from last summer. Towards noon, to the Board of Trade, where a most interesting discourse by Colonel Montgomery of the Tourist possibilities of this country, and among other things, is suggested by him that we make more capital of our historic sites. In the afternoon, with Povey to Bannerman Park, where a most amusing hour passed among the children that did visit there with their pets, and pretty to see the variety of animals and the care that their owners did take of them. Anon to the Petty Court where the hearing of the Herbert Green case being ended, the supercargo and 2 captains are each fined 300 dollars. My wife do inform me this day how she found herself a house at Manuels, and would go there to stay from Monday, which methinks I must allow her to do, for the sake of peace alone. It is worth recording this day that I did have some fine strawberries to my tea, and are the finest that I may remember having at this time.

Stores selling ice cream can largely increase their sales by serving Shirriff's delicious fruits. The Strawberry, Raspberry, Pineapple and other fruits with the Shirriff label are delightful and are well liked by all lovers of ice cream. Many ice cream makers state they have doubled their sales since they began serving Shirriff's fruits. "Phone Gerald S. Doyle, 811 for prices on Shirriff's fruits delivered out of stock.—21

Gower Street Boy Scouts in Camp

Gower Street Boy Scouts, numbering about thirty lads proceeded to their annual camp at Round Pond yesterday. The boys who were all in the fettle, paraded at headquarters in the morning and hiked out and arrived at camp in time for dinner. Five patrols are represented, viz., Beaver, Seal, Fox, Eagle and Bulldog and are in charge of Scoutmaster W. E. Pippy and his assistants A. Hicks and G. Freeman. After the boys had a good dinner the camp was set in order and during the afternoon the regular camp routine was followed. At night a camp fire was held and at 9.30 the lads "turned in," which ended the first day of what promises to be a most enjoyable camp. The officers will be glad to welcome visitors to the camp to-morrow.

Funeral Postponed

Owing to the non arrival by to-day's express of the body of the late John Volsey, whose death occurred in New York on Saturday last, the arrangements made for the funeral, which was to have taken place to-morrow, have been postponed.

Medical Convention

Yesterday another busy day was spent by the members of the Nfld. Medical Association. The various clinics at the hospitals were rich in instructive cases, and the privilege of watching someone else operate, and especially of then being able to ask questions of the operator was greatly appreciated. The papers delivered in the afternoon were full of vital interest. Dr. J. A. Gaylor, of the General Hospital staff, gave an excellent treatise on the much talked of subject of Insulin—his effort being to show that this treatment of diabetes is not one that need necessarily be confined to the large centres where hospital and laboratory facilities are available, but can be made use of for the benefit of his patients by each member in no matter how remote a station. He also dealt carefully with the subject of the dietetic treatment, which, contrary to popular idea, has not been superseded by the Insulin treatment. Insulin must mainly be regarded as a help in the cases where dietetic treatment alone will not suffice.

An interesting discussion was led by Dr. Jones of Avondale.

Dr. Brehm spoke of ways in which the laboratory facilities of the World of Health could be utilized through the mails in carrying on Insulin treatment.

Dr. Acker, of Halifax, read a paper on Orthopedic Deformities and their correction. He stated that statistics showed about 5 cripples from disease to every 1000 of population, mentioned the various causes of such crippling, and outlined the treatment. Infantile paralysis caused about one-third of all juvenile cripples. The number of questions asked him at the close showed how each member translated the lecture into terms of how he could acquire knowledge, which he could use for the further benefit and treatment of some cripple in his practice.

Dr. Acker was accorded a very hearty vote of thanks, the President remarking that he hoped Dr. Acker had acquired "the Newfoundland habit" which would bring him to our shores each summer.

Dr. Alec Forbes, of Bonaville, followed with a paper on unusual, obituary cases occurring in his practice, stating the treatment he had adopted and the conclusions he had reached regarding them and asking for a full discussion and criticism of them from the Association. This was freely engaged in until the President's gavel closed the session at 6 p.m.

A New Branch

For some time now, the public of St. John's—private individuals, societies and clubs, have felt the need of some store where China Glass and Cutlery could be hired for Dinners, Dances, Weddings, etc. This want is now being catered to by S. Richard Steele, at the shop with the Sup & Sauer sign, just opposite the Court House, on Water Street. The Cutlery has been specially imported with a view to minimizing labor in cleaning, whilst the Knives are of Stainless Steel, which is the latest and best. The Stocks of China & Glassware, carried by this firm is really remarkable, covering as it does such a wide range of articles. No Party is too small and no Dinner too large for this firm to handle, and we feel sure that they will receive the full support of the public.

Held Pending Investigation

The police are holding the two German seamen arrested on a charge of stealing stores from one of Bowring's ships pending investigation into other larcenies with which it is suspected they had some connection. Amongst these are the robbery from a house on Waterford Bridge Road of clothing to the value of $130.00, and the larceny of clothes and money from a resident of Blackmarsh Road. The men in question were sailors on S. S. Mont Blanc, some of the crew of which gave much trouble to the police whilst she was on deck for repairs during the month of November last. Four of the sailors were sent to goal here and when she sailed they were put on board in iron. The two who are now under arrest, it is claimed, were set adrift at Sydney from where they made their way to Port aux Basques and thence to the city. They have been here since March last.

AWARDED CONTRACT.—The contract to supply American steam coal to the Nfld. Power and Paper Co. at Corner Brook, has been awarded to Messrs. Cashin & Co. The coal comes from the same sources as that supplied to the railway.

TO-DAY'S MESSAGES.

CARDINAL BEGIN.

QUEBEC, July 17.
Continued improvement is reported in the condition of Cardinal Begin, Catholic Primate of Canada, who has been ill for nearly a week of Uremia and partial paralysis. His physicians to-night issued reassuring bulletins, and the prospects for his recovery are much more hopeful than they were two days ago. Messages of sympathy are pouring in to the Archbishop's palace from every part of the world. One from the Pope reads: "The Holy Father deeply affected. Expresses best wishes for your recovery; joins with the whole Diocese in seeking Divine comfort, and sends you His most cordial Apostolic benediction."

GOVERNMENT IN A DILEMMA OVER LABOUR DISPUTE.

LONDON, July 18.
The appointment of a Commission of Inquiry into the differences between the miners and mine owners without first securing the approval of the two parties seems to have involved the Government in a dilemma. The deadlock growing out of the refusal of the miners to accept decreased wages and increased working hours continues, and the Commission has been compelled to adjourn till Monday without an attempt to function, as the miners refused to appear to give testimony.

150 LIVES LOST IN HONG KONG.

LONDON, July 18.
A Hong Kong despatch to the Daily Express reports that 150 persons lost their lives through the collapse of their homes in Hong Kong, which was due to prolonged torrential rains. The city is flooded. Most of the roads are impassable and the district presents a scene of desolation.

THE QUEEN'S GRACEFUL ACT.

LONDON, July 18.
Queen Mary added several devotes to her list of admirers yesterday when she opened the extension of the Salvation Army's maternity hospital in the East End of London. The Queen visited a ward where there were a number of unmarried mothers and went to the bedside of each woman and won their affection by her kindly words and praise for their babies.

THE MAYOR OF HULL'S SUGGESTION.

LONDON, July 18.
Speaking at a gathering of Newfoundland and Canadian representatives in connection with Hull's civic period at Wembley Exhibition yesterday, the Mayor of Hull suggested his city should adopt in each colony some place, village, or centre, toward which Hull's colonial relationship should be concentrated and mainly directed. He said it seemed "our system of emigration was probably too diffuse and visionary."

ALBERTA TOWN WIPED OUT.

CALGARY, July 18.
Fanned by the fury of a northwest gale here last night, practically the whole town of Bowden, Alberta, between Calgary and Edmonton, was wiped out. The fire which has rendered most of the 300 inhabitants homeless, started in a blacksmith's shop about 9 p.m.

A Wireless Warning

A doctor states that many people using wireless headphones develop "radio ear," a type of eczema. Young people are particularly susceptible. The malady, if not recognised and treated in its early stages, is apt to develop into an obstinate and painful condition, which, in later stages, is difficult to cure.

The case lies in the fact that the headphones, sitting tightly against the ear, exert considerable pressure on the ear cartilage and render the skin sensitive. Earpiece covers made of sponge rubber remove the pressure on the ears and do not interfere much with ventilation, since they are more or less porous.

Workman Had Leg Broken

A workman named Thomas Shaw, employed at excavation work at the dry dock, met with a painful accident last night about 10.30, when a large boulder got dislodged near where he was working, and before he had time to move from his position it struck him, breaking his leg above the ankle. Dr. J. S. Teit, the Company's doctor, was in attendance immediately and placed the limb in splints. The ambulance was then called and conveyed the injured man to Hospital.

To The Patrons & Friends of the Nickel

DEAR FRIENDS:—

We have announced the coming of "He Who Gets Slapped" to the Nickel Theatre on Monday, for a run of three days. Again we call your attention to this production, which we regard as one of the outstanding screen events of many seasons.

Here, against the background of a French circus, Leonid Andreyev, the great Russian, has painted one of the most unusual and colorful stories of modern times. It's a tale woven about the lovely Consuelo and the handsome reckless Bezano, the daredevil bareback riders of the circus troupe; the dissolute Count Mancini, the fat and spidery Baron Regnard, and especially about "He," the tragic scientist, who becomes a circus clown—"He Who Gets Slapped."

The producers have provided a cast that includes Norma Shearer, John Gilbert, Lon Chaney, Tully Marshall, Clyde Cook and Ford Sterling. Here's a picture that's GOT to be seen.

We sincerely recommend it, as one of the finest pictures ever shown at The Nickel.
